Revolutionaries Kidnap Editor

ATLANTA (UPI) — John R. (Reg) Murphy, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, apparently was kidnaped last night by a political revolutionary group that then lapsed into silence without making any demands.

More than 15 hours after the abduction authorities said there had been no word from the kidnapers and that they could suggest no motive for the act, although the Constitution recently ran an editorial saying the abduction of Patricia Hearst was the work of a "fanatic and criminal group."

Murphy, 40-year-old father of two teen-age daughters, was last seen about 7:30 p.m. yesterday when he left his home to keep an appointment with a man who claimed he wanted to discuss a news story.

At 9:15 p.m., one hour and 45 minutes after Murphy disappeared, the Constitution received a phone call from a man who identified himself as a colonel in the "Revolutionary Army." The colonel said the army had taken Murphy captive and that the Constitution, the state's largest newspaper, would hear further from the group.

Fire Plan Rejected For Now

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night rejected —for the time being, at least — formation of a county service area to finance improved fire protection for neighborhoods near San Rafael.

In rejecting the service area proposal, suggested last month by county supervisors and County Administrator John F. Barrows, commissioners urged more study be given other possible solutions such as annexing various areas to San Rafael.

The county service area was proposed to include Los Ranchitos, Rafael Meadows, Santa Venetia, Country Club, Bayside Acres, California Park, Bret Harte and McNear's Beach.

Barrows' staff had listed various "levels of service" that could be provided by expanding the county fire department with tax revenues from the service area.

His proposals included one and possibly two new fire stations and additional men and equipment to service the neighborhoods both north and south of Puerto Suello Hill.

The cost to residents in the service area would increase their tax rates anywhere from 82 cents per $100 assessed valuation to $1.18, depending on what level of protection is provided, he said.

It became clear early in last night's two-hour discussion, attended by about 70 concerned citizens, that a blanket decision to include all areas in the service area would not be acceptable. (Nearly 2,400 notices were sent property owners last week announcing the meeting.)

While some residents supported creation of the service area, others opposed it, saying they wanted more time to study other solutions for their neighborhoods such as annexation or contracting with the city for fire protection.

The commission's action rejecting formation of the service area all but kills the possibility that creation of such a taxing agency might be on the June 4 ballot.

The county currently provides little staff or equipment to combat structural fires in the unincorporated areas around San Rafael, even though residents pay a special tax for such service. (The special tax rate totals 34 cents per $100 assessed valuation.)

Until last November the county's one fireman and single fire truck in Santa Venetia could count on assistance from the San Rafael Fire Department.

The San Rafael City Council changed that, however, saying its department would no longer respond to fires outside city limits unless the county responded first with at least two firemen and a truck equipped to fight house fires.

Lacking that, the county now must rely on answering such calls with men and equipment from its stations in Marin City and Woodacre.

Supervisors, under pressure to "do something," unanimously recommended last month a county service area be created to finance improved service.

Commissioner Roy Farrington Jones urged last night that the matter be delayed because he opposed the idea of a large area, like Santa Venetia, "levering" smaller areas, like Bayside Acres, into a service area at the election polls.

He later voted against the motion to reject the proposal saying it should only be delayed

Figure Upped By $4 Million In Kidnaping

Release Of Two Foster Suspects May Be Asked

HILLSBOROUGH, C a l i f. (UPI) — The kidnapers of Patricia Hearst today demanded another $4 million in food as a condition of her release, and said if the family does not "comply precisely," they will break off communication. The terrorists also threatened to hold Miss Hearst as a hostage for two members of their group held in San Quentin Prison.

A family spokesman said the latest communique from the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army came in the form of a tape and letter left in a San Francisco telephone booth last night. The communique was addressed to the Rev. Cecil Williams, who received an earlier communique, and he was alerted to its whereabouts by an anonymous telephone call.

The latest communication also contained a reference by the SLA to the two men being held in San Quentin Prison charged with murder in the assassination of Oakland Schools Supt. Dr. Marcus Foster. The SLA claimed responsibility for that killing.

The 20-minute tape also contained a few words from a woman believed to be Patty Hearst. At the end of the tape she said, "Today is Feb. 19. Today the Shah of Iran executed two men at dawn."

Most of the tape was a man's voice identified as "Cinque," who also spoke on an earlier tape recording received by the Hearsts.

Family members said they were satisfied the tape recording was authentic.

In the tape, the family spokesman said, Cinque said the $2 million already pledged by Miss Hearst's father, newspaper publisher Randolph A. Hearst, "is not enough" as a good will gesture.

Cinque said that if the family

W.A. Hall Eyes Water Position

Willard A. Hall of Sausalito, promising "good conservative management, announced yesterday that he is seeking the fifth district seat on the Marin Municipal Water District board.

The seat is that of Dr. Ronald T. Stafford, who resigned unexpectedly last week to return to his home state of Georgia. A special election will be held in June to fill his unexpired term.

In announcing his candidacy, Hall, 68, took a swipe at the present board and its conservationist majority. "I dont think anything constructive has happened under the present directors, he said. "We have lost a couple of years that could have been valuable ones. I dont believe it is the water districts responsibility to hold down population growth or to do the planning. We have enough people in the planning field in the cities and county who can do a better job than the water district could ever think of doing.

Hall, who made an unsuccessful bid for a water district post in 1972, said a moratorium on new connections should be imposed only during times of criti-

Baptiste Files For Reelection

Arnold M. Baptiste of Novato has filed for a second term as Fifth District supervisor.

The 38-year-old county official has just completed a year as chairman of the board. He was elected supervisor by an almost two-to-one margin in 1970, winning over J. Wayne Womack, former Novato city councilman.

Baptiste will face a challenger in the June 4 election — Novato School District trustee Betty Machado.

Baptiste said yesterday he wants to "continue to promote responsible social, economic and environmental programs to enhance the quality of life of all the people in Marin."

He cited accomplishments of his freshman term: the opening of the Stafford Lake county park, voter approval of Novato flood control bonds, the county's stand against commercial use of Hamilton Air Force Base, and creation of a summer intern program offering county government jobs to high school students.

A House Outline On Impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House impeachment inquiry staff said today it has concluded that if the facts warrant, President Nixon could be impeached for noncriminal acts, including abuse of the powers of the presidency.

In a 65-page report to the 38 members of the House Judiciary Committee, the staff, organized to study possible impeachable offenses, stressed that impeachment was "a grave step for the nation."

"It is to be predicated only upon conditions seriously incompatible with either the constitutional form and principles of our government or the proper performance of the constitutional duties of the presidential office," the report said.

The report said, "The duty of a President to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution to the best of his ability includes the duty not to abuse his powers or transgress their limits, not to violate the rights of citizens, such as those granted by the Bill of Rights and not to act in derogation of power vested elsewhere by the Constitution."

In saying a President could be impeached for acts other than criminal offenses, the report cited as impeachable conduct "undermining the integrity of the office, disregard of constitutional duties and oath of office, arrogation of power, abuse of the government process, adverse impact on the system of the government."

"Clearly, these effects can be brought about in ways not anticipated by criminal law," the report said.

The report appeared to hold the President responsible for the conduct of his subordinates, although the staff did not spell out whether it felt he was responsible for acts not specifically authorized by him.

The report is not binding on House members. Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.Y., said each member would have to decide for himself what constitutes an impeachable offense when the time comes for a vote.

But the fact that Special Committee Counsel John M. Doar and the committee's Republican counsel, Albert E. Jenner, concurred in the report added to its weight, committee members said.

Jury Indicts Ex-LBJ Aide In Milk Case Lie

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal Watergate grand jury today indicted Jake Jacobsen, a former aide to President Lyndon B. Johnson, on one count of lying to the grand jury about efforts by milk producers to win a price-support increase from the Nixon administration.

The indictment was the first handed down in the investigation of whether the Nixon administration increased the price support of raw milk in 1971 in exchange for a promise of $2 million in donations to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

The indictment said Jacobsen, 54, of Austin, Tex., who served as a legislative counsel to Johnson in 1965-67, knowingly made false declarations one month ago when the grand jury questioned him about $10,000 he had solicited from Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI).

Jacobsen, a lawyer for AMPI, allegedly received the $10,000 within two months after the Nixon administration reversed itself on March 25, 1971, and increased the price support for raw milk.

It said Jacobsen, who was active in 1972 in the Democrats for Nixon organization headed by John B. Connally Jr., solicited the money "on the representation that such money was to be paid to a public official for his assistance in connection with the price support decision."

The "public official" was not identified.

The indictment said Jacobsen lied when he testified last Jan. 25 that he did not touch the $10,000 from the time he put it into a safe deposit box until he looked at it with an FBI agent Nov. 27, 1973. (It was believed the money was kept in a bank in Austin, Tex., of which Jacobsen is president.)

"You are certain about that?" the indictment said Jacobsen was asked.

"Yes, sir," it said Jacobsen replied.

"The declaration," the indictment said, "as he then and there well knew, was false."

The indictment did not say what happened to the $10,000.

Sonoma Water Bonds Sale Faces A Test

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to require voter approval of revenue bonds sold by the Sonoma County Water Agency has been introduced by Assemblyman Barry Keene, D-Santa Rosa.

Passage of the measure, AB 2778, would halt the agency's sale of $115 million in bonds its directors already have decided to sell. The county's supervisors are directors of the agency.

Most of the $115 million will be for an aqueduct system for water from the Warm Springs Dam project.

Keene said he favors the dam project, but said voters should have a chance to ballot on the bonds before they are sold. Only two other county water agencies in the state permit bond sales without voter approval, he said.

Sonoma voters narrowly approved the $115 million bond package last year, but the measure was "an all or nothing proposition," the assemblyman said. Many voters felt the amount was too large, but were reluctant to reject the entire package, he said, adding "it was not a fair choice."

The agency instead should seek voter approval only for enough bonds to finance presently needed water projects, Keene said. He noted he introduced the bill at the request of "people concerned over the fact they don't have some handle on growth-inducing proposals that people have elsewhere."

Keene's bill is an urgency matter, thus will be effective immediately if it passes and is signed into law by the governor. He said it is opposed by the North Marin County Water District, which would tie into the Sonoma aqueduct system, and is expected to be opposed by the agency itself.

End Asked To Secrecy In Grand Jury Sessions

A proposal that county grand juries comply with provisions of the Ralph M. Brown Act, the state's antisecret meeting law, is included in this year's "legislative package" of wants and needs from Marin County officials.

The proposals, still under review by county department heads, will be considered Tuesday by county supervisors and those approved will be forwarded to local lawmakers in Sacramento.

The proposal to bring grand juries under the open-meeting law carries a condition that indictments and other crime-related hearings would still be conducted in secret.

"The cloak of secrecy afforded the grand jury in all its deliberations has been misused in many parts of the state," the proposal claims. "Only by extending the Brown Act to cover most of their non-criminal proceedings can these abuses be eliminated."

The idea was suggested ear-

Simon Tells Governors Fuel Equity Is Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Energy chief William E. Simon told a group of governors today that the government is attempting to straighten out its gasoline allocation system to ensure that "each state gets an equitable share of fuel."

Simon met for two hours with members of the National Governors Conference's executive committee to try to work out problems of gasoline shortages which Simon has conceded are critical in some states. At least two states have gone to court to challenge the FEO's allocation program.

Simon said he did not discuss a suit by Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel to force the FEO to provide the state with more gasoline. He has been named a defendant in the case but said he would not appear at a court hearing tomorrow because the Justice Department was handling the case.

"We recognize there is a problem—but it doesn't call for demagoguery," he said he told the governors. "We need to work together."

As part of the program to ease criticism of the allocation program, Simon said the states would be notified shortly of

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Conservatives Lead In Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Edward Heath, buoyed by newly released polls, went into the final week of campaigning for Britain's national elections today, proclaiming confidence he would win another five years in office.

Wilson

Three polls just released showed the Conservatives leading Harold Wilson's opposition Laborites by small margins with the little Liberal party making inroads against both.

Former Prime Minister Wilson told Labor supporters "This single word 'prices' now takes in all the issues facing Britain today. This election is about prices. The price of not voting Labor next week is too high. We cannot afford another Tory Conservative government."

Protest Ended

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland's 4,000 policemen resumed escorting and interrogating prisoners today, ending a three-day-old protest that caused chaos in courts across the province.

The police began their ban to protest a government decision last week to try a fellow officer under the province's tough, antiterrorist statute for allegedly beating a prisoner. The statute lets authorities try extremists without juries.

Hopes For Peace

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Laotian Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma announced today he was near formation of a new coalition government including representatives of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

"Peace is definitely at arms reach. I firmly believe we will succeed any day now from today to the end of the month," he said.

Prison Sentence

TOWSON, Md. (UPI) — Baltimore county state's attorney Samuel A. Green Jr. was sentenced to three years in prison yesterday for conspiring to cover up an illegal $750 payment to one of his aides.

Green was convicted Feb. 6 on 16 counts of obstruction of justice, attempted subornation of perjury, misconduct in office and conspiracy in the cover-up of the illegal payment to Louis Irvin, a former aide. The payment came from a man who wanted his police record erased.

Irvin, who was convicted last November for false pretense and conspiracy to obstruct justice, was sentenced yesterday to 18 months in jail.

Commando Attack

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist commandos broke through the perimeter of the Quang Ngai province capital airfield early today, killing eight persons with satchel bombs, military spokesmen said.

The attack on the airfield, 318 miles north of Saigon, came under cover of a mortar barrage.

Five government troops and three civilians were killed in the attack, while one of the commandos died, the Saigon command said. Another 22 South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

Arms Sale Probed

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodia's military intelligence chief said today he has ordered an investigation into reports that government officials have sold deadly howitzer rounds to guerrillas shelling Phnom Penh.

Communist-led rebels have killed 685 persons and wounded 1,350 others in shelling attacks on the capital this year, using captured American-made howitzers, considered more lethal and accurate than the Soviet-supplied 107mm and 122mm rockets.

Col. Kourun Deth, chief of Cambodia's military intelligence, said his department had received reports that government officials sold three truckloads of 105mm howitzer rounds to rebels last month.

Tricia Is 28

Helen McCain Smith, the First Lady's press secretary said the President's daughter and her Wall Street lawyer husband Edward Cox are planning a quiet dinner out on the town. But Tricia will have her favorite "Lady Baltimore" cake specially ordered by her mother.

Holton Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon yesterday nominated former Virginia Gov. Linwood Holton as assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, a decision which Holton believes to be the beginning of "an important chapter" in his life.

Holton will be the State Department's liaison with Congress, replacing Marshall Wright in the $38,000-a-year job. There had been reports since Holton left office Jan. 12 that he was headed for a government post.

President Delays Planned April Journey To Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has decided to postpone a journey to Europe in April which he had planned in connection with the 25th anniversary celebration of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, administration officials said today.

Nixon now hopes to reschedule the trip for sometime in September or October, officials disclosed.

They said the President, assessing future travel, "decided that this was not the time" for him to take his European swing. He had been considering a two-week excursion with state visits to six countries—Great Britain, France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands.

There had been recurring reports that Nixon would return home by way of the Middle East with visits to Cairo and Jerusalem. His European trip was to have taken place either April 1-15 or April 15 to May 2.

Nixon still is planning a return summit to Moscow in June, where he hopes to be able to sign along with Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Breshnev a SALT II agreement limiting offensive nuclear arms.

The postponement of the European trip is another delay in the President's effort to form a new relationship with the Atlantic alliance and modernize the Cold War NATO pact. His vaunted "Year of Europe" last year went by the board when his Watergate troubles discouraged him from traveling abroad to confer with allies and there was a resistance on the part of the West Europeans.

It wasn't clear whether the new delay had to do with relations with Europe or was because the President is reluctant to travel abroad during a time when the impeachment inquiry against him may be active.

Mrs. Meir Asks Dayan To Stay On

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Golda Meir set out today to pick cabinet members in Israel's first minority government, calling on a balking Defense Minister Moshe Dayan to join the shaky coalition.

Dayan said Mrs. Meir lacked the necessary parliamentary strength to set up a coalition "with a political direction." He called instead for new elections and vowed to boycott a minority government.

Mrs. Meir announced plans last night for the minority coalition just 45 minutes short of the expiration of a six-week deadline following Israel's Dec. 31 national elections.

Political sources said the new coalition, although three votes short of a majority in the Knesset (parliament), appeared strong enough to negotiate a Middle East peace settlement with the support of fringe parties.

The coalition, made up of Mrs. Meir's Labor group, affiliated Arab legislators and the Independent Liberal party, will have 58 votes in the 120- seat Knesset. The rightist Likud, the largest opposition bloc, has 39 seats.

Mrs. Meir made her announcement after meeting with President Ephraim Katzir at his Jerusalem residence. As head of a caretaker government since the elections, she had until yesterday to form a new government.

Katzir gave Mrs. Meir another week, however, to choose members of her cabinet and present the new government to parliament for formal approval.

Happy Israelis Give Back Egyptian Land

ON THE EAST BANK OF THE SUEZ CANAL (UPI) — In a flutter of doves and a carnival atmosphere of joy, Israel today handed over the Egyptian territory it captured in the October war.

Hundreds of Patton and Centurion tanks, artillery pieces and armored personnel carriers streamed across the Suez Canal into the Sinai over the last Israeli bridge as its forces completed the fourth stage of the disengagement agreement with Egypt and ended 129 days of occupation on the west bank.

A senior Israeli paratroop commander whose unit first crossed the waterway under fire formally turned over the evacuated area and the causeway to United Nations forces at noon (6 a.m. EDT).

One soldier held aloft a three-foot-long wooden key to give to the U.N. commander. Others in sheer exuberance swam lazily across the canal on their backs, spurting water from their mouths and laughing.

On each tank and in each truck, smiling soldiers sang and waved to newsmen as they rumbled toward home. About 125 soldiers danced and spilled champagne on each other and sang Israeli folk songs on the east end of the asphalt two-lane causeway spanning the canal opposite Dir Suweir.

Even as they sang, the rumble of explosions could be heard in the distance as Israeli sappers destroyed Egyptian military installations before giving up the last one-third of the 560-square mile west bank salient captured in the war.

Black and white mushroom clouds could be seen rising on the horizon. At one U.N. outpost set up at dawn, a Swedish private said, "There is much demolition in this area as you can see. They've been at it for several days now. But there's more this morning."

Many of the soldiers were to be demobilized in the next few days and weeks, and it showed on their faces.

Many of the tanks and half tracks sported balloons and pennants. Some had signs with slogans such as "The Israeli East Africa Association." or "We're Tired of This Place — We're Going Home."

IN THE SPIRIT OF THE ENERGY GAME

Early Gas Hours Off In Novato

Gasoline service station owners in Novato have abandoned a plan for uniform openings, weekdays 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., after a one-week trial.

Fourteen operators, half of the city's total, started the plan after a Feb. 11 meeting with Mayor Fred F. Ruegg in an effort to eliminate lineups at the pumps and "panic buying."

After the trial period nine of the 14 operators met Tuesday with the mayor to report failure of the plan and discuss the local gasoline situation.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown reported most, if not all, agreed that each operator should decide his own hours and gasoline limit.

Although there wasn't unanimity on the best course of action, according to Brown, operators said "unlimited sales to all customers is unworkable and should be stopped wherever it creates a hardship," that "identical hours of sales does create a hardship on the station operation and customers when limited to a short period," and they urged that all stations post their hours and quantity policies in a conspicuous location."

Julie Eisenhower Is Doing Nicely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower is improving and gradually getting back her strength, one week after her surgery for an ovarian cyst, her mother Pat Nixon says.

Muskie Urges TV Sessions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, suggested yesterday Congress should televise its sessions to bolster public confidence in lawmakers.

Some other congressmen said the public would find such broadcasts confusing and boring.

Muskie told the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations that televised coverage of Congress "at the point of confrontation...at the point of decision making" might lift public confidence in Congress which polls have showed is at its lowest point in decades.

Offer Of 'Chair' To Solzhenitsyn

CINCINNATI (UPI) — University of Cincinnati President Warren Bennis has offered exiled Russian author Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn the "Leo Tolstoy Professor of Literature" chair at the university.

Bennis said yesterday he has cabled the invitation to Zurich, Switzerland, where Solzhenitsyn is currently visiting friends. The faculty position would be created for the Nobel Prize-winning author should he accept the offer.

Tiburon Favors Wider Shoulders For Certain Boulevard Sections

Although most of Tiburon Boulevard will remain a two-lane highway, the street should be widened slightly to provide six-to-eight-foot shoulders on each side.

Tiburon City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said this was his main suggestion at a city workshop this week on improvements needed in Tiburon Boulevard, south of Stewart Drive.

"Right now there are no shoulders at all," said Bala. "In case your car stalls, you're a sitting duck."

Bala said he also wants the road to have two 12-foot driving lanes throughout its entire length, instead of narrowing in spots as it now does.

He said he also proposed building islands and stacking lanes for left-turning cars at each of the boulevard's main intersections with side streets.

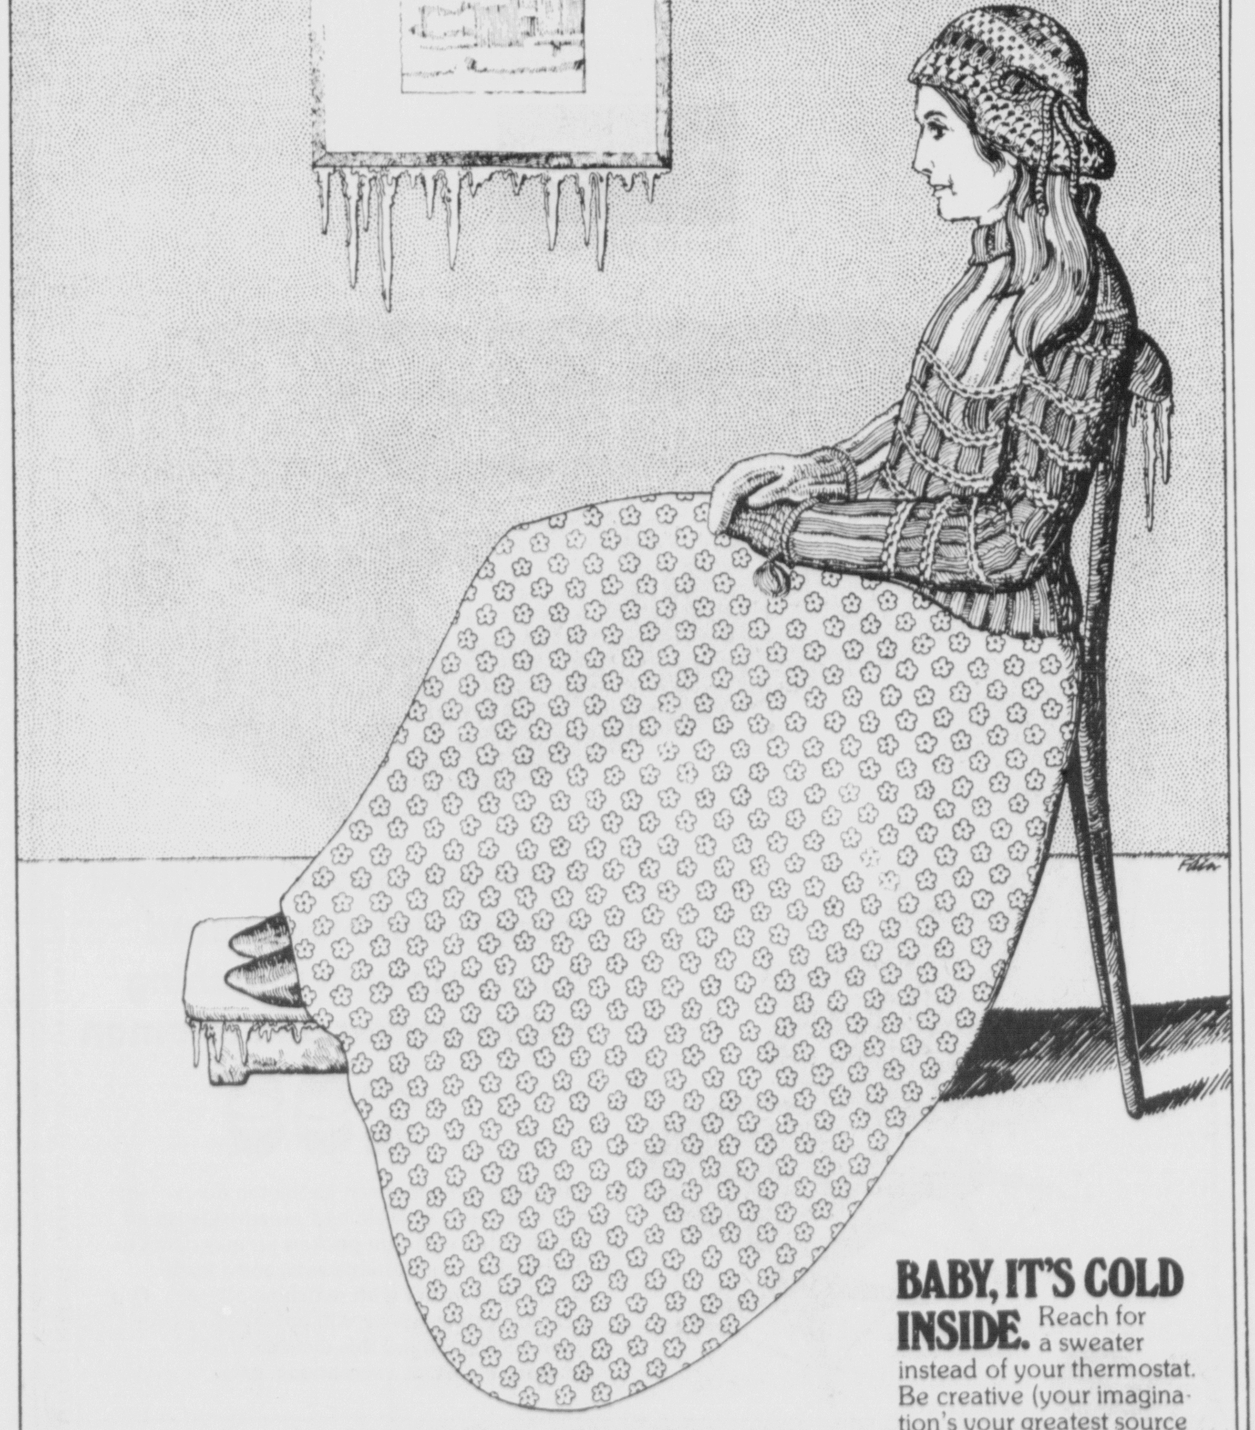

Another of his proposals is for a 20-foot wide divider strip to be laid on the boulevard from Rockhill Drive to Mar West Street. He said this would keep drivers from making dangerous left-hand turns.

Bala said that most comments were favorable from the city councilmen, planning commissioners and parks and recreation commissioners who attended the meeting. But he said that some were worried that building the shoulders might lead to permanent widening of the road into four lanes.

He said that present conditions on Tiburon Boulevard contribute to tension among drivers.

Bala's proposals will be discussed with city staff and commissions and state transportation officials in coming weeks and then referred to the city council for final action.

Gold Price Hits High Of $156.75 An Ounce

LONDON (UPI) — The price of gold rocketed $6.75 an ounce higher in continuing trading on the London bullion market today, setting an all-time record of $156.75. The value of the U.S. dollar slumped sharply almost everywhere.

The jump in gold was one of the largest midmorning rises in the market's history.

Dealers said heavy buying demand developed shortly after gold opened a dollar higher at $151, as speculators flooded into the market.

Gold prices touched $152 yesterday, the previous record price.

The metal set an alltime Frankfurt record yesterday of $151 an ounce. Prices on Zurich and Paris bullion markets have hovered all week at near-record levels.

In Tokyo, the U.S. dollar fell back sharply to close at 283.90 yen. This was a drop of 4.60 yen since yesterday's market closing, and meant a revaluation of the yen by 8.4 per cent since Japan floated its currency a year ago.

In Frankfurt the dollar opened lower at 2.67 marks, down from yesterday's 2.6895. The dollar dropped to 648.75 lire in Milan, down from 650.20. In Amsterdam it dropped from yesterday's 2.7975 guilders to 2.7888 today.

London's currency market priced the British pound higher in dollar's terms, driving the dollar's value down. The pound opened today at $2.2985, compared with yesterday's $2.2925.

In Paris, both the commercial and financial dollar sank still farther below their 1973 second devaluation level.

The financial dollar used by tourists and speculators opened at 4.94 French francs, down from 5.01 francs yesterday. The commercial dollar used in foreign trade was quoted at 4.91 francs, down from 4.9320 francs at afternoon fixing time yesterday.

In Brussels, the dollar started the day at 40.95 Belgian francs, down from 41.05 francs yesterday.

KIDNAP

television station WAGA and Murphy's wife, Virginia. The caller told WAGA, "We have Reg Murphy, editor of the Constitution, and don't bother to call the FBI. It won't help." The FBI immediately swung into action, however, and reportedly was looking for a green Ford Torino, in which they apparently believe Murphy was abducted.

William Fields, executive editor of the Constitution, said he knew nothing about the "Revolutionary Army." Civil rights groups in Atlanta also said they had never heard of such an organization.

The editorial on the Hearst kidnaping that appeared last Saturday in the Constitution said the abduction of Patricia Hearst "is almost a miniature history of the problems of our times. There is a fanatic and criminal radical group, the Sybionese Liberation Army, that apparently wants to overthrow the established order..."

Fields said Murphy had not written that particular editorial, but likely approved it. Asked if he thought that this was what prompted Murphy's kidnaping, Fields replied: "Your guess is as good as mine."

Fields said, however, that Murphy was "a very active person and a very involved person, he would be in the forefront in the public's mind and the logical subject for something like this."

cal shortage. "I dont favor the present moratorium he said. "I dont think we have a shortage.

A retired sales and consulting engineer, he cited his 28 years of assisting California water districts in planning and designing programs for pumping, storing and distributing consumer and industrial water.

Most recently, he was district manager for the Eaton Corp. He retired in 1971.

Hall has been a resident of Sausalito for 23 years. served 12 years on the Sausalito Parks and Recreation Commission and three terms as its chairman. He is a member of the Sausalito Citizens Council and has been active in Little League and Boy Scout programs.

Hall and his wife, Peggy, a former director of the Sausalito Womans Club, live at 21 Vista Clara Road. They have one son, William, a North Carolina businessman.

Another Span Jumper Reported

A San Francisco widower apparently jumped to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday.

The body of Hermann Fiedler was spotted floating in the water near the south tower by a bridge worker about 1:45 p.m. A Coast Guard boat made the recovery.

Fiedler, who was identified from a Social Security card found in his pocket, was in his late 60s, according to the San Francisco coroner.

Survivors include a son in Grass Valley.

Elizabethan Fete Slated Tomorrow

An Elizabethan Festival featuring food, drink, strolling poets and musicians, lords and ladies of the court, jugglers and wrestlers and a host of village characters will be held tomorrow at the Marin Academy, Fifth and Cottage avenues.

The festival, in which the school's teachers and students have worked to create a 17th Century English village effect, will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

COUNTY

lier this year by Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini following a dispute with the county grand jury over how it planned to spend $21,000.

Grand jury members told supervisors the money would go for a 'study of government processes" but declined, at first, to say what that meant. They said the jury was bound to secrecy.

Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire later said only criminal proceedings and votes must be kept secret.

Other proposals in the "legislative package" call for laws to permit school districts to pay for street crossing guards, to extend county subdivision requirements over lots up to 200 acres and to require the state to reimburse property owners who lose their Tam juniper plants because of the state-sponsored eradication program of Hawthornea juniper rust disease.

Currently, the county and several cities pay for school crossing guards in selected areas because school districts are not authorized to use their funds for such expenses.

The present maximum lot size subject to the subdivison map act is 60 acres, meaning lots larger than 60 acres need not go through normal planning procedures.

The proposed legislation, which grew out of the Compadres de San Antonio subdivision near Bodega Bay, would increase the maximum lot size to 200 acres.

In all, Marin legislators in Sacramento will be asked to introduce 15 measures and support three others.

Four of the proposals deal with court matters, including increased filing fees, salaries for court reporters and one which would require the state to reimburse the county for processing writs of habeas corpus submitted by San Quentin inmates.

Another measure would require special districts to submit their long-range capital improvement plans to local planning agencies for review.

Supervisors also are expected to ask for a revision of the alcoholic beverage control statues to permit the sale of hard liquor at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Wornum Names Roth Cochairman

Attorney Hadden W. Roth of Woodacre has been named Marin County campaign cochairman for Supervisor Michael Wornum, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District.

HEARST

does not meet the demands, the SLA will break off communications and keep Miss Hearst hostage according to the terms od the Geneva Convention, and her status will not change until the status has changed for the two SLA members, Joseph Remiro and Russell Little.

The voice of Cinque listed at length assets of the Hearst family and the Hearst Foundation, which is putting up $1.5 million of the $2 million food giveaway program scheduled to begin Friday. Among the assets Cinque listed was an orange grove, a house in La Jolla, Calif. (which the Hearst spokesman said had been sold), membership in a Marysville, Calif., duck club; a listing of stocks the family spokesman said was inaccurate; 24 Greek vases in the Hearst home Cinque said were worth $24,000 each, and a rug collection.

Cinque called the assets the "enormous power and wealth of the Hearst family" and suggested the family was withholding its resources in its offer of the food program to win Patty's release.

The Hearst spokesman said Cinque appeared to be backing away from Patty Hearst's remark on an earlier tape recording that whatever her father did would be sufficient.

On the tape, Cinque also denounced some radical groups that have criticized the SLA, the spokesman said, charging that they are "compromising the revolutionary position" by not supporting the kidnapers' action.

Cinque also said the SLA wants the coalition of six groups named in an earlier letter to act as observers only to monitor the food program and not negotiate for the girl's release.

He also specified food distribution points for the give-away program, saying they should be located in East Palo Alto, East and West Oakland, and San Francisco's Mission District, Chinatown, Western Addition and Hunter's Point. All are low-income sections of the San Francisco Bay Area.

In Los Angeles FBI Director Clarence Kelley said today the FBI's activities in the Hearst kidnaping are "almost exclusively directed toward the safe return of Miss Hearst."

Kelley declined to comment on the latest reported demand from the Symbionese Liberation Army for an additional $4 million ransom for the release of the kidnaped girl.

Kelley and Attorney General William Saxbe held a joint news conference which the FBI said had been scheduled for some time and had no connection with the Hearst kidnaping.

Retired Army officer

Ploy Pulled By Colonel To Get Gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retired Army Col. Anthony B. Herbert, who three years ago accused fellow officers of covering up war crimes, is back in the news—this time trying to get gasoline.

An FBI spokesman said a filling station operator in Cranbury, N.J., complained that when he refused to sell gasoline to Herbert recently, the retired officer claimed to be an agent of the Army Criminal Investigation Division (CID) working on an Internal Revenue Service investigation into discrimination in fuel sales and threatened to close the station unless he got gas.

The filling station operator sold the fuel and then called the CID. The FBI said Herbert and a companion in the car both denied the impersonation and said Herbert had identified himself only as a retired colonel, which he is.

The FBI said the U.S. attorney in Newark, N.J., Herbert J. Stern, decided not to press a possible charge of impersonating a federal official because he considered the charges trivial. The FBI spokesman added: "We're not saying there was not a technical violation."

Herbert, one of the most heavily decorated veterans of the Korean War, worked his way up from the ranks to lieutenant colonel and command of a battalion in Vietnam in 1969. Within a few months he was removed from command and given a bad efficiency report accusing him of having "no ambition, integrity, loyalty or will for self-improvement."

He later charged his two superiors, Col. J. Ross Franklin, who wrote the efficiency report, and Maj. Gen. John W. Barnes, with failing to investigate war crimes and atrocities in Vietnam. Herbert became a celebrity with several appearances on the Dick Cavett Show. His charges were later dropped by the Army and he retired.

State Colleges Report A Drop In Applicants

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The number of applicants to California State University campuses has decreased dramatically during the past two years, according to a state report released today.

The study by the university chancellor's office said 71,126 persons applied last fall for admission to the 19 campuses, compared with 90,822 applications in the fall of 1972.

The report also said only 1,971 persons were denied admission last fall, compared with 4,962 in 1972.

The study indicated that a major cause of declining applications was the end of the military draft. Without pressures from the selective service system, more youths are delaying their college educations, the report said.

Theiller Is Now Behr's Sole Senate Challenger

I-J Special Report

UKIAH — Sonoma County Supervisor Robert Theiller has emerged as the sole challenger to incumbent Peter H. Behr in the Republican primary election in the Second Senatorial District.

Byron J. Rowland of Dos Rios, a member of the Mendocino County Planning Commission, had announced his candidacy for the nomination, but has dropped out and endorsed Theiller. Rowland said Theiller was "more qualified.

Rowland announced his withdrawal in the wake of a meeting here of Republicans looking for the best chance to defeat Behr. Theiller told the Independent-Journal that persons at the session are unhappy with Behr's record as a conservationist and support of Bay Area regional agencies that include Sonoma. Behr's opposition to the Warm Springs Dam project was another reason some came to the meeting, Theiller said.

Theiller supports the dam project.

A 152 Per Cent Hike In Profits In Final Quarter

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Occidental Petroleum Corp. yesterday reported a 152 per cent increase in fourth-quarter profits in 1973 compared with the same period the previous year.

The fourth-quarter net income of $24.3 million was up from 1972's $9.6 million.

Revenues totaled a record $1.07 billion for the final quarter of 1973, up 47 per cent from the $728.8 million reported a year earlier, Occidental announced.

The Los Angeles-based company said the increases were due to a "substantial rise" in international oil marketing, refining and transportation operations; "an improvement" in European product prices and a "substantial improvement" in the results of two Occidental subsidiaries, Island Creek Coal and Hooker Chemical.

Belvedere Council Candidates Worried About Tiburon

By PAUL LIBERATOR

A controversial development proposal for neighboring Tiburon has become the major issue among six candidates for two vacancies on the Belvedere City Council in the March 5 election.

Contenders for the seats of Mayor Allan Steinau and Councilman Willard G. Pittman, neither of whom is seeking reelection, are William H. Rafter, 59, planning commissioner and owner of Tiburon Real Estate; Sherry C. Levit, 31, homemaker and parks and recreation commission chairman; Barbara Egoian, 42, real estate broker; Charles E. Auerbach, 52, planning commissioner and chemical engineer; Dr. Stuart C. Cullen, 65, physician and retired medical school professor, and William E. Steen, 51, clothing store owner.

All candidates expressed anxiety over Sequoia Pacific's proposal to develop about 36 acres owned by Southern Pacific Railroad in Tiburon's downtown area.

They fear visitor-oriented developments in the proposal would congest Belvedere with pedestrian and auto traffic and overburden public services on the peninsula. All believe the project threatens the quiet, suburban atmosphere of the community.

But candidates differ in suggestions for dealing with this threat, with opinions ranging from exerting informal neighborly influence on Tiburon to forming a broad-based committee for monitoring all aspects of the projects review by Tiburon officials.

Recreation needs and sharing public services with Tiburon also were discussed by candidates responding to questions by the Independent-Journal. Questions and the response of candidates were:

CHARLES E. AUERBACH
Engineer

DR. STUART C. CULLEN
Retired physician

BARBARA J. EGOIAN
Real estate woman

1. To what extend would the proposed plans for downtown Tiburon effect Belvedere and what should Belvedere do to insure the quality of its way of life?

RAFTER — "The downtown plan review people hit the issue on the head when they said they want to maintain the small town character of Belvedere by limiting visitor traffic and preserving the waterfront. They feel the current Tiburon downtown plan is detrimental and inconsistent with our present needs. I am in total agreement with that. We must proceed with caution in our dealings with Tiburon, being aware that it is their land and ultimately their decision. But Belvedere should diplomatically stand fast, making Tiburon understand that this effects our way of life, and that we should be given our hearing."

STEEN — "If it goes through in its present form, it would add to congestion and run counter to the position of Belvedere with its open space on Beach Road. Almost everyone agrees they don't want another Sausalito right at our doorsteps. The city council can bring great influence on Tiburon. Personally, I am opposed to anything that encourages tourist and weekend traffic and much prefer to see development for use by people who live here rather than by outsiders."

LEVIT — "The Sequoia Pacific plan would greatly affect Belvedere by visitors and traffic overflowing into the community. Belvedere has no legal jurisdiction, but should become actively involved in this issue. It is a tricky question of not overstepping our boundaries, but the mayor should appoint a committee made up of two councilmen, planning commissioners, parks and recreation commissioners, design review board members, open space committee members and citizens at large. This group would closely monitor ongoing meetings in Tiburon on the plan and inform the city council on every facet."

AUERBACH — "The biggest effect would be the visitor influx that as extensive a plan as proposed would bring. It would cause traffic congestion and bring pressure for a four-lane highway and traffic control.

A lot of Belvedere citizens already have expressed the opinion that the plan is too visitor-oriented and too massive. The council has directed the planning commission to add input with the environmental impact report consultants, which has been done. Once the report is complete, Belvedere should make a strong pitch to Tiburon against the plan."

EGOIAN — "The Belvedere community can hold only so much traffic and people, currently 2,500 residents, and it has no commercial zoning except on portions of the Boardwalk. It's difficult to tell a neighboring city how to run its government. I would hope that Tiburon, which is going to be developed, is not exploited. Tiburon affects us greatly and through the friendly back door neighbor attitude, hopefully, we can consult with one another."

CULLEN — "If the downtown plan increases density and emphasizes tourist-related business, traffic will increase and that obviously would spill over into Belvedere. As to what to do about it, all we can do is express our point of view, indicating dissatisfaction with the denisty and traffic.

2. Is it possible for Belvedere and Tiburon to go together on buying the downtown Tiburon property from Southern Pacific Railroad?

RAFTER — "There should be a joint effort with Tiburon to investigate various schemes and their costs to enable Belvedere and Tiburon to buy this property. It is legal and we should explore this possibility."

STEEN — "This is something to be explored in the normal course of things. But whether it is feasible, I don't really know."

LEVIT — "It is very possible. There is a strong suggestion in Belvedere to buy it, not all of it, but what is centrally-located for open space and also the harbor area."

AUERBACH — "The two should form a joint bond district to consider buying a portion or all of the lands. We should buy the waterfront for open space and the rest that is developed should be less visitor-oriented, replaced by businesses that serve present residents. We could use them and don't have them now."

EGOIAN — "No. We must preserve our current atmosphere. We can live in harmony if Tiburon listens to the needs of the people. To enjoy Belvedere, it should stay as it is."

CULLEN — "I don't see how Belvedere can directly participate in, for example, a bond issue to buy the property."

3. Do you feel Tiburon and Belvedere should work toward sharing more services?

RAFTER — "We have a hell of a good police force. We had a poll taken asking people if they are happy with our police and fire departments and most of them are. Most favor keeping their own police and fire departments. If we had joint departments, I wonder how much service Belvedere would get? It might be awkward for a lot of reasons, including problems of taxation."

STEEN — "I have seen no facts or figures that indicate that Belvedere would save money or receive better service by merging. Tiburon is growing while Belvedere is stable and I am in favor of keeping things the way they are until there is strong evidence that it should be otherwise."

LEVIT — "If sharing works out. There is not enough information to know if costs would be cut and service improved."

AUERBACH — "I think right now sharing police dispatch service is a wise thing. The needs of Belvedere are dwarfed by those of Tiburon. A small, compact police force serves the needs of Belvedere better. For fire, I don't know if the savings would be great enough to put it under common leadership. Sharing some public works

Coastal Commission Approves San Onofre Plant's Expansion

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission reversed itself yesterday and approved the addition of two controversial generating units to the San Onofre nuclear power plant.

On a 10-2 vote, the commission voted to allow Southern California Edison Co. and the San Diego Gas and Electric Co. to build the two additional 1,140-megawatt nuclear generators.

The action reversed the commission's decision last December to deny construction permits for the units which Southern California Edison said were "desperately needed" to relieve the energy shortage.

At the December meeting, six of the 11 members voted against the application. Eight votes were required for approval.

The commission's earlier denial had been based on the recommendations of its staff which said the two additional generating units would damage the coastal environment, particularly the sandy bluffs and beaches, and would harm marine life offshore with discharges of heated water.

The two extra power units will increase by six times the total output of the San Onofre plant, which is located about 10 miles south of President Nixon's San Clemente home.

The two units will cost about $300 million with the first scheduled to go into operation in 1979 and the second in 1980.

Edison said the new generating units, when in operation, will save an estimated 20 to 25 million barrels of oil each year — about one quarter of Edison's total requirements.

Candidates In Belvedere Worrying About Tiburon

EGOIAN — "Our number one priority is an ambulance. We must have one on this peninsula and that is where I harken to the friendly neighbor concept. If cost determines, it might be that fire could be together. Police should not be an official merger, but the departments could help each other."

CULLEN — There is an arrangement now for shared police dispatching. It is quite possible that a similar arrangement, involving improved communications, could be made for the fire departments. I am not in favor of merging, though. I support retaining the independence of both cities."

4. Does Belvedere need more city-maintained and free recreational facilities for young people and adults?

RAFTER — "Yes, we need mor recreation. There's only one place to put it, of course, the Lagoon Road area. If there is a three-year wait to get into the Tiburon Peninsula Club that certainly means there isn't enough recreation here."

STEEN — "If someone could show me that young people would use them, I would be receptive to the idea. But I haven't seen evidence of that. I am anxious to see present park and open space beautified and developed."

LEVIT — "There is a crying need in Belvedere for extended park and recreation facilities with Tiburon in a joint program. I don't think Belvedere could sustain them on its own. The after-school recreation and drop-in programs with Tiburon have been tremendous. These prove the need. I think we should expand with Tiburon to offer more, hopefully even to get a day care center."

AUERBACH — "I think we do. The proposal for city-maintained tennis courts is a sound one. It has worked elsewhere. I think there should be some things for older citizens, like shuffleboard. Development of Lagoon Road Park is an effective way to use that area."

EGOIAN — "We have to find someplace on this property where we can do something for youngsters so they will enjoy Belvedere as much as the older people. Right now, there is no place for them. This is a real concern. Whoever is on the council must look into it and do it fast."

CULLEN — "I don't know of any objective evidence that we are short on park space. There is a cahnce we can develop the area along Lagoon Road into a park. But that takes money and one must consider the chance of intrusion into the community park by non-residents."

An Aerosol Chemical Tied To Live Cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of Ralph Nader researchers today asked the government to ban the use of a chemical, found in hair sprays and other aerosol products, which it said had been linked to liver cancer.

Nader's Health Research group said the chemical involved, vinyl chloride, is used as a propellant for a wide variety of household aerosol products, including pesticides.

Dr. Sidney Wolfe, director of the research group, told a Senate panel that a petition had been filed to ban use of the chemical.

Wolfe said vinyl chloride has received much attention in the past few weeks since it has been linked with a rapidly rising number of liver cancer deaths among vinyl chloride workers at a B. F. Goodrich plant in Louisville, Ky.

Wolfe's petition claimed that use of hair spray in the home can produce concentrations of vinyl chloride in the air that are similar to doses administered to laboratory animals which developed cancer during a laboratory test in Italy.

The petition, directed at the Food and Drug Administration, the Consumer Product Safety Commission, and the Environmental Protection Agency, seeks a ban on use of the chemical in aerosol cosmetics and other household products. It also seeks an end to the use of Polyvinyl Chloride in plastic cosmetic containers.

Nader, testifying on the need for more control over the cosmetic industry, told the committee there is a double standard operating because cosmetics are free from premarket testing while foods and drugs are not.

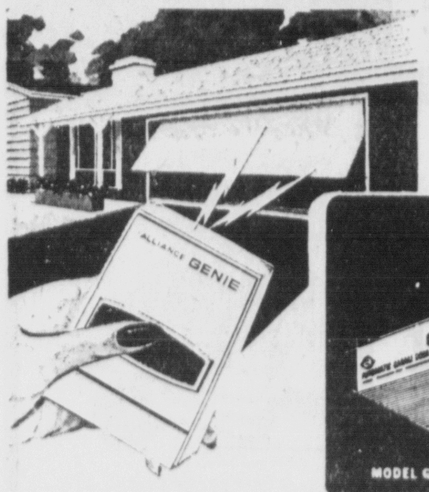

The new attack on aerosols came on the heels of a hearing by the Product Safety Commission which also is considering whether to clamp tighter controls on the hundreds of products now packaged in spray cans.

Planning Goals

The steering committee of an advisory group on the new Mill Valley General Plan will meet today at 8 p.m. at the Mill Valley Library to review a set of goals proposed for the plan by the city's general plan consultants, Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco.

GAS ALLOCATION AREAS

This UPI news chart shows estimated gasoline supply increases which have been ordered for 20 states by the Federal Energy Office. Ten states were given 5 per cent more gasoline and 10 states got another 2 per cent. The hikes, announced Tuesday, overlapped previous increases announced Feb. 9, creating some reported confusion.

Water Rate Reductions Are Now Likely For Bolinas Area Residents

The possibility of a rollback in water rates from the current charge of $1 per 100 cubic feet was raised last night by directors of the Bolinas Public Utility District.

The high rate went into effect last September after directors decided it was necessary both to encourage conservation in the water-short community and to pay for the cost of emergency pumping from Pine Gulch Creek.

Board president William E. Niman said he believes cost of the pumping has been recovered. Winning agreement from other directors he set discussion of the rate reduction for next Wednesday's board meeting.

Previous charges were 75 cents per 100 cubic feet, with a minimum of $5 per month for the first 500 cubic feet.

The Bolinas Public Utility District board also:

CLOSED SESSION — Announced after a closed session that it was unable to determine whether $1,293 worth of repairs needed on a district backhoe were caused by a neglect of maintenance or by unauthorized use of the vehicle by two persons, one a district employee. No insurance claim will be made and no action taken against either of the two persons, Niman said.

BONDS — Turned down a proposal by C. L. Feusier that all district taxpayers pay off a $75,000 bond issue voted by Bolinas Mesa residents in 1964 when separate water systems were maintained for the mesa and the downtown areas. Downtown property owners will complete payment this year on a $45,000 bond issue voted in 1954, Feusier said.

MAINTENANCE — Voted 4-to-1 (J. Michael Groshong against) to keep the crew of three maintenance men on a five-day week and alternate standby time on weekends. Groshong had proposed a rotating time schedule which would have kept two men on duty at all times.

TERMS — Agreed to hold a closed session before next week's meeting to draw up a contract with William Shoff, head maintenance man, after Shoff said he did not want to put his knowledge of district lines on a map for fear he would then be replaced.

ENERGY — Heard that the district energy committee has received $97 in contributions to help defray costs of a solar hot water heater being constructed for a room in Bolinas school.

WATER — Received a $5,000 proposal from the engineering firm of Bala and Strandgaard to make a preliminary design and cost estimate of repairs needed if the district is to use Pepper dam on Arroyo Honda creek for its water supply.

The Annual Outlay

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — The average American parents spend between $10 and $50 a year on toys for each of their children, according to family life specialist Glen Jenson of Utah State University. "And if we as parents are spending that much, we should make sure we are getting toys that are best for our children," Jenson says.

Petaluma Bond Passage Called Vital In Maintaining Services

Voter approval of the parks and library bond issues on March 5 is essential if Petaluma is to maintain adequate services for its 30,000 residents, Soroptimist Club members were told yesterday.

Speaking for the $750,000 library bond issue was Patricia Hilligoss, vice-chairman of the city planning commission and a member of the citizen's committee which is heading the bond campaign. Recreation Director James R. Raymond spoke in support of the $1.9 million parks and recreation bond measure.

Both spokesmen said existing facilities were built long ago for a town much smaller than today's Petaluma.

Mrs. Hilligoss said the current library at Fourth and D streets was constructed about 1904 when the population was 4,000. In those days, she said, most Petalumans lived in the hilly area which is now western Petaluma.

But now, with most recent residential development taking place in the flatlands to the east, the old library is not easily reached by most residents, according to Mrs. Hilligoss.

The new library would be in Kenilworth Park, which she called "the geographical center" of present-day Petaluma.

She said total cost of the library is estimated at about $1.3 million. Approximately $572,000 of that amount will be provided by revenue sharing funds already pledged by the city council and the Sonoma County supervisors. The balance will come from the bond measure.

Mrs. Hilligoss said the new library would cost the owner of a $30,000 home about $4.27 a year in additional property taxes.

"For less than the cost of one book you can get a new building with 100,000 books in it - it's a bargain," she added.

As presently planned, the library would have 24,000 square feet of floor area, thrice that of the old one. Also included in the structure would be study areas, seating for 190 persons, separate areas for children and teen-agers, space for art and cultural exhibits and an audio-visual section, according to the library committee spokesman.

The parks and recreation bonds, if approved, would enable Petaluma to have an additional 48 acres of developed parkland, Raymond said.

He told the clubwomen that most of the bond money would go into development of Lucchesi Park, a barren 32-acre parcel off McDowell Boulevard near the Petaluma Plaza Shopping Center. The land was earmarked for park use in 1969, he said.

Present plans, according to Raymond, call for a three-acre lagoon suitable for boating and fishing, six lighted tennis courts, a community recreation center, handball, badminton and volleyball courts, play areas, athletic fields and picnic grounds.

The bond money also would be used to develop 16 acres at Shollenberger River Park adjacent to the city boat launching ramp on the Petaluma River near Highway 101, the recreation director said. Softball, baseball and soccer fields and a picnic and barbecue facility are planned.

Because the city's only public tennis court in McNear Park is in disrepair and cannot serve the present population, it would be renovated and a second court would be built nearby, Raymond said.

Bond revenues would be used to make the lawn area at the municipal swimming center at least 30 feet wider, he said, so families would have room to relax. Now the pool area is often overcrowded during the warmer months, according to Raymond.

He estimated that the parks and recreation bonds would add about $14.30 to the annual tax bill of the owner of a typical $30,000 home.

More Smog Alerts Are Predicted

The air in the Bay Area probably won't be any dirtier this year, but a more stringent system set for adoption yesterday will mean more smog alerts in the region.

Drafted by the staff of the Air Pollution Control District to conform to new state standards, the "episode plan" probably will result in two to three alerts in the traditionally heavy smog season next fall, district officials said.

The new system will replace one adopted two years ago by the district before the state set lower levels to trigger alerts.

The three-stage system calls for increasingly severe cuts in vehicle use and industrial operation, progressing from "alert" to "warning" to "emergency" levels. The latter two, however, never should be reached, according to the district's deputy air pollution control officer, Milton Feldstein.

The two-year-old system resulted in one alert two years ago and none last year. It required an alert when the amount of oxidant reached, or was expected to reach, one-tenth of a part per million averaged over 12 hours. The new system changes the alert level to three-tenths of a part per million averaged over one hour.

District directors, meeting at Campbell Hall in Sausalito, set a hearing on the new system for their March 6 meeting session at district headquarters, 939 Ellis Street, San Francisco.

Purpose of the system, the staff said, was to advise persons with respiratory or heart problems of air pollution levels which may be harmful to their health, and to prevent further build-ups of air contaminants to even more hazardous levels.

If pollution reaches the alert level, restrictions will be imposed on the use of incinerators and large industrial plants. Motorists will be asked to eliminate all but essential driving, but compliance with the request will be voluntary.

At the warning level, all government, industrial and commercial facilities would be required to operate only at the level they customarily maintain on Sundays.

At the emergency level, all recreational and nonemergency commercial facilities must be closed, and only emergency use of vehicles would be allowed.

Way Clear For Dean Testimony On Chapin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge has spurned claims by former presidential aide Dwight L. Chapin that star Watergate witness John W. Dean III should be barred from testifying against him at his upcoming perjury trial.

The ruling by U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell yesterday — with an unexplained "qualification" — apparently cleared the way for Dean to take the stand as the key prosecution witness against his former White House colleague.

Chapin, once President Nixon's appointments secretary, is scheduled to go to trial April 1 on a four-count indictment charging that he lied to the Watergate grand jury about his knowledge of the activities of political saboteur Donald H. Segretti.

Chapin's lawyers argued before Gesell that Dean, as White House counsel at the time, in effect was Chapin's lawyer and so should be barred from testifying on grounds of attorney-client privilege.

After listening to testimony and legal arguments behind closed doors last week, Gesell issued a one-sentence order denying Chapin's claim.

Referring to the fact that he was filing a sealed memorandum opinion, the Judge said, "...it is ordered that the claim of privilege is denied subject to the single qualification noted in the next-to-last paragraph of said memorandum opinion."

He did not explain what the "single qualification" is and would answer no questions about it.

Petaluma Drug Store Robbed

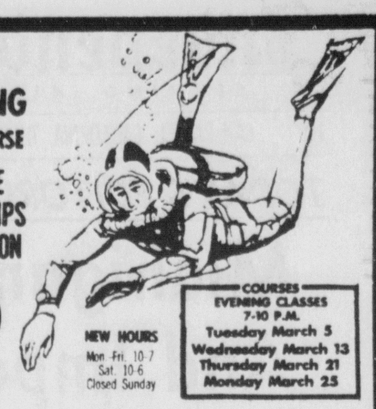

An armed robber held up the O'Neill drug store in downtown Petaluma last night, escaping with an unknown amount of cash.

Petaluma police said the robbery happened at 8:05 p.m., when a man entered through a rear entrance and ordered cashier Corliss Gay Klemenok, 23, to give him the contents of her cash register.

The stickup man showed the clerk a pistol stuck in his waistband, police said.

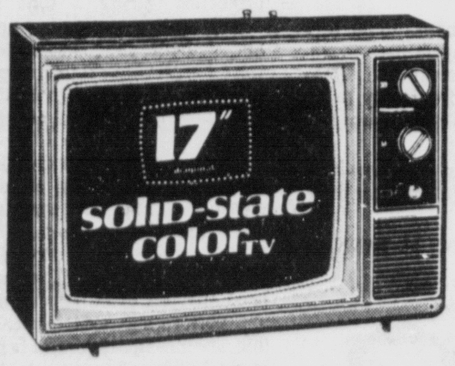

He was described as a thin Caucasian about 22 years old, about 5 feet, 11 inches tall with shoulder-length brown hair and blue eyes.

Michigan Election And Impeachment

Impeachment of a president should not hinge on party politics, but the outcomes of two special congressional elections may make a House vote to impeach Richard M. Nixon much more likely.

Both elections were watched for indications of the effect on local political fortunes of the Watergate scandals and public disenchantment with the administration.

Both were to fill seats formerly held by Republicans. Both went Democratic.

ON FEB. 5, Democrat John P. Murtha squeezed out a very narrow victory in Pennsylvania's 12th Congressional District, to fill the post held for 25 years by Republican John P. Saylor, who died last October of a heart attack.

Murtha's win was not regarded as highly indicative of a Watergate "backlash", however; because, though long represented in Congress by a Republican, the district had a slight Democratic edge in registration.

But what happened on Monday of this week left little room to doubt that Watergate — and by association, President Nixon — hangs like an albatross around the necks of Republican candidates.

THE FIFTH Congressional District seat from Michigan had been held for 25 years by Gerald R. Ford. The special election was to fill the vacancy left by his appointment to the vice presidency.

Not only had the district's voters consistently returned Ford to office by large margins, but the Republican party holds an edge in registration.

Further, the district had never elected a Democrat to Congress since 1910 — 65 years ago.

Further still, the Democratic candidate, Richard F. Vander Veen, was a three-time loser at the polls. He was defeated by Ford for Congress in 1958. Then he ran for lieutenant governor, and lost. Lowering his sights a little, he tried for mayor of Grand Rapids, and lost.

But on Monday, Vander Veen was elected with a 7,000-vote plurality over his Republican rival. And Vander Veen had played hard on the Watergate issue during the campaign.

ALL OF THIS is bound to have an effect on Republican members of the House, who will be asked some time this year to vote on whether President Nixon should go on trial before the Senate.

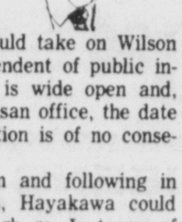

And, while it is unfortunate that partisan election prospects should influence such a decision, they are bound to do so.

There are bound to be Republican congressmen who feel the impeachment process should be carried through, but who from party loyalty have tried to shy away from a vote for impeachment. But when they read the results of such party loyalty as likely defeat at the polls, their hesitancy may disappear. For all of the House seats are up for election this year.

It may be that the results of that Monday vote in Michigan will have greater effect on the future of President Nixon than anything on the tape recordings over possession of which the White House and the House Judiciary Committee are jousting.

Hayakawa Should Run Against Wilson Riles

By RUS WALTON

You remember S. I. Hayakawa!

He's the feisty former president of San Francisco State College who gave the campus radicals what-for back in 1968-69. The fellow in the tassled tam o'shanter who climbed the demonstrators' sound truck and ripped the wires from their public address system. The licensed psychologist and professor of semantics who took S.F. State by the back of the neck and shook the kooks out and some sense in.

Of late the good doctor has been busy riding the lecture circuit and writing his newspaper columns. Apparently those chores are not enough to stoke his fire or fill his days.

DR. HAYAKAWA wants to run for U.S. senator. He wants to run as a Republican — and that is his problem.

State law says a candidate must be a member of a political party for at least one year before he can run on its ballot. Dr. Sam switched from Democrat to Republican in August, 1973.

His lawyers have petitioned the California Supreme Court to set that law aside because it infringes on Hayakawa's constitutional rights. The court has yet to act on his petition.

Actually, it's a waste of time. The good doctor runs for the wrong office.

Republicans already have three good men vying for the right to tackle Sen. Alan Cranston next November: Earl Brian, M.D., "wunderkind" of the Reagan administration who recently resigned as secretary of health and welfare; James (Johnny) Johnson, former state director of vets' affairs and former assistant secretary of Navy under President Nixon, and State Sen. H. L. (Bill) Richardson, the toughest conservative of them all.

THERE'S ANOTHER race that's made for Dr. Sam. He should take on Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction. That field is wide open and, since it is a non-partisan office, the date of his party registration is of no consequence.

With his reputation and following in both political parties, Hayakawa could give Riles a real tough go. In terms of political reality, he would have a better chance of defeating Riles than he would Alan Cranston.

Of course, the good doctor might have one small problem. He endorsed Riles in 1970.

That is easily overcome. Riles made certain pledges to the parents and taxpayers of this state and he has kept very few.

CHECK RILES' record.

When he took office, in 1971, the annual cost of operating the education bureaucracy here in Babylon was $18.6 million. For the coming year it will be $35.6 million — almost doubled. When Riles took over from Max Rafferty, the department had 2,457 employees. That was too many; but now it has 2,943 — a 20 per cent increase in four years.

Expanding the state's already top-heavy education bureaucracy is not what is needed to help our public schools. It was not one of Riles' campaign promises but it is now part of his record.

Since Riles was elected, the state's annual local assistance payments to schools have risen from $1.5 billion to $2.4 billion for 1974-75. For what? Where is the value received? Enrollment is down and so is quality.

By his own admission there is need for drastic overhaul in education.

That's why S. I. Hayakawa should run for the job.

"I don't know which was worse, finding the gas or a parking place."

Detente Cannot Alter Basic Russian Policy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Under the Soviet system of repression, which is a perfection of the Czarist system, freedom of the individual is non-existent.

When Alexander Solzhenitsyn was forced into exile, something like a sigh of relief went up that he was not subjected to another prison term in the icy hell of a Siberian prison camp.

That was the theme of his "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovitch." That short novel of the Siberian hell was published in Moscow during the Khrushchev thaw. But as his writings, "The First Circle," "The Cancer Ward," "August 1914," and finally "Gulag Archipelago," zeroed in on the cruelties of the system, reprisal was certain to come. These works were published abroad but not in the Soviet Union.

SOLZHENITSYN'S COURAGE and intellectual integrity are beyond compare. Where freedom without responsibility often seems to degenerate into anarchy, we can have no conception of what it means to stand up to total repression that has at least the passive sanction of all but a few dissidents.

The Solzhenitsyn case cannot help but influence the course of U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations. It is already being seized on by those who would end the detente and go back, if not to the cold war, to something very like it with an unabated arms race.

Honest convictions to one side, there is political mileage in the old familiar anti-communism that today can ride piggyback on a growing isolationism.

The cry of the dissident intellectuals and scientists finds a response in all who love freedom. But the political issue that strikes deep is the plight of the Soviet Jews who want to emigrate to Israel.

Here, it seems to me, President Nixon and Secretary of State Kissinger can claim some progress in working out the detente with Party Secy. Leonid Brezhnev. From nearly zero, four years ago, the number of Jewish emigres in 1973 was 32,000. Injustices, cruelties, hardships among those who want to leave are still numerous.

The choice may well be between slow progress and a return to the past under a hardening of the Soviet position. From experience it is at least logical that hardliners in the Kremlin will take over with the argument that Brezhnev's detente policy has failed to produce anything like the benefits claimed for it.

THE EASY rationalization is that the Russians need American technology so badly that they will yield to American pressure on fundamentals of the Soviet system.

Those who take this position sound at times as though the United States can dictate a complete transformation of a way of life centuries old. Not only the Jews but the Catholics in Lithuania, the Uzbeks, the Turkomans, would be allowed to depart. Freedom of press and religion would be part of the new order.

That Soviet Communism will write its death warrant in this way, desirable as it would be, is sheer wishful thinking.

What is amazing and marvelous is the way the human spirit has persisted in Russia in spite of the centuries of repression. The poet Ossip Mandelstam, who suffered continuous persecution, wrote poetry hailed as great as any in this century.

Mikhail Bulgakov in his novel, "The Master and Margarita," portrayed a confrontation betwen Christ and Pontius Pilate profoundly moving. A small edition of the Bulgakov novel was published in the Soviet Union before he was put on the proscribed list.

Boris Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago" had worldwide acclaim although it was never published in Moscow. It is a description in terrifying detail of the disintegration of a society. At one point a minor character about to be executed with other leftist dissidents makes this proud declaration:

"DON'T HUMBLE yourself: Your protest will not reach them. These new oprichniki (security troops of Ivan the Terrible), these master executioners of the new torture chambers, will never understand you! But don't lose heart. History will tell the truth . . . We die as martyrs for our ideals at the dawn of the world revolution. Long live the revolution of the spirit! Long live world anarchy!"

That revolution has been betrayed again and again and again, yet men of courage continue to defy their jailers.

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

Quite a few congressmen are retiring this year. Some of them are sure their popularity is still tremendous but feel this is not the year to test it.

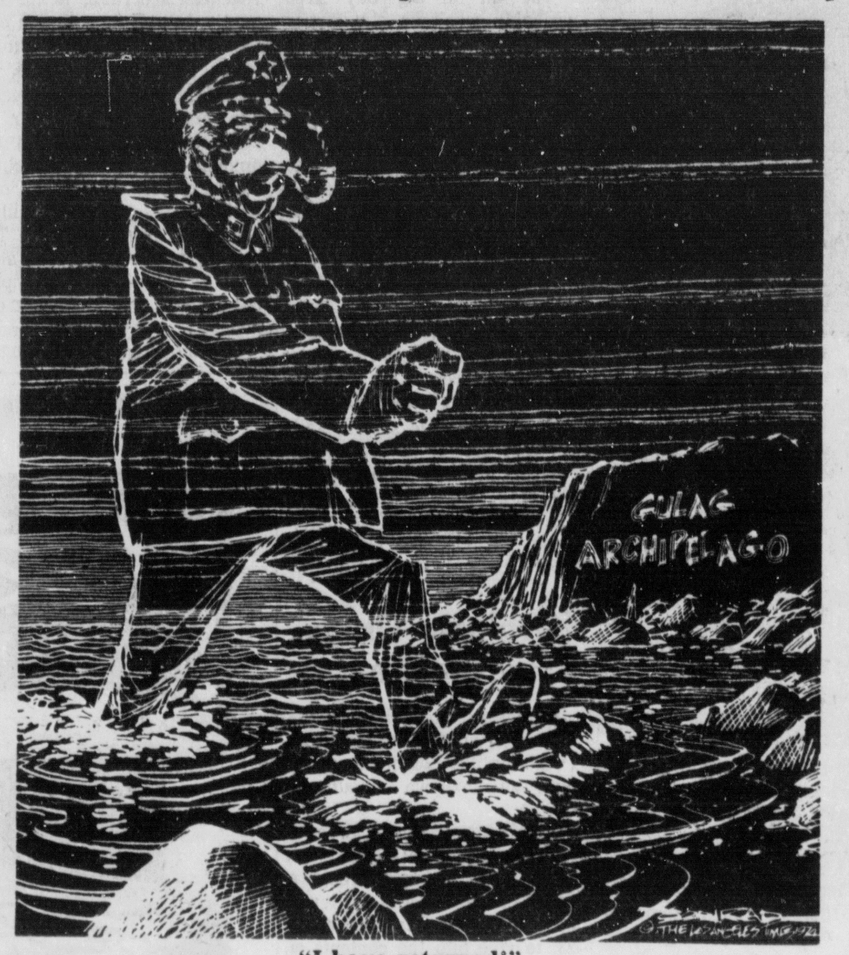

The U.S. considers its recent international oil conference a success. But so do the French — which suggests that maybe the Arabs do, too.

Anyone can be a leader in America. Just stop your car anywhere near a service station and in a couple of minutes you'll be leading the line.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

If you put tomfoolery into a computer, nothing comes out but tomfoolery. But this tomfoolery, having passed through a very expensive machine, is somehow ennobled, and no one dares to criticize it. — Pierre Gallois.

It is wise to remember that one does not have to be an expert to evaluate intelligently the contributions of experts. — Sidney Hook.

"I have returned!"

Delay In Action Only Reason To Be Surprised

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The worldwide shock surrounding Alexander Solzhenitsyn's deportation from his homeland is understandable. But not the professions of surprise.

There was never any question of whether the Soviet authorities would punish him for his fantastically brave writings, followed by his open contempt of the police. The question was how, and exactly when.

Never in the history of Russia since the revolution — or before it, when the life of the mind was similarly repressed — has the government had to handle a case exactly like Solzhenitsyn's. Not even the banishment in 1929 of Lev Trotsky, co-leader of the revolution, was accompanied by the international acclaim and suspense stirred by what has happened since Solzhenitsyn was allowed to publish "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich" in Moscow 12 years ago.

That is true partly because Solzhenitsyn is an authentic hero of the spirit, known wherever men can read; because official fury against him built slowly, mounting with each book, each of his statements, each cheer from abroad; because western newsmen in Moscow followed every step against him, and all these because of his incredible courage.

IN THEIR NAIVETE, many outside Russia were amazed that the Kremlin would take this action during a period of celebrated "detente" between the Soviet Union and the United States. They have not been paying attention, either to the long history of Russia or to the party-state internal propaganda machinery that has been producing at full intensity during the Nixon-Brezhnev communion.

What was surprising to those inside Russia was that it took the authorities so long to move. Had it not been for the watching millions abroad, the author would have disappeared long ago. The authorities had to make some concessions to that audience. Solzhenitsyn himself knew that; he saluted the fact in the acceptance speech he wrote but never delivered after he was barred by the Soviet government from receiving the Nobel Prize for literature four years ago.

"During my dangerous weeks of exclusion from the Writers' Union, the wall of defense advanced by the world's prominent protected me from worse persecutions. . ." he wrote. "Thus I have understood and felt that world literature is no longer an abstract anthology, nor a generalization invented by literary historians; it is rather a certain common body and a common spirit, a living heartfelt unity reflecting the growing unity of mankind. . . There are no internal affairs left on our crowded earth. . ."

THAT SPEECH was never printed in Moscow, of course, not officially. What Russian citizens read in Pravda and Izvestia was that the ideological purity of their minds needed ever more vigilant protection during a time when more outsiders were coming in as businessmen and tourists, and exchange programs were burgeoning. Tighter repression was a predictable surcharge on the privilege of eating bread from cheap American wheat.

So the everyday Russian listened with dread (and no doubt in some cases with pleasure) but not with surprise last week when Radio Moscow began:

"By decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, A. I. Solzhenitsyn has been stripped of citizenship of the USSR for performing systematically actions that are incompatible with being a citizen of the USSR and detrimental to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and was expelled from the Soviet Union on Feb. 13, 1974. . ."

It was news, but not in the sense that it was new. It was confirmation of lessons learned over the years — that Nixon may come and Brezhnev may go, that American taxpayers may subsidize mass grain shipments, that the Americans may be ready to give away their space technology in the name of detente, but nothing fundamental has changed.

AND THAT IS THE MOST important lesson the rest of the world can take from Solzhenitsyn's treatment. Detente is a cynical accommodation, not a religious conversion. The great author's exile may and should make clear the crassness of any further Nixon-Brezhnev frivolities like those here last summer, but that is a positive development.

Done cynically enough, business with the Soviet Union can be a useful thing, for both countries and the world. But it is essential never to forget who you are doing business with.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Dismissal Of Charges Disturbs Fairfax Readers

On Feb. 8, your paper informed us that Judge David R. Baty dismissed charges against three men who were listed as former convicts. "A search of their car revealed four guns, ammunition, heroin and illegal pills, ski masks and stockings." This is a quote from your newspaper.

The men were loitering in an alleyway leading to an apartment building. What were they doing there? What was their business? Who bothered to find out?

We read this news with deep frustration, anger and indignation.

How can we citizens feel safe in our homes or on our streets when our judicial system is so permissive and weak? It seems that our courts support the criminals at a time when they should be more vigilant for the safety of our citizens.

We feel that you as editor of a newspaper widely read by the citizens of Marin County can arouse the people to the dangers of what Judge Baty is condoning.

Behr Still Opposed To Warm Springs Dam

Your front page headline on Feb. 18 stating that I was dropping my opposition to the Warm Springs Dam project in Sonoma County brought a flood of angry telephone calls to my office, including some from as far away as Washington, D.C.

Unfortunately, the headline could readily be interpreted in many ways. Neither the headline nor the article mentioned that I am still unconvinced that the project can be justified, for all the reasons stated in my letter to Governor Reagan.

I am still very much concerned regarding the apparent failure of the Army Corps of Engineers to give evidence to the President's Council on Environmental Quality sufficient to satisfy the council that the Dry Creek fault that runs under one end of the planned dam is inactive. . .

The article also left the impression that, if there were anything further I could do on a realistic basis to delay the Warm Springs Dam project so that available alternatives could be studied, I would not do it. This is simply not so. The facts are that I have done whatever I felt possible to delay this oversized, underjustified, and excessively expensive project. The law of diminishing returns has worked inexorably against me at this point, and it now appears that, largely because of the immense amount of money already spent at Dry Creek, the Dam has become a self-fulfilling prophecy.

Larkspur Thanked For Bicycle Path

Another bouquet and thanks to the City of Larkspur for the bicycle path extension they have just completed. This extension now connects Dougherty Drive (along the old railroad right-of-way) to William Avenue.

With the gasoline crisis, etc., now with us, they are to be complimented for their foresight.

Some Ways To Kill Time While Waiting At Gas Station

WASHINGTON — People are hard put as to what to do while waiting in line for gasoline. After reading "The Winds of War" from cover to cover, they still have several hours to kill before they can get near a pump.

As a public service, we are presenting a few things drivers can do to while away the time.

THE FIRST is the "license plate game." Add up all the numbers on the license plate directly in front of you. Then multiply by 10. Divide this figure by two and you should get the price of what a roast of beef will cost you when you stop off at the supermarket on the way home.

Count the number of small foreign cars that drive past you going in the opposite direction while you are waiting for gas. If you can get to the station before the figure reaches 500, you've won the game.

Start a pool with the other drivers in the line. Each person guesses how much gas in dollars the attendant will allow each driver to buy. The one who comes closest to the right amount wins all the money in the pool.

Enroll in a college correspondence course and do all the work in your automobile. We know one lady who started as a freshman in biology and won her master's degree before she got to the pump.

MANY PEOPLE have wanted to take up painting as a hobby but were never able to find the time. Buy some paints and several canvases and set up an easel in your car. It is quite possible that by the time you get your tank filled you will have enough pictures to hold an exhibition.

Make jewelry in the front seat. This is one of the most relaxing ways of killing the hours. You can put the finished products on the hood and sell them to other drivers waiting to get near the station, as well as to passersby who are looking for bargains. A note of warning: You should have a vendor's license if you're going to sell anything on your hood. If you see a policeman coming, stash all the jewelry in your truck.

This next idea requires a little investment but the returns could be great. Have a telephone installed in the dashboard and start selling the Encyclopaedia Britannica by phone. One lady we know made $600 in commissions and never moved more than four blocks.

Hold your bridge games in your car. If it is your turn to be the hostess, invite three friends to go down to the gas station with you. Set up a board between the front seat and the back. You'd be surprised how fast the day goes when you're playing cards. One word of caution: Do not change partners while the vehicle is moving.

FOR THOSE WHO NEED to vent their frustrations while waiting for gas, I might suggest making up a dart board with all the oil companies in the circles and King Faisal's photograph in the bull's-eye. Put the board in your rear window and try to toss the darts over your shoulder.

This final idea is for housewives: Use the time in line to have an affair with someone who really loves you for yourself and not because you're an odd or even number.

Tell your lover which gas station you will be waiting at. The beauty of having an affair while waiting for petrol is that you will have all the time in the world to spend with your paramour, and no one will suspect either of you of being anything but a nice couple in an embrace while waiting for a few gallons of fuel.

Even if your husband finds out about the affair, he won't be too upset as long as you bring home a full tank of gas.

Pictures Remind Lieutenant Of Puzzling Unsolved Murder

Fastened to the wall of Schwedhelm's small, windowless office are 15 photographs showing the body of 31-year-old Nina Fischer, wife of a Swedish corporation executive.

It was last Nov. 15 when Gunnar Fischer returned to his Point San Pedro home after unsuccessfully trying to reach his wife all day by telephone from his San Francisco office.

He found his wife dead beneath a blanket in the bedroom. She had been shot in the head and back. The couple's two-year-old daughter napped unharmed in another room.

THE PICTURES are on the wall to remind Schwedhelm that three months have passed without a major break in the case.

"Every time I look at the pictures I reenact in my mind what must have happened," said the lieutenant.

As he reconstructs it, the murderer must have entered the house through an unlocked door. When Mrs. Fischer tried to use a telephone, he broke a bottle over her head.

He then probably bound and gagged her, sexually assaulted her and shot her, said Schwedhelm.

The lieutenant has spent countless hours poring over evidence taken from the rambling home. Fifty fingerprints were sent to a federal crime lab but no lead developed.

Fischer has returned to Sweden, and although Schwedhelm said the husband has been "very cooperative," he is not yet ready to rule him out as having played a part in the murder.

THE LACK OF PHYSICAL evidence leaves Schwedhelm little choice but to await what he calls a break in the case.

Maybe the killer will brag to friends about how he pulled off the murder, or maybe someone will overhear him discussing the crime and tell investigators.

Schwedhelm admitted being frustrated over the case.

"What's worse than not solving it is that we know there's someone out on the streets who would commit a crime like this," he said.

He asked anyone with any information that may bear on Mrs. Fischer's slaying to call him. "No matter how unimportant they may think the information, it may be just the break we need," he said.

NORMALLY, the wheels of justice grind slowly, but here's a notable exception:

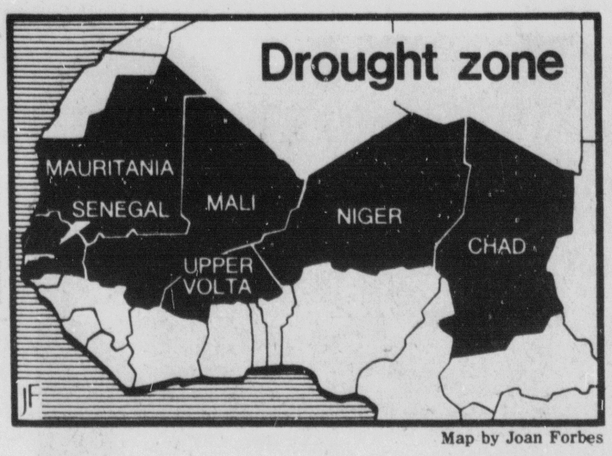

A San Rafael appraiser went into Marin Municipal Court recently, suing a Marin contractor for appraisal fees. He wanted $850, and the contractor said $350, no more.

Rather than spend time and energy in Judge Peter Allen Smith's court, the two litigants went into the corridor for a quickie settlement: A $300 or a $500 payment, riding on the flip of a coin.

Tax Declaration

Farmers and fishermen who did not file a declaration of estimated federal income tax by Jan. 15, must file their 1973 tax return and pay all of the tax due by March 1, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Famine Spreads In Six West African Countries

By HENRY S. HAYWARD

NIAMEY, Niger — Five long years of drought have etched leaden signs on the land and people throughout the six West African states south of the Sahara.

In spite of a brief rainy spell, this year will be another hard one for Mali, Mauretania, Niger, and Chad, with Senegal and Upper Volta only slightly better.

With five months to go before they can plow, sow, and hope for rain again, farmers already are reported out of food and begging.

In Niger, alone, the shortage of foodstuffs is reckoned at 300,000 tons.

"THE SITUATION is as bad as last year," a western informant declared. "The only thing that is better is that governments and relief agencies are more aware of the dimensions of the disaster — and international experts already are on the scene."

Not until December, 1972, was the initial appeal for outside aid raised by the drought-stricken Sahel countries. Then the dryness already was two years under way.

Until then, the newly independent nations were either too proud to ask for help or unaware they faced a full-blown emergency.

There also was an element of racism involved. The governments don't really care if some of their people perish. They may be members of a minority tribe, considered troublesome or rootless by the majority.

"EVEN IN THE BEST of years, a number of people die from malnutrition in this part of the world," observers here point out. "When food and water are scarce, life is cheap. Local people scarcely give casualties among the less fortunate a second thought."

What are the human losses so far?

"They must number 500,000," says one veteran observer. "But nobody really knows. No reliable statistics exist. That's why it's so hard to get essential aid. Some donors want facts and figures first — and they don't exist."

Of Niger's 4.2 million population, 1.2 million are nomads, 300,000 are Tuaregs, 700,000 are Peul or Fulani. And there are 80,000 refugees from neighboring Mali, who walked over the border in hope of getting some relief.

Eighty per cent of Niger is arid desert in normal times. The other 20 per cent is good only for livestock raising and limited crops.

BELATEDLY, a huge relief operation now is under way. Heavy American aid commenced late in 1972. The United States is far and away the largest contributor, having given more than twice all other donors combined. Without the input it is hard to visualize what the situation would be today.

Since Niger is 1,200 miles from the Mediterranean and 1,000 miles from the South Atlantic, getting aid here is no small problem.

Washington announced Jan. 23 it would be sending an additional 100,000 tons of sorghum at a possible cost of $10 million, plus additional millions for ocean and inland transportation.

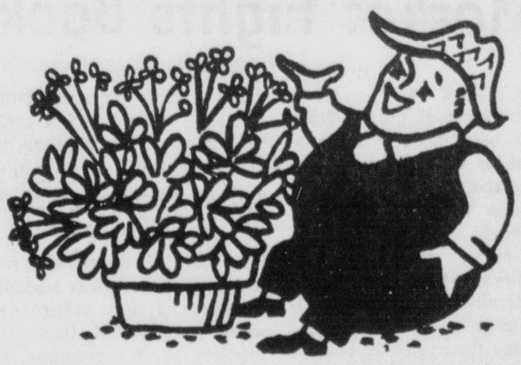

Distribution is a fearsome problem once the foodstuffs arrive in a country. Roads are so poor only light vehicles can use them in many areas. Some routes shown on maps are best described as only tracks.

A QUESTION FROM REEVES FOR CONGRESS

DO POLITICIANS HAVE TO OBSERVE THE LAW?

POLITICAL SHENANIGANS BY THE BURTON CROWD . .

From the Independent-Journal columns of February 13, 1974 the following report of the Marin County Democratic Central Committee meeting is in part reprinted . . .

"Marin Democratic officials spurning cries 'it stinks' last night voted by a narrow margin to put their office in the headquarters of one of the seven candidates for their party's nomination for Congress."

"Opponents of the action . . . objected that state law expressly prohibits political activity in partisan primary elections. By renting space in Burton's Marin headquarters, they argued, the committee could appear to violate the law."

"Robert Lee Grant of Tiburon, who repeatedly denounced the arrangement, saying 'it stinks', asked rhetorically, 'How can the majority of the central committee vote to do something illegal? He got no answer."

THE BALLOTING WAS 9-7, WITH SIX MEMBERS ABSENT.

Alan Reeves had already placed the matter of previous party bossism before the Marin County District Attorney's office on January 24, 1974. He charged that Burton's use of his State Chairmanship to further his campaign for the Democratic nomination to Congress was in clear violation of California Election Code No. 11702, which states in part:

"THE STATE CONVENTION, STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE AND THE COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE IN EACH COUNTY SHALL NOT ENDORSE, SUPPORT OR OPPOSE, ANY CANDIDATE FOR NOMINATION BY THAT PARTY FOR PARTISAN OFFICE IN THE DIRECT PRIMARY ELECTION."

THE REEVES CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE REMINDS YOU THAT YOUR JUDGMENT AT THE POLLS IS THE PRIME INSURANCE AGAINST THIS KIND OF PARTY BOSSISM.

BUSINESS MIRROR

The Institutional Market Fights Back

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Many institutional stock market traders are being reduced to exasperated inactivity by the uncertainties that seem to be more numerous than at any time since World War II.

The energy problem, inflation, threatened recession both domestically and internationally, shortages of basic goods, enormous food price increases, the President's problems and a generally sour national mood are among the elements.

Because of this, some institutions have tried to resolve their dilemma by temporarily putting their funds into short-term debt securities instead of into stocks. To a large extent this is done merely for conservation of capital.

Argus Research explains that short-term securities provide a high yield by historical standards, and until recently a yield higher than long-term bonds. They thus so provide institutions with a safe, easy repository for their dollars.

For a while the mutual fund industry, which has been taking its lumps for more than two years, seemed to be able to see a path through the maze and began committing funds. But that was last October.

At that time the growing realization that there was a surplus of demand for natural resources convinced them that industry in this grouping was the place for their money. And so, for the first time in nearly two years, mutual funds became net buyers of stocks.

Internal problems had contributed to their long absence from the market, as well as the uncertainty. Throughout 1972 and much of 1973 mutual find shareholders had redeemed shares heavily, which tended to tie the hands of portfolio managers.

In all 1973, for example, mutual fund redemptions exceeded sales by $1.3 billion. In anticipation of having to pay for these redemptions, some funds were forced to keep large cash balances they otherwise might have invested in stocks.

In October, however, the funds and other institutions thought they saw the light. They invested heavily in natural resources.

Analysts at Standard & Poor's noted that nearly all the natural resource groups were outstanding market performers in 1973, making gains despite a 17.4 per cent drop in the S&P 500-stock index.

But the funds, and probably other institutions also, tended to retreat form the market in November and December.

And now, comments Argus Research: "Both institutional and individual investors appear to be in a mild catatonic state these days. They have witnessed a clobbering of virtually every type of common stock — including many sacred cows in the growth and energy groups."

And that, for the present at least, leaves portfolio managers with little to contemplate but uncertainties. And uncertainty has always generated inactivity.

Gold Helps The Market Push Ahead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices moved higher on the New York Stock Exchange today with gold mining stocks leading the way. Trading was moderately active.

Gold mining issues were strong, responding to record bullion prices at London and other foreign markets. Homestake Mining added 3 1/4, and Dome Mines 3.

On the American Exchange, stocks gained in light trading. Capitol Industries led the actives, up 4 ¾ to 14 ¾ on 40,300 shares.

Exercise Patience On Pension Fund

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have been in LTV's pension plan for seven years but it is not growing very fast. If it weren't for the company's contributions I would have lost money. Should I take my money out and put it in the bank? — A.K.

A. The only protion of your plan which has decreased substantially in value is the LTV (NYSE) stock. Your holdings in government and diversified securities have increased 8 per cent in worth and the diversified equities have stayed about level. The outlook for LTV has improved significantly in the last two years. Its major subsidiaries, Aerospace, Wilson & Co. and 81 per cent-owned Jones & Laughlin, are all operating profitably. The latter has recently reported a 28 per cent increase in 1973 earnings. Although parent company results are not yet available, $3.60 a share appears possible. The market, however, has failed to respond to the improvement, and the shares are trading at only three times estimated net.

Management has not only turned operations around but has also made some strides in simplifying the company's financial structure. The top-heavy long term debt has been reduced one-third since 1969. Continued patience with your pension fund should gradually produce results.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Consumption of waste paper in the United States rose by one million tons in 1973 and is expected to rise by a similar amount this year.

Silver Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at $5.965 per fine ounce, up 34.5 cents. Engelhard quoted silver bullion at $5.965, up 34.5 cents, and fabricated silver at 6.024, up 34.7 cents.

Insulation Makers Need Old Papers

CHICAGO (UPI) — The makers of insulated building materials are being hit by the shortage of old newspapers, according to the National Cellulose Manufacturers Association.

Other shortages causing spiraling price boosts in insulated building materials include paper bags and fire-retardant chemicals.

Hickory Smoked Meats Will Be Featured At B Street Restaurant

A new restaurant that is scheduled to open in San Rafael at 720 B Street (old Mission Inn site) will be called The Family Affair and will feature hickory smoked meats.

Philip C. Rogers of Metes & Bounds real estate, which arranged the lease of space for the restaurant, said it will be operated by two Marin men who have considerable experience with hickory smoked meats. They will also feature family style meals and fresh vegetables. The Family Affair hopes to open about April 15.

Rogers said the restaurant will have no bar and will cater to the entire family.

LORING HEIGHTS, a 180-unit apartment community on the east side of Highway 101 just south of Hamilton Air Force Base, will hold its grand opening this coming Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

The champagne reception and open house will be hosted by owner-architect Leo S. Wou, who has offices in San Francisco and in Hawaii. Loring Heights, managed by Barcelon-Burger Corp. of Sausalito, offers one and two bedroom apartments at prices ranging from $170 to $260 per month. The penthouses feature cathedral beam ceilings and skylights.

ROUND TABLE PIZZA in Corte Madera, which opened last Friday at the old Copper Penney coffee house site at 71 Casa Buena Drive, will offer specials to customers who bring in coupons printed in this paper. The specials, which started today, will be offered for a month.

The pizza house in Corte Madera is the fifth in a chain operated by Pete Singler Enterprises of Cotati. The Corte Madera shop, with seating for about 160, is managed by James Hendersen, who formerly managed the Novato shop. Round Table Pizzas serve pizzas, sandwiches, salads, soft drinks, and beer and wine.

Rick Ernster, general manager of Singler Enterprises, said the next Round Table Pizza is scheduled to open this summer at Strawberry Town and Country Village in Mill Valley.

DO YOUR PROJECTS get stuck in the maze of red tape and public opposition?

Merritt A. Robinson of Robinson Engineering in San Anselmo now provides a land development projects consulting service, whose aim is to create projects that are acceptable to all concerned — the developer, the city or county, and the public. From the inception of a project, he plans to bring together the goals of the developer, his architect, the jurisdiction involved, and the public to create an acceptable plan before too much time and money is wasted on something that will be rejected.

"Too much of the developer's money is spent in re-drawing and re-studying plans, only to have some public body turn them down," said Robinson, owner of the 10-year-old engineering firm. "We feel that mediation and compromise is much more effective than legal confrontation."

A mechanical engineering graduate of University of California, Robinson has been on the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission since 1971 and has served with other civic and environmental groups.

DALI FEENJON delicatessen and night club at Second and B streets in San Rafael has closed its delicatessen and is concentrating on evening entertainment.

It is now open Wednesday through Saturday from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. and on Sunday from 8 p.m. to midnight, and closed on Mondays and Tuesdays. "We've cut the restaurant down to just snacks like hamburgers," said Dr. Gar C. May, the owner. He is negotiating for sale of Dali Feenjon because it occupies too much of his time.

NEW BUSINESS owners, managers or prospective businessmen will be able to attend a free workshop sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration in San Francisco next Monday.

The workshop will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Federal Building, room 15030, at 450 Golden Gate Avenue. Qualified speakers will discuss marketing, planning financial needs, insurance risks, accounting records, cash flow crisis, market survey, legal aspects of starting a business, working with Internal Revenue, and how the Service Corps of Retired Executives can help new businesses.

Giacomini To Back Growth Control Plan

I-J Special Report

NEW YORK — Marin County Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini said yesterday he would back a county growth control plan which would meet the housing needs of low-income groups, according to United Press International.

Giacomini made the remarks after the final session of the three-day National Conference on Managed Growth at New York's Americana Hotel. He, along with fellow Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney attended the conference.

(Giacomini went on to Washington today, an aide said, but the other two were due to return to Marin today.)

Giacomini said he became familiar at the conference with New York State's Ramapo Plan, which provides for low-income housing.

The plan, which he said could serve as a model for Marin County, has been accepted by the courts because of its non-exclusionary nature, according to Giacomini.

Giacomini said that a federal court struck down a growth control ordinance enacted by the City of Petaluma because it failed to insure that all income groups could live there, setting a cutoff number for future housing units.

(Editor's note: The U. S. District Court in San Francisco struck down the Petaluma ordinance because the judge said it violated the right of people to live wherever they want, not because of lack of low-income housing provisions.)

Giacomini said such plans are exclusionary by their nature and "amount to a form of de facto segregation. In Marin County, he said, "it will be very difficult to get an ordinance through that just limits growth.

About 300 people, including 25 Californians, attended the conference.

Buffet Dinner For Burton Set

A fund-raising buffet dinner for Assemblyman John L. Burton of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, will be held on March 2 at the Ross home of Dr. James D. Green, 2 Canyon Road.

No-host cocktails will begin at 7 p.m. and dinner at 8 p.m. Shuttle buses will run from the intersection of Laurel Grove Avenue and Canyon Road.

Missing Girl Is Found Safe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police found a 17-year-old high school girl yesterday who had disappeared Feb. 12 and was thought to be a kidnap victim.

Peppina St. Thomas was found by officers in the Sunset District. She said her kidnapers released her early Friday, but she was afraid to go home and stayed with friends.

Miss St. Thomas told police she was picked up and held against her will by kidnapers who wrote a note and forced her to copy it. An anonymous caller told her mother where to find the note.

Officers took Miss St. Thomas to her home yesterday, but after an argument with her parents police were again called and she was placed in the Youth Guidance Center.

Novato Jaycees Seek Members

The Novato Jaycees will have an introductory meeting for prospective members at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 28 at the Straw Hat Pizza Palace, 7079 Redwood Highway.

The Jaycees, open to men 18 to 36, provides "leadership training through community involvement," according to President Gary Westover.

Prisoner's Father Seeks To Put Pressure On Syria

By BILL ROBERTS

Families of Israeli prisoners of war have begun a drive in America and Western Europe to gain public support for the release of their relatives.

The families feel that political maneuvering during the four months since the end of the October war has made little progress toward freeing their sons and husbands from Syrian jails. So they have begun touring other nations and hope to bring enough public pressure on the Syrians so that the prisoners will be freed.

Aharon Ariel, the father of a 21-year-old prisoner who was captured during the first days of the war, said the Israelis hope to play on the Arabs' own proud traditions and thus secure the soliders' release.

"We want people to remind them of their own code of behavior of which they are so proud," Ariel said yesterday on a visit to the Independent-Journal, the mid-point of a seven-city United States tour.

Ariel said he hopes that through radio, television and newspaper interviews he can reach most Americans with a plea for help.

The relatives of prisoners originally banded together in an attempt to gain information about their relatives after a cease fire was declared. But no information has been issued on the prisoners, according to Ariel, and he only knew of his son's survival through American friends who saw the youngster on television with other captured prisoners.

"They want to use them as political prisoners," Ariel said in assessing why Syria won't even release the prisoners' names, allow them to write home or be visited by Red Cross representatives.

Ariel, 48-year-old deputy chief editor of Hebrew Encyclopedia, said the lack of information from Syria forced the group of prisoners' families to redirect their efforts toward gaining public support for the prisoners' release.

His trip to America, and those of other group members to Western Europe, are financed partly through contributions the group has received and partly on their own.

As the father of a prisoner, he said he cares little about the details of an Israeli-Syrian troop disengagement agreement. His main concern is for the release of prisoners.

"I'm most anxious for an agreement between Israel and Syria. However, I don't think it's a good idea to associate the problem of the prisoners with the political problems," he said. "Any agreement reached by using human beings as hostages isn't worth very much."

He also fears that his son and other prisoners might become a part of discussions between the United States and oil-producing nations concerning the present oil embargo.

"I hope my son won't become a pawn in that game," he said.

Ariel declined to compare the present plight of Israeli prisoners and their families with the long agony in this country over the fate of American prisoners in the hands of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. Nor would he comment on the lack of international pressure to secure the Americans' release.

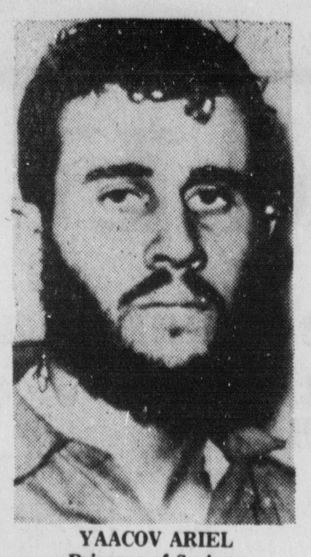

But he maintained that such pressure from American and Western European citizens could be the key to securing the release of Israeli prisoners. He urgd Americans to write letters to Syrian President Hafez Assad urging the prisoners' release and pointing to the Syrians' own persona' dignity as a reason they should free the Israelis.

Speaking generally in soft tones and somewhat broken English, Ariel was unmoved by reports that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will return to the Middle East to seek troop disengagement talks. He said the only way the 120 prisoners, an estimate, will be freed immediately will be for the Syrians to yield to public pressure for their release.

"You don't have to be pro-Israeli, in my opinion, to support an exchange of prisoners," he said.

When asked how he thinks his son is being treated, Ariel admits that he creates in his own mind the most rash treatment he can imagine. He hopes reports of such treatment, whether true or not, will spur Syrian officials to at least allow interviews with prisoners to show they they have not been mistreated.

Ariel sees no immediate end to his efforts to help free his son and said he may have to be away from his native Jerusalem, wife and two other sons for more than the few weeks he first anticipated.

Gas Crunch May Boost Absent Vote

Voters unable to travel to their polling place June 4 because of the gasoline shortage or other reason may apply for an absentee ballot through Feb. 26, County Elections Officer Peter C. Meyer said today.

Meyer said application may be made by filling out the form on the back of the "polling place card" voters received with their sample ballots.

The application must be mailed to his office at Civic Center by Feb. 26, he explained, adding absentee ballots will be mailed out as quickly as possible. The ballots must be returned by March 26 to be valid.

He said voters in rural areas of the county may find it difficult and expensive to travel to their polling place and may decide to cast an absentee ballot instead of not voting at all.

"The right to vote comes first over everything else," Meyer said, adding he has interpreted the elections code to authorize use of absentee ballots when voters face a gasoline shortage and no public transportation is available.

Margaret Mead Joins Call For Nixon's Ouster

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Anthropologist Margaret Mead yesterday accused President Nixon of "wrecking almost every social program put into effect since the New Deal," and called for his impeachment.

The Columbia University lecturer labeled impeachment "a dignified legal procedure" for a President who has abused his constitutional powers.

"Many Americans don't know what impeachment is all about," Mrs. Mead said. "They think impeachment would mean the President would be thrown out of office in a gross fashion."

Mrs. Mead, 72, speaking at the University of Michigan, said impeachment is necessary now because she doubts President Nixon will resign.

Recreation Building In Park Is Approved

A new recreation building for Ladybug Park has been approved by the Rohnert Park City Council.

Councilmen on Tuesday directed city staff to draw up plans for a 1,100 square-feet structure which will be used for small community meetings, City Clerk Kathryn P. Logue reported.

The building will cost between $40,000 and $50,000, according to a preliminary study.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

DISCHARGE — Approved an ordinance prohibiting discharge of noxious industrial waste into city sewer lines.

GOLF — Increased the weekend rental fee for motor carts at the city golf course from $7 to $8.

POUND — Invited bids on a municipal animal shelter the city hopes to build for between $10,000 and $15,000.

PARK — Directed staff to meet with property owners in the Rancho Feliz area of western Rohnert Park to find a site for a neighborhood playground and baseball diamond.

CONTRACT — Awarded a $168,000 contract to Colombini Construction Co. of Santa Rosa for a corporation yard for city vehicles.

Shun Safety Belts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A survey returned by nearly 2,500 drivers recently indicated 63 per cent of them opposed legislation that would require them to wear both lap and shoulder belts.

Water Connect Ban Questioned

By GEORGE NEVIN

A water expert testified yesterday that the Marin Municipal Water District's ban on new connections is unnecessary because a real shortage could be predicted in advance.

San Rafael engineer Leon E. Oberkamper made the statement as a developer's suit, seeking water for 292 housing units, went to trial in Marin Superior Court.

"If you reach a point after two dry years when your reservoirs are down around 20,000 acre-feet, that should wave a red flag," said Oberkamper.

The McCarthy Co. of San Rafael sued the water district last March in an attempt to obtain water for the development, Foothills Oaks, planned for 54 acres south of the Marin civic center.

Six other developers later filed similar suits seeking water for projects throughout Marin.

Judge E. Warren McGuire is hearing the case without a jury.

The water district board last April declared a "threatened water shortage" and enacted a moratorium on connections to new customers.

Dispute arose in court yesterday over the water system's "net safe yield," or the amount of water the district can count on year after year.

The district puts the figure at 26,000 acre-feet, (one acre-foot is the amount of water necessary to flood one acre of land one foot deep.) The McCarthy Co. puts the figure at closer to 31,000 acre-feet. Capacity of the system's five reservoirs is 52,400 acre-feet.

If a shortage were to threaten, said Oberkamper, chairman of the water supply committee of the Bay Counties Civil Engineer and Land Surveyors Association, the district could ration its customers to assure water for future users.

Under cross-examination by Douglas P. Ferguson, attorney for Marin Municipal, Oberkamper said he does not dispute that "in 200 years you're going to be out of water or have to restrict water or ration it."

But, he said, the district is being "overly conservative" in planning for 200 years and suggested 50 years as a better figure. Even without the moratorium the district is unlikely to face a critical water shortage within 50 years, he said.

The McCarthy suit is one of seven court actions seeking pipeline extensions and water connections. Judge McGuire already has heard evidence in one of the suits, which seeks service to a single home, and has yet to rule. The other five have not yet come to trial.

TV Cable Repairman Fired Upon

A Petaluma cable television repairman was badly shaken but unharmed yesterday after he became a sniper's target in a San Rafael residential area.

San Rafael police said Tele-Vue Systems Inc. repairman Joseph E. Hickerson, 30, of 1685 Baywood, was frightened but unhurt after emerging from a hail of small arms fire by an unknown assailtant near Prospect and Coleman drives at 4:37 p.m. yesterday.

Hickerson told officers he was 20 feet aloft in a hydraulic basket repairing a cable line on a utility pole at the intersection when he heard a "slight cracking noise" as projectiles passed through a clump of trees on a nearby hillside.

He said he heard the sound twice, took cover on the floor of his repair truck, and then heard two more shots, according to San Rafael police.

One of the bullets, perhaps from a pellet gun, smashed into Hickerson's truck window, splintering the glass.

About a dozen San Rafael police converged on the scene after Hickerson sounded a call for help on his truck radio, but could find no sniper, police said.

"All the SRPD downtown patrol units were detailed to cover the area and Detective (Raymond) Maynard responded and his investigation revealed that the path of the suspected projectile came from a nearby residence on Prospect Drive, according to a report by San Rafael patrolman Michael Miller.

Police said today they have turned the matter over to the juvenile division for investigation.

Planners Approve Schoonmaker Report

The 400-page environmental impact report for the $40 million Schoonmaker development proposed for the Sausalito waterfront was approved by the city's planning commission last night.

Planning director Herb Case said that after four hours of discussion before a small audience the commission approved it 3-2. The action was taken in spite of a four-month ban on waterfront development the city council is to approve next Monday.

Case noted that approving the report is only the first step in the lengthy application process for the project and that hearings on the report already have taken about three months.

Plans from the development firm, O'Meara-Chandler Corp., call for 72 condominiums, 141 apartments, a 110-room hotel, a 271-berth marina, tennis courts, swimming pools, restaurants, yacht clubs and shops on the site off Bridgeway between Napa and Spring streets.

According to Case, the commission approved the report with the condition that the results of a city-wide traffic study which is planned to take place during the waterfront moratorium would be added to the environmental impact report later.

Longtime foes of the project, commissioners Violeta Autumn, a candidate for city council, and Dorothy Gibson, voted against approval on the grounds that the report needed more data.

High-Speed Chase Ends In Death Of A Marinite

I-J Special Report

WILLITS — A San Rafael woman fleeing from law enforcement officers was killed last night following a high speed chase up Highway 101 here.

Karen Elaine Tischler, 28, of 1481 Lincoln Avenue, died instantly when her small foreign car collided headon with a pickup truck. The truck's driver, Valdee Dryden, 24, of Willits was reported in good condition today at Howard Memorial Hospital here with moderate injuries.

Douglas Goss, a 27-year-old Willits policeman injured in the chase also was reported in good condition at the hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said an officer observed Miss Tischler's northbound auto shortly after 11 a.m. The car was traveling at speeds up to 85 miles per hour and the patrolman set out in pursuit.

When Miss Tischler refused to stop, the chase was joined by a Mendocino sheriff's deputy and Goss. Her car, which reached speeds of 105 miles an hour, sped through downtown Willits.

She sped around a curve and crashed headon into the pickup, according to officers. Goss rounded the curve seconds later and was unable to stop in time to avoid striking the wreckage. The Tischler and Dryden vehicles were demolished.

Helpers Sought In New Program

The Marin County Chapter of the American National Red Cross is seeking volunteers to help with the supplemental security income program of the Administration on the Aging.

The Red Cross and the Social Security Administration will conduct a three-month project to find Marin County's portion of persons who may be elegible for benefits under the new program and help them apply for income supplements.

The Red Cross will recruit and train the volunteers for the program, along with the Social Security Administration. Training will start Feb. 28. Further information may be obtained from the Red Cross.

Fliers Protest Rate Increase

Approximately 10,000 fliers protesting the requested rate in crease by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. have been sent out in the Bay Area.

Reversing the letters in the utility name, the organization sending out the fliers calls itself "Electricity and Gas for People." They are located at 212 Fair Oaks, San Francisco, according to Michael Miller, chairman.

The fliers have three cards to be sent one to PG & E, another to the Public Utility Commission and one to the group volunteering one's time or money.

Garbage Fly Has Radiation Shield

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — A university professor says a common garbage fly could outlive man in a nuclear holocaust.

The newspaper The Australian said Peter Parsons, professor of genetics and human variations at La Trobe University, found that the vinegar fly, usually found buzzing around decaying fruit in trash cans, can survive more than 100 times more radiation than man.

Drivers Hurt In Collision

Two drivers were seriously injured yesterday in an auto accident on Stony Point Road in Petaluma.

Police said they were Mildred J. Van Meter of Novato and Hoyt Elmo Bufford of 96 Upland Drive, Petaluma.

Mrs. Van Meter was under observation today at Ross General Hospital, where she was taken for treatment of possible internal injuries.

Bufford was reported in satisfactory condition at the University of California Hospital in San Francisco, where he was being treated for several facial cuts.

Mrs. Van Meter was cited by Petaluma police for making an improper turn after her northbound auto collided with Bufford's southbound vehicle.

Soviet Missile Test Announced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department has announced a test firing of a missile by the Soviet Union 5,800 miles into the Pacific.

The missile, identified as the SS18, the world's largest intercontinental ballistic missile, was fired from Tyuratam near the Aral Sea, 450 miles north of Midway Island.

It was the third long range test of Soviet multiple warhead missiles similar to the U.S. MIRVs, the Pentagon said. The Pentagon said the missile contained "several" dummy warheads.

Landowner Has One Final Appeal

A landowner was rebuffed last night by the Larkspur City Council as he made the next-to-last of a series of appeals to have his land excluded from area planning of San Quentin Peninsula.

The council introduced an ordinance which changes zoning and requires all landowners of peninsula property to cooperate in the submission of a preliminary development plan for the area.

The planning requirement blankets large and small landowners alike and includes a 1.59 acre parcel of Alfred A. Finnila who has constantly sought exemption.

Colin C. Claxon, Finnila's attorney, told the council that requiring Finnila to time submission of his plans with other landowners may cause him to lose a buyer for his land.

Claxon said Finnila has a contract with Victoria Station restaurants for purchase of the site. But the contract lapses in May if Victoria Station cannot proceed with its project, he said.

"That's where we bit the bullet, he said. "What we need is the right from this council to move now.

The council received an assurance from representatives of the peninsula's largest landowner, Lincoln Properties, that they do not oppose the new zoning.

"We are anxious for the planned development zoning so we have the vehicle for formal submission of plans, said Piero Patri, architect and planning consultant for Lincoln.

The door remains open for Finnila to make one last appeal to the council. The ordinance will be up for adoption March 6 and councilmen made it clear last night that further public hearing on the zoning change would be possible at that time.

The Larkspur City Council also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Theresa Campbell from the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission, then met in closed session and emerged to appoint Sallyanne Wilson to the commission.

DEMOLAY — Agreed to cooperate in DeMolay Week of March 17-24 and will turn city employee posts over to DeMolay members for part of March 20.

Hypnosis Talk

David Van Nuys will discuss hypnosis in developing extra sensory perception at 8 p.m., March 1 at Marin Center of Parapsychology and Metaphyisics at Duncan Hall at Ross and Kensington Streets, San Anselmo. Nuys is a teacher at Sonoma State College and author of articles on parapsychology.

MORATORIUM — Unanimously (Councilman Neil R. Brixon absent) extended development moratorium on the North Ridge for one year and sent a letter to Marin County supporting proposed lower densities for county lands on the ridge.

COMMITTEE — Decided that a citizens committee to study the proposed regional shopping center for the Bon Air site should include equal representation of Larkspur and Greenbrae residents.

ORDINANCE — Adopted an ordinance making the procedures of all city boards and commissions uniform.

AGENCY — Agreed to cooperate in a countywide review agency to screen large projects by developers. The council previously agreed to the concept of the agency and decided to cooperate in proposal by the City-County Planning Council of Marin after being assured it would not place an additional burden on city planning staff.

INSURANCE — Amended the city's retirement contract with the state to include health insurance for city employees.

STREET — Changed the name of a portion of Myrtle Avenue served by Holly Avenue to West Myrtle Avenue for the purpose of clarity for emergency vehicles responding to the area.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to March 6 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Writer Is Booted Out Of Union

MOSCOW (UPI) — Author Vladimir Voinovich has been expelled from the Soviet Writers Union for his public defense of exiled writer Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn, literary sources said.

The 41-year-old Voinovich was the first writer to support Solzhenitsyn publically during the official campaign leading to the dissident author's expulsion.

Known for his tune, "The Cosmonauts, played during Soviet space launches, Voinovich responded to the union action by accusing the writers group of putting out "lies against Solzhenitsyn.

The union, which Voinovich belonged to for 12 years, expelled him yesterday, depriving the writer of numerous benefits.

Solzhenitsyn Gets A Visa From Norway

ZURICH (UPI) — Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn has received a visa from Norway, and according to his lawyer plans to settle there.

A spokesman for the Norwegian foreign ministry said today in Oslo "Solzhenitsyn applied for a three-month tourist visa and was granted it last Tuesday. We don't know when he will arrive but we expect him shortly.

The dissident Soviet author's Swiss lawyer, Friz Heeb, said, "Solzhenitsyn has always planned to settle in Norway but has not yet decided when to leave.

"Mr. Solzhenitsyn is very welcome to visit Norway and live there if he wishes, a Norwegian embassy official in the Swiss capital of Bern said.

He said Solzhenitsyn would be recognized as a political refugee, and, athough able to write what he pleases, he would not be permitted to engage in public political activities.

The Norwegian newspaper Verdens Gang said Solzhenitsyn would arrive in about ten days, visiting Lillehammer, a tourist resort north of Oslo.

Solzhenitsyn left the Heeb home with the lawyer's wife this morning, saying, "Mrs. Heeb and I are going to do some shopping.

"I'm tired of cars, he said. "I don't like to ride in cars and prefer to go on foot so I can get to know a neighborhood.

Solzhenitsyn, wearing his usual long brown overcoat and fur hat and a new turtleneck sweater instead of his normal shirt, smiled and shook hands with newsmen.

Young Patients, Parents Like New Hospital Program

PAUL BUTLER, 12, passes the time in Marin General Hospital making a model car. His mother, Mrs. Parley N. Butler of San Rafael (right), took advantage of the hospital's "rooming-in" program and spent nights with her son during his stay in the hospital. Mrs. Butler found the program beneficial to both. Half of the pediatric patients have a parent stay with them, according to Linda Swaab, clinical nurse specialist in maternal-child care.

By BETTY FROST

Parents of pediatrics patients at Marin General Hospital are taking advantage of a year-old program which permits mothers or fathers to stay with their ailing children.

"About half of the pediatrics patients now have a parent remaining with them," explained Linda Swaab, clinical nurse specialist in maternal-child care.

"The care and love of the parents is helpful and gives the child a sense of security. Where long-term special care is needed, such as therapy for orthopedic patients, or learning to give injections to diabetics, the parent can learn to do these things while at the hospital.

"Some parents also feel a sense of guilt because the child got sick or was injured, and allowing parents to help alleviates such guilt feelings," Miss Swaab said.

"However, all parents are not able to take advantage of the rooming-in facilities because of job or other family obligations, and they should not be made to feel guilty if they can't do it."

Also some children react more severely than others to separation. Children from 2 to 4 years old experience the greatest trauma, the nurse said.

IN THE PEDIATRICS department, where there are 17 beds for the children, there are cots or reclining chairs available so parents can stay in the child's room. A parent room with comfortable furniture, a shower and coffee maker was provided by the Jack and Jill Branch of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers. It is used by visiting parents and others visiting pediatric patients.

Under this program, no visiting hour limitations are placed on parents, and siblings may visit the patient, two at a time, with the physician's permission.

The trend for "rooming-in" was given impetus by studies of British psychologists about five years ago. The University of California Hospital and Mount Zion Hospital pioneered the effort in San Francisco.

Florinda Madole, head nurse of the pediatrics department and the youth unit at Marin General, had been at Mount Zion in the early stages of the parent-live-in program there, and inaugurated an in-service training program for the Marin nurses. The pediatric nurses also attended workshop session at the University of California Medical Center in preparation for the increased parental participation.

"At first some of the physicians were hesitant, and the nurses resisted. But once they had experienced the program, they were convinced of its value," Miss Swaab said. "It seemed easier for the nurses to do things themselves than to teach the mothers, but now we let the parents do as much as they are able and willing to do. They can become full members of the health team.

"WHEN SURGERY is planned, preparations can be made for rooming-in, but we want parents who are bringing a child in under emergency conditions to know about it, too. There is no cost to parents for this service," said Jules Becker, hospital publicist.

Mrs. Parley N. Butler of San Rafael, whose son, Paul, 12, was admitted to the hospital for emergency abdominal surgery, spent the nights in a cot near her son. His father was with him during the day.

Mrs. Butler said, "It gave me peace of mind, knowing I could help out. I think the program is very beneficial for both children and parents. Our doctor thought, especially in the beginning, that it was good for Paul to have me there."

There are five children in the Butler family, and the visits of Paul's two younger sisters also made him feel better, according to his mother.

Mrs. Carolyn DeVaney of San Rafael, brought her son, Steven, 7, to the hospital after he was injured in a car accident. Mrs. De Vaney, a widow with two other children, could not stay through the six weeks of his hospitalization. However, Steven chose to have his mother stay the night before his surgery when he was experiencing some anxiety, and she also stayed with him the night after his surgery.

She called the rooming-in fantastic.

"Anybody going through hospitalization needs someone with him; a child's needs are very great. It made it easier that I could be there. It would have been harder for both of us to be separated. It eased both of our concerns. No matter how helpful the professional people are, at first the child feels so strange in a hospital situation," Mrs. De Vaney said.

Mrs. Robert Butler of Mill Valley, (no relation to the Butler family of San Rafael) took her daughter Keri Lynn, 4, to Marin General Hospital for surgery. The first night her father stayed with the little girl, and Mrs. Butler stayed with her for two nights.

"I just loved it. Our little girl was very apprehensive," Mrs. Butler said, "but now she looks upon her time in the hospital as a big-time event. Everyone was very kind and the nurses were most thoughtful."

PARTICULARLY COMFORTING to Keri Lynn was a visit from her sister, Holly, 13. Holly had been hospitalized several years before, and sharing her experiences was particularly helpful for the little sister, Mrs. Butler explained.

An Unusual School Teaches Safety

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Give them the tools for safety when they're little more than toddlers and they'll use them the rest of their lives.

This is the concept of Mrs. Frank L. Chlad, who with parents, teachers, police officers and volunteer teen-agers spearheads an unusual education program called Safety Town. Those getting the indoctrination are 4-and 5-year-olds.

Dorothy Chlad, who has two teen-age daughters, says you can't teach one phase of safety apart from another; safety must be a total program.

"Our premise is that young children experience an enormous amount of daily problems and discoveries during their curious, exploring, growing-up days," she said. "To them that 'shiny big car' can't hurt them, that 'pretty medicine bottle' isn't dangerous, and that "bright silver lighter' looks just like a toy.

"YOU DON'T shelter a child for 16 years and then turn him out in the world."

To underscore the need for early training in safety, Mrs. Chlad recites the national toll. Accidents are the leading single cause of fatalities during childhood, plus causing an untold number of crippling injuries.

Some 20,000 die annually in accidents, another 60,000 sustain lifelong injuries, 250,000 encounter accidental poisonings, most of them under age 5, 1,000 are killed by falls and thousands injured, 2,000 lives are lost by fire and matches and 10 times that number are barned and scarred.

Plus 2,500 lives lost by drowning in tubs, pools and at beaches; 6,000 lives lost by bicycle deaths and tens of thousands crippled, 6,000 killed in traffic accidents and thousands injured.

During a visit to New York from her home in Solon, Ohio (a Cleveland suburb), Mrs. Chlad told how Safety Town started. It was the idea of a prominent accountant whose close friend was killed in an accident. The first project began in Mansfield, Ohio, in 1937. Today, there are close to 100 such programs, still mostly in Ohio.

MRS. CHLAD became involved when she heard of the programs through her preschool PTA.

She then was an assistant to the fashion director at Higbee's, Cleveland, and her husband was, and is, a professor of chemistry at the University of Akron and a member of their local school board.

Now, the National Highway Safety Foundation, a publicly funded, nonprofit organization, is backing the program, hoping to spread the program to communities around the nation.

Mrs. Chlad a volunteer for 10 years, now is salaried chairman of Safety Town Council.

IN ESSENCE, this is the way the program works. It's a summertime course of two hours per day for two weeks, with parents participating primarily on the first and "graduation" days. Teen volunteers assemble the children each day—one teen to four small ones.

Safety is taught, with policeman and teacher, through the children's involvement. Most sessions are outdoors.

The children learn about crossing streets, reading and obeying traffic lights, fastening seat belts, not to go between parked cars, about railroad crossings, the danger of medicines, poisons, plastic bags and the like, school bus safety, the dangers of fire, how to play safely, how to ride a bike safely —some 4-and 5-year-olds already have shed bike training wheels, Mrs. Chlad said.

Comments from parents have been uniformly behind the voluntary program. As one parent put it, "Please continue. It'll save many lives."

'What Is A?' Columns Wanted More Often By Reader Group

DEAR RAP:

Why don't you print a "What Is A" column once a month? We really like them, and a lot of us cut them out for our scrap books.

Is it that you don't get enough people sending them? — THE GROUP

DEAR GROUP:

We're not undersupplied with "What Is A's?" Far from it! They pour in.

But we don't want to overdo; therefore many good letters remain in our files. — HELEN

DEAR READERS:

How about it? Do you want a regular monthly "What Is A?" (or other essay-type) column? Send us your vote. If enough of you show interest, we'll get something going. — SUE

Meanwhile, here's a good one:

RAP:

I'm not very poetic, but do you have to be, to know:

What Is a Broken Heart?

A broken heart is when you wait for the telephone to ring and you know it won't.

It's when you realize everything he ever said wasn't true.

It's the night you go riding around and see him, but you don't speak, and then you cry because he didn't speak to you.

It's when you see him with somebody else.

It's the times you practically run out of class to "bump into" him, but he's never around.

It's when he says, "I'll be over tonight," but he doesn't come.

It's when you hear his favorite song, the one he sang to you.

It's the night you go to the ball game, hoping you'll see him, but he isn't there.

It's the hours you suffer through class till lunch and then he doesn't speak.

It's the dance you go to knowing all the time, yes, he'll be there — but with her.

But most of all, a broken heart is when you know you've lost him. — ONE OF MANY BROKEN HEARTED GIRLS

And another on the same subject:

DEAR RAP:

I found this in a box of old letters belonging to my aunt. Since I've just experienced something similar — and I know many others have too —I thought I might share it with you and Rap readers:

A bird without a song to sing; a forsaken work of art; a voice that no one seems to hear — this is a broken heart. Crying in a lonely room; an echo lost in space; a living thing that lives to feel the touch of one embrace . . . The weight of disappointment, engulfed in doubts and fears; a steady beat of tenderness, dampened by bitter tears; a broken heart is true love lost; an empty winter night, the essence of a reason why, that's void of all delight. Faint faith, dim hope, a faded dream, a disillusioned smile, dwelling in a vast expanse, where nothing seems worthwhile. So I've described a broken heart, my verse is nearly ended: but bear in mind if given time, it can and will be mended. — NEWARK GIRL

IMPROVE YOUR BEAUTY

Overweight Makes You Feel Older

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Distributed by the Register and Tribune Syndicate
(Ninth in a series of 15 articles.)

Does overweight make you look years older than you feel or does it make you feel older as well as look older? Offen women have no idea how different life would be if they lost those extra pounds.

I think the following letter which came from a reader who had great success with this course will be an inspiration to all of you.

"Dear Josephine,

"I can't wait to tell you how losing 20 pounds has changed my life. You probably will not be surprised but I am. I did not realize in how many damaging ways it had changed me. I had not thought of myself as self-conscious, but now I know that the only one I was kidding was myself and that I even turned down invitations to meet new people, to go swimming and dancing, because of my overweight.

"Without meaning to I had become careless about hair styling and makeup and clothes because it wasn't any fun to buy clothes because of my size. I actually look like a different person. I also think my spirit had become as dull as my looks. I am not tired any more. I feel young and sparkly like I haven't for years."

That is what all of you reducers have to look forward to, and in just a few weeks.

I know that many women who adopt this course have much more to lose than 15 or 20 pounds but you will have the know-how to follow through until you reach your ideal weight. Some of you may not want to lose that much but the information you have received and will receive should aid you in guarding against future gains.

IT IS always important to give your complexion adequate care but since the object of this course is to see how much you can improve your appearance in eight weeks it deserves some special consideration. If you have given it only hit and miss attention in the past, be as regular in this matter as you are with your diet and exercise, at least for the next eight weeks, hopefully, forever.

Unless your epidermis is very oily it needs extra lubrication during the slimming period so that it is soft and pliable and can therefore more successfully shrink to your new proportions. This is true of the skin of your body as well as that of your face and neck. Bath oil and softening lotions and creams should be used generously.

This is the last day I will be writing about my eight week Beatuy Improvement Plan except to join you on each Monday with additional help and encouragement. Carry on!

Wife Practices What U.S. Energy Chieftain Preaches

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Mrs. Simon says "Energy saving should be a way of life in America," she practices what she preaches.

Carol Simon, 41, wife of William E. Simon, President Nixon's energy chief, is looking at her family's life-style with new eyes and making changes to save energy.

"Casseroles, candlelight and fewer baths," the mother of seven children says, are among the measures she has instituted in her MacLean, Va., home to combat the energy crisis. "Of course, the children don't mind about the baths," she admits candidly, "but not only do I limit them to two a week, I've decreased the amount of water in the tub!"

As for the casseroles, Mrs. Simon points out that they require for less time to cook than roasts, saving not only fuel but money as well.

"AND DON'T forget to open the oven door when it's done," she advises. "That way, extra heat from the oven before it cools down will help warm your kitchen."

Dinner by candlelight is a nightly occurrence for the Simons, who have no other lights in their dining room. "But it's not very conducive to Bill's paper reading in the morning," his wife laughs.

Some of Carol Simon's energy-saving tips come from articles she has sought out on the subject, but most, she admits, are the result of "just sitting down and thinking about it." But thinking about it has already paid off in real energy savings in the Simon household.

"We've made lots of changes. The children walk to the school bus now, and I no longer shop in the morning," Mrs. Simon said. "I found that when they all came home from school, they all had errands to run and places to go, so I combine my shopping with after-school chauffeuring.

"I ALSO plan menus a week or two in advance now, and try to make just one big supermarket trip. It isn't easy to sit down with my cookbooks on a Sunday afternoon and plan meals for two weeks, but I felt it was one thing I could do to save gas."

The Simons have two cars, a Mercedes-Benz and a Jeep station wagon, driven mainly by Mrs. Simon and her 16-year-old daughter, Leigh. Leigh is the only youngster at home who drives, because Mary, 19, and Peter, 20, are away at school and Bill Jr., 22, is working in New York.

"Leigh's been very good about not running out for cigarettes and that sort of thing," her mother said. "She just does without. Particularly with the bad weather, now, we've had to use the Jeep, and it only gets about 15 miles to a gallon of gas. The Mercedes is several years old, and gets much better mileage. Over 20 per gallon, I believe."

According to Mrs. Simon, moving from New Vernon, N.J., to Virginia in September has made it easy for her to cut down on another kind of shopping trip to save gas. "I don't have to buy any new clothes! Everything I have may be 10 years old, but I'm new to Washington, so nobody will know the difference."

The Simon children, according to their mother, are happy in their new home, and are working hard at saving energy — some of them in very personal ways. Katie, 6, who is afraid of the dark, has been persuaded to give up her nightlight. Toothbrushing in general is undergoing a minor change. "I suddenly realized how much water was being wasted while the faucet was running," Mrs. Simon said. "Now we fill up a cup and use the water from that. It saves a great deal.

TELEVISION, TOO, is a casualty of the energy crisis. Amy, 12, and Julie, 10, have agreed with the rest of the family to watch one TV set, although there are several in the house.

"We just decided we could do this as a family. If we have a battle over what to watch, we have to 'choose up,'" Mrs. Simon added.

With her children cooperating and her neighbors in MacLean turning off lights, Mrs. Simon is optimistic about national response to the fuel shortage, pointing out that not only in war time, but at other periods of domestic crisis, Americans have stood together to help one another.

"It's the good guys who'll make it work, doing their little bit day after day," she says.

Cautioning against a return to wasteful habits after the oil embargo is lifted, Mrs. Simon puts heavy responsibilities on her husband's shoulders.

"He must keep people interested and informed, so we don't go back to the old ways," she said. "We're so spoiled, and we have to re-think our values. It's Bill's job to see we do just that!"

ROBYNE GUE
Vows planned

Robyne Gue Is Engaged To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Gue of San Anselmo have announced the engagement of their daughter Robyne Gue to Steven De La Montanya of Fairfax.

The couple have set a June 25 wedding in Lagunitas.

She is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed at the Fairfax French Laundry in San Anselmo.

Steven is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bianchi of San Geronimo and the brother of Dennis, Nancy and Ed De La Montanya of San Geronimo. His grandparents are Silvester Cervantes of Cotati and Mrs. Mildred De La Montanya of San Geronimo.

Steven was graduated from Drake High School and is studying fire science at the College of Marin. He is employed by the Marin County Fire Department in Woodacre.

Carol Mason To Become Spring Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mason of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Carol Mason to Gary L. McFarland of Santa Barbara.

The sister of Gary Mason of San Rafael, Carol is a graduate of San Rafael High School and attends the University of California at Santa Barbara, where she is also employed.

Carol is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jamison of Oakland and Mrs. Agnes Favreau of Pendleton, Ore.

Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. McFarland of Wichita, Kan. He is the brother of Susan McFarland of Wichita and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shiner of Wichita and Mrs. M. R. Coleman of Muskogee, Okla.

Gary was graduated from Southeast High School in Wichita and from Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta. He is employed by Information Magnetics Corp. in Goleta.

The couple will be married in the spring and plan to live in Santa Barbara.

Early Women Were U.S. Publishers

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Despite childbearing and heavy household chores, women became newspaper publishers in Colonial America, according to a Vassar College Library exhibit.

By 1820, at least 32 women had published American newspapers. Mrs. Clementina Rind published the Virginia Gazette in Williamsburg in 1773-74. With its slogan "open to all parties but influenced by none," it is still published by the Williamsburg Restoration.

Soon after founding the Maryland Journal and the Baltimore Advertiser, William Goddard turned the publication over to his sister, Mary, an expert compositor. She printed the Declaration of Independence as a broadside and edited the paper through the Revolutionary War.

Benjamin Franklin's sister-in-law and her son, James, published the Newport Mercury and Weekly Advertiser in 1762-63.

While John Peter Zenger, a freedom-of-the-press pioneer, was imprisoned in 1733 for criticizing an unpopular governor, his wife got out the paper. She later succeeded her husband as publisher of the New York Journal.

Don't Scratch

When cleaning mirror-finish aluminum, use mild cleaners and solvents because even the mildest abrasive cleaners may leave scratch marks.

Robert Flavin Heads Adobe Squares Club

Flavin and his wife, Nellie L. Flavin, moved to Petaluma after living in Marin for four years. He is employed as a fitter-welder.

He said that the club holds hoedowns on the first Saturday of the month except July and August, and arranges club bus trips to other clubs' hoedowns in the area. Anyone 16 or older may join, he added.

Flavin was born in Seattle, Wash., and attended Wenatchee High School in Wenatchee and Washington State College. He and his wife are parents of four grown children, Mrs. Tom Staton of San Jose, Michael B. Flavin of Milpitas, Mrs. W. F. Brown and Mrs. Ken Cook, both of Petaluma.

Aside from square dancing, he enjoys amateur radio with citizens band radio, photography, camping and fishing.

Camping Items

When the family goes camping, don't forget to include "quiet time" items for the children such as reading matter, coloring books, games and dolls.

New Panel Formed On Peninsula

The Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for the Environment and the Tiburon Beautification Committee have combined to form a new organization, the Peninsula Environmental Council.

Diana J. Bradley, president of the newly formed group, said that the two organizations decided at a meeting last night that since their goals were similar they would have more strength if they joined forces.

They will meet the third Tuesday of each month at a place to be announced

The group will work in future months on organizing a campaign to get shoppers to take their own containers to grocery stores in order to save on paper bags, doing a wildflower seed planting project along the Tiburon bikepath, setting up trashcans on the bike path, and starting a minibus service to shuttle residents up and down hills in Belvedere and Tiburon.

Belvedere Candidates Talk Tonight

A candidates' night for contenders in the race for two Belvedere City Council seats will be held today at 8 p.m. at Belvedere City Hall.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. will moderate the session sponsored by the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee, the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin and the Reed School District Parent-Teacher Club.

Candidates will answer the following questions:

1. How do you see Belvedere participating in the issues relating to downtown Tiburon and sharing of community services?
2. Do you think Belvedere should provide public recreation facilities? If so, what, where and how?
3. What do you consider the two most important issues facing Belvedere in the next few years and how would you deal with them?

Food For Thought: Why Not Train Bridge Cheerleaders?

We read every day about charitable foundations that can't decide how to spend their money. Why hasn't anybody told them to set up a school for bridge cheerleaders? The right kind of cheer might have made all the difference in today's hand.

WEST IS WINNER

FREE OF CHARGE

The whole thing is enough to bring a tear to the coldest eye. I offer this million-dollar idea free of charge to the foundations.

Now put yourself in the West seat, with all those cheers ringing in your ears. How do you go about killing that dummy?

TWO THREATS

If you make a safe leald, such as a diamond, or a trump, declarer will win and draw trumps. Then he will lead a heart to force out the ace. Declarer will get to dummy later with the king of clubs to cash a high heart.

If you cash the ace of clubs and lead a club to dummy's king, declarer will get to his hand with a diamond and ruff his last club with dummy's trump. The ruff gives declarer his tenth trick.

RIGHT ANSWER?

If you can think through all that cheering, you've surely come up with the right answer. At the second trick you must lead a low club!

That kills the club entry to dummy and prevents a ruff. If declarer leads a second club, you win and return a trump. If declarer, instead, draws trumps and leads a heart you can take your ace of hearts and cash your club tricks.

MUSIC REVIEW

Pianist Uses Intelligent Approach

By VERA M. OLMSTED

Young California-born pianist Mack McCray gave a performance last night that was notable both for his obvious capabilities and for his interesting and unusual programming.

McCray appeared at the Veterans Memorial Building for the fourth concert of the season sponsored by the Marin Concert Association.

McCray showed a high degree of intelligence in his choice of compositions. They ranged from Beethoven, Chopin and Schumann, to the pieces that most displayed McCray's strength, three works by Bartok, Liszt and Messiaen.

McCray, intense, bespectacled and bearded, spoke to the audience about his selections in halting but well-phrased sentences.

Two works on the first half of the program, Schumann's "Six Intermezzi" and "Nocturne" in D-flat Major by Chopin, while well-played, were interesting more as examples of early Romantic character pieces.

Beethoven's "Sonata No. 26" in E-flat Major ("Les Adieux") was given a careful but rather heavy and colorless interpretation.

It was the group of pieces performed after intermission that generated the excitement. Bela Bartok's Sonata (1926) is one of the major works in contemporary piano literature. It is extremely demanding of the performer.

It is cast in a classically structured form, but the pounding chords and tone clusters, and the irregular, driving rhythms represent a different concept in piano composition than what the 19th Century was used to. This type of sound was once described as "music with an axe."

McCray has a strong, powerful touch which is well suited to the chordal, percussive style of Bartok, and he displayed the technical ability needed to navigate the finger-breaking pace.

The last two works on the program were unified by a common religious theme and the mysticism inherent in both of them, but the similarity ended there.

The first was the "Benediction" from Franz Liszt's "Harmonies Poetique et Religieuses." Liszt was probably the single most important influence on the modern pianoforte style; in fact the word "recital" was first used in advertising one of his concerts.

McCray obviously is drawn to this music and played with total absorption. He brought out the strands of melody while rippling through the filigree accompaniment.

The last work of the evening — powerfully performed — was one selection, "Regard de l'Espirit de Joie," from Olivier Messiaen's religious cycle "Vingt Regards sur l'Enfant Jesus" (1944).

Messiaen in a mystic and believes in the expressive power of music and the relationship of musical sounds to religious elements. This piece combines assymetrical rhythms, repeated patterns and dissonant polytonality. A repeated chordal section that kept returning was reminiscent of clanging bells in a "wrong note" type of progression.

The almost dizzying virtuosity made a strong impression on most listeners, although a few incredulous people in the audience seemed to have a hard time believing their ears.

No Appreciable Hike In Deaths In Early Hours

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Safety Council says a survey has shown traffic deaths among students has not raised appreciably during Daylight Savings Time.

The council revealed yesterday that a survey it conducted showed there were 20 traffic fatalities in January, 194, among school children during the 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. going to school hours. By comparison, there were 91 fatalit es recorded for January 1973, during the same hours.

"The survey respondents, who represented 75 per cent of our population in 42 states and the District of Columbia, showed no appreciable difference between the two months in the number of early morning pedestrian and pedalcycle fatalities experienced by children 4 through 18 years old," said NSC President Vincent Tofany.

'Will Rogers, U.S.A.,' Is Returning

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

James Whitmore returns to Marines' Memorial Theater in San Francisco Tuesday night, recreating "Will Rogers, U.S.A.," which had a highly successful run at the same house in late 1970.

The George Spota production in association with William Nuerge Jr., is being presented by the American Conservatory Theater and will continue through March 24.

DRAMA

The Berkeley Repertory Theater will open a production of Molier's "The Misanthrope" tomorrow night. It will be performed Wednesday through Saturday and Sunday through March 31.

Appearing in the two major roles will be Richard Marion as Alceste and Ruth Silveira as Celimene. Others in the Jean-Bernard Bucky directed play will be Paul Laramore, Karen Ingenthron, Douglas Johnson, Linda Lee Johnson, Ron Vernan and Robert Hirschfeld.

ACT's "The House of Bernarda Alba" is in its final performances at San Francisco's Geary Theater. It can be seen tonight and again Saturday afternoon.

MUSIC

The San Francisco Chamber Music Society will present pianist Paul Hersh and cellist Laszlo Varga in a program of music by Beethoven, Franck and Meyer Kupferman Monday night at the Fireman's Fund Forum in San Francisco. The major work will be the premiere of Kupferman's "Fantasy Concerto" for piano, cello and tape.

Ferrante and Teicher, one of the most successful piano teams in the United States, will be in the Bay Area this weekend for three performances — presenting concerts tomorrow night at the Paramount Theater in Oakland; the Masonic Auditorium in San Francisco, Saturday night, and at Flint Center at Cupertino, Monday night.

Appearing as guest conduct at next week's San Francisco Symphony Orchestra subscription series will be Dutch maestro Edo deWaart. The program will consist of Mendelssohn's "Ruby Blas" Overture, Dvorak's Symphony No. 6 and Prokofeff's Piano Concert No. 3 with pianist Philippe Entremont, who will be making his ninth appearance with the symphony since his debut in 1960.

On the popular music front the Grateful Dead will appear in a dance concert at Winterland Arena in San Francisco tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday nights. Members of the group are Jerry Garcia, lead guitar; Bob Weir, rhythm guitar; Phil Lesh, bass; Bill Kreutzman, drums; Keith Godchaux, keyboards, and Donna Godchaux, vocal.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

The Case Of Overbooking

Hifli Airlines claims it gives "extra service. "We're more reliable. We give you more comfort, it says.

Bill Bracket, businessman, booked a flight on Hifli. The line confirmed his flight. The schedule gave him enough time to get to another city, and sign a big deal. And return in time for another appointment.

He did not know that Hifli always overbooked. It would sell more tickets than it had seats for each flight, and some people might not get on because of these excess sales.

Bill lost his deal when Hifli wouldn't let him on his flight even though he was at the boarding gate early. He sued and won substantial damages. The airline had concealed its intentional overbooking. Its advertising misled the public.

In another case, four football fans rushed to the stadium to buy some of the advertised 7,500 tickets. They stood in line for hours. When they reached the box office they were told there were no more tickets. This was because it had sold 6,000 tickets of the 7,500 reserved for public sale.

They sued and recovered the $250 extra statutory penalty for denying them equal rights to enter and to use the business area. They had been wrongfully barred, the court ruled.

Recent consumer laws impose extra penalties for misleading ads. The government may collect penalties and pay them to the county treasury.

There is a difference between good salesmanship and intentional misrepresentation. If you want to sue, you must show there was misrepresentation of facts or reckless statements.

Some ads amount to a guarantee. An ad stating that the glass is "safety glass when it is not is a breach of guarantee. A statement that charcoal briquets are safe for indoor and outdoor use, when indoor use may cause gas poisoning is false advertising. The advertiser may be penalized.

Watergate No Worry To Flournoy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Los Angeles Republican James L. Flournoy, campaigning for state controller, has predicted he will win despite Watergate.

Flournoy, currently a commissioner on the state Workman s Compensation Board, was here today for the first time since he announced his candidacy.

Flournoy, 58 and black, last entered politics in 1970 when he lost a bid for secretary of state to Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. He picked up 2 million votes.

He said Watergate is making skeptical voters look more at the candidate than the party. As far as the black vote goes, Flournoy maintained that if minorities are to succeed, they need to have representatives of both sides of the political fence.

Flournoy, an attorney, would replace Houston Flournoy as state controller if elected. Houston Flournoy is seeking the GOP nomination for governor.

Reagan Appointee

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday named Karl E. Verhoye, a San Diego banker, to the Board of Administration of the Public Employes Retirement System.

Aide To Brian Will Join Campaign Drive

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Employment Development Director Dwight M. Geduldig has resigned to become a campaign aide for Republican U.S. Senate candidate Earl Brian, his former boss.

Geduldig yesterday said he will leave his $33,960-a-year post March 1 to handle press secretary and speech writing duties for Brian, who recently resigned as secretary of health and welfare to seek the GOP nomination for the seat of Democratic U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston.

For Gov. Ronald Reagan, who has said he will not seek re-election, it was the second announced departure of a top administration official within one day.

Earlier, Kenneth F. Hall, chief deputy state finance director, resigned to run for the state Assembly from a newly reapportioned Southern California district.

Geduldig, who changed his party registration from Democrat to Republican about two years ago, has served as director of the employment department since last April. Previously, he was director of the Medi-Cal program.

He originally joined state government in 1963 as a public information officer and served in such a capacity for the employment department, Board of Equalization and Department of Health Care Services.

He formerly was a newsman for United Press International and an editor at the San Jose News, Santa Rosa Press Democrat and the San Francisco News.

Smoking Out

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — A ban on smoking during weekly meetings of the Board of Supervisors meetings and other county panels was approved yesterday by a 4-1 board vote.

San Rafael Every Inch King

By LEW CODDINGTON

San Rafael High School looked every inch the champion yesterday, which was fitting and proper, because the Bulldogs were playing a championship game.

Shooting brilliantly and playing stifling defense, San Rafael won the Marin County Athletic League basketball title with a 72-43 demoliton of Novato before an amazingly small crowd of about 250 in the Hornets' gym.

And, indeed, the frustrations were there. After winning their first 11 games, the Bulldogs saw their outright clinching delayed Friday by a 75-61 loss in their home finale to Drake.

Now, San Rafael has a 12-1 record to Drake's 10-3 with only one game left in the season, and its first title since the 1964 co-championship with Novato. A trip to the Tournament of Champions in Oakland March 7-9 is the reward.

Six-foot-seven center Byron Stewart led the Bulldogs in scoring yesterday, but was hounded by Novato's Willie Barnes and netted just 17 points, six below his average. This left him 45 points shy of breaking the single-season scoring record of 322 points set by San Marin's Dana La Ferriere in 1970.

Stewart appeared unconcerned about the record. He sat out five minutes of the third quarter with three fouls. When he returned, he passed up shots. Stewart went scoreless the final 17 minutes.

Despite Stewart's impressive totals, Tovani has stressed all year that the Bulldogs play a team game — and the team consists of everyone, not just five starters.

This was clear yesterday, as Steve D'Ambra scored 14 on hard-charging drives to the hoop, Eric Wheeler hit 12 coming off the bench, and steady Jim Grant added 10 more.

Barnes had 11 and Curtis Saine 14 for Novato, which fell to 5-8 in MCAL action. The Hornets were playing without their coach, Jim Caranica, out with the flu. Junior varsity coach Ed Anello took over.

San Rafael connected on a scintillating 64 per cent of its shots from the floor, hitting 18 of 29 in the first half and 12 of 18 in the second for 30 of 47 overall. Novato made 32 per cent (13 of 40).

San Rafael also controlled the boards, 37-24, with Stewart grabbing 17 rebounds.

Tovani was especially pleased with the defense, which held Novato to three points in the fourth quarter and 43 for the game, one point shy of its best effort of the year.

But the triumph really was no surprise for the coach, who had foresight enough to bring a change of clothing. Others were not so lucky, as the ecstatic Bulldogs threw everybody they saw into the shower — except for one team statistician, who was last seen high up on a chain link fence, trapped by would-be dunkers.

Boosters Getting Ready For Phoenix

It's that time of year when a group of baseball lovers get all fired up in anticipation of the start of a new season. That group is known as the S.F. Giants Boosters Club of Northern California.

Its leader, Allan B. Murray of Kentfield, is already in Casa Grande, Ariz., laying out the ground plans for trips to Phoenix next month. After preliminary exercises at Casa Grande, the Giants break camp and open the real exhibition season in Phoenix. But Murray is in there for the whole show.

"Energy shortage?" asked Murray before leaving. "Not among the Giants Boosters! I haven't seen our group so charged up since our very first Phoenix trip eight years ago. Maybe it's true that your blood changes every seven years. So we're going down there this year with all new blood."

Murray has planned two group departures for the boosters this year. One will leave March 8 and the other March 18, with other dates possible for those with limited time. Plans include several games with the Cleveland Indians, Oakland A's, Chicago Cubs and San Diego Padres (Hi, Willie Mac), plus desert cookouts and other such things. Reservations can be made at GTS Travel in San Rafael.

Those Giant Boosters really have a great time in Phoenix. I know, for I have seen them in action. But don't get me wrong. They don't miss a game. It's baseball first with these people. They've followed the Giants to Japan, to Hawaii, to Canada and to the East Coast. No trip to see their heroes is too far for this hardy band of worshippers to the grand old game of baseball.

"Anyone with a sincere interest in baseball is welcome," says Murray. And he means that "sincere interest" part.

JOHN BOCCABELLA came to agreement last night with Montreal Expos management and has decided to sign his contract for the '74 season. Starting catcher for the Expos, Boccabella, of Terra Linda, had been holding out. Today he said he wasn't overjoyed with his new contract, but was "satisfied."

Reached during a whirlpool treatment at Marines' Memorial Club in San Francisco, John said he would be leaving Monday for the Expos' training camp at Daytona Beach, Fla., and would sign his contract when he arrives there.

Johnnie Boc will get in some practice on writing his name when he helps the San Rafael Babe Ruth League sign up some future Hank Aarons and Jim Hunters Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon, at Santa Venetia Middle School gymnasium. He'll be signing autographs for all the kids.

ON INTREPID CREW: Two Belvedere men, members of the San Francisco Yacht Club there, have been selected as part of the 14-man crew for the yacht Intrepid, the two-time America's Cup winner, in defense of its title Sept. 10 in Newport, R.I.

Doug Best, a Belvedere fireman, and Steve Taft, known as one of the better sailors in Marin with a lot of big boat experience, will be on the Intrepid in the big race next summer.

A's Skipper Dark: 'I'm Better Man Today'

OAKLAND (UPI) — It's been an agonizing 2 ½ years for Alvin Dark, a time to sit back and reflect and hopefully collect himself.

"I think I am a better man today than I ever was, said the 52-year-old Dark yesterday, minutes after Charlie Finley had introduced him at a news conference as the new manager (12th in 14 years) of the World Champion Oakland A's.

Dark, who has known both the joys and agonies of big league baseball in a career that spans nearly 30 years, was finding it hard to pick the right words, standing up there in the glare of television cameras and countless microphones.

"Obviously, I've had my personal problems, he went on as Finley, who can be very charming when he chooses, put a fatherly arm around the man he fired as manager seven years ago. "But I've gotten myself straightened out and I believe I can be a better manager than I ever was.

Dark, a religious man, divorced his first wife four years ago and then remarried. He had other personal problems as well but held up while working on the front half of a five-year contract as manager and general manager of the Cleveland Indians.

But 2 ½ years ago, the Indians, going nowhere, fired Dark and he went home to Miami. He's been trying to get a big league job ever since, not because he needed money, but just to be in the game.

When Finley and Dick Williams, who led the A's to World Championships the last two years, became enbroiled in a cross-country argument over whether Williams would serve out his remaining two years with Oakland or sign with the Yankees, Dark called Finley and asked to be considered for Williams job.

"Even though we had our differences in 1967 (the year Finley fired Dark while the A's were based in Kansas City) we always were friendly and cordial to one another, Finley said by way of explanation.

"I had a few other names on my list as candidates, but in the end I decided to hire Alvin because he's the best baseball man around. He's the kind of manager my club needs and I know he and I will get along. He's a man of convictions."

The convictions Finley spoke off involve Dark's church work. In fact, Dark left a meeting of the Independent Baptist Church in Southern California to come to Oakland for yesterday's announcement.

"I'm tickled to death to be back in baseball, Dark said. "I owe Mr. Finley a debt of gratitude for giving me a chance to lead a club such as his. This is a manager's dream and I'm hopeful of leading the team to another championship."

Neither Finley nor Dark cared much to talk about what happened in 1967 when Charlie fired Alvin over a player dispute during a flight. Reportedly, Dark stuck up for his players and that angered Finley, since he thought his manager's first allegiance was to the man who makes out his paycheck.

Finley was asked if he would meddle into Dark's work and he bristled again.

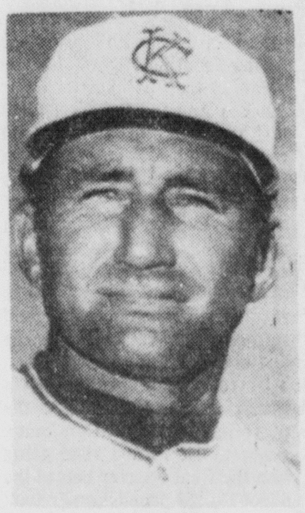

"For a team to be successful, said the A's owner, "the manager and the general manager have to work together. Since I'm the general manager of this club as well as the owner, I expect to be talking quite often with my manager. And I would hope he would call me when he feels the need. That's only normal, isn't it?

"That's perfectly all right with me, said Dark. "They know the team and I don't and their knowledge should help me. I've got a lot of catching up to do.

FAMILIAR FACE — Charles Finley (left) yesterday put his arm around the new Oakland A's manager Alvin Dark at a press conference in Oakland. Dark, fired by owner Finley over a player dispute in 1967 when the A's were based in Kansas City, succeeds Dick Williams. Williams led the A's to world championships the past two seasons, then quit. Sebring Sounds Are Silenced

SEBRING, Fla. (UPI) — The sounds of Sebring have been stilled, perhaps forever.

For nearly 25 years, Sebring has been synonymous with sports cars. Its narrow, twisting track on an old World War II era B-17 flying fortress bomber base drew the big names of the sports car world in the days before Riverside and Elkhart Lake had become familiar.

Each spring, the little town of 6,000 built around a shady square in the cattle country of Central Florida, 90 miles from the nearest airport, drew the Juan Fazios, the Sterling Mosses, the Mario Andrettis, Bruce McLarens and Phil Hills of European road racing and the Jaguars, Mercedes, Ferraris, Porsches and Alfa-Romeos which burned up the sports car tracks in the 1950s. And it saw the early efforts of sportsman Briggs Cunningham to build an American competitor of the great European machines.

But it apparently all came to an end yesterday with the announcement from Fort Lauderdale by race coordinator Reggie Smith that the International Motor Sports Association had postponed the scheduled March 24 event "until October at least" because of the gasoline shortage.

Smith said the promoters weren't concerned about the lack of fuel for the racing cars but they feared the gas shortage would discourage spectators from coming and possibly strand those who came.

The Sebring race has faced its crises in the past. In 1967 the then sponsor announced the race would be shifted to West Palm Beach, Fla. In 1972, promoters said it would be moved to Gainesville, Ga.

One year, the only restaurant and the only bar in the small town shut down on race day, leaving 50,000 spectators without food or drink before and after the race.

Terra Linda's Junior Varsity Stuns Redwood

Terra Linda High School's junior varsity basketball team is convinced it's the best team in the Marin County Athletic League.

The Trojans will most likely have to settle for a tie for the league championship, however, since with one game to go, Terra Linda and Redwood each have 11-2 records.

Terra Linda was trailing Redwood by one game yesterday, but that was before the Trojans whipped Redwood, 72-49, at Redwood.

Rob De Graves led the Terra Linda assault with 20 points and 14 rebounds and received much help from Matt Carli, 16 points and seven assists, Barry Carr, 14 points and 10 rebounds, Mike Martin, 11 points and seven assists, and Mark Oczkus, 11 points. High scorer for Redwood was Don Brown, 15 points.

Seals Keep Dismal Road Mark Intact

CHICAGO (AP) — With their dismal road record intact, the California Golden Seals head home today still mired in the cellar of the National Hockey League's West Division.

The Seals lost 3-0 to the Chicago Black Hawks last night, their 24th straight road loss and their 31st defeat in 32 games on the road this season. The victory extended the Hawks' unbeaten string to 10 games, during which they have climbed to within four points of first-place Philadelphia in the West Division.

The victory marked Chicago goalie Tony Esposito's 10th shutout of the season. The Seals lost the game in the first 49 seconds, as Jim Pappin gave the Hawks a 1-0 lead by banging in a rebound for his 21st goal of the season.

WARRIORS CAN'T PAD LEAD

Jeff's 12,000th Point Not Enough

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Even Jeff Mullins 12,000th point couldn't get the Golden State Warriors another game up on the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Warriors fell 116-97 to Kansas City-Omaha at Omaha last night as Mullins hit 22 points and passed the 12,000-point plateau to join 33 other cage stars in the scoring stratosphere.

Los Angeles lost again in a 112-110 squeaker at Detroit so the Warriors stayed two games up on the Lakers in the Pacific Division as Golden State moved into its third game in as many nights here in a replay of the great washout.

Golden State was supposed to open the National Basketball Association season at Cleveland but the game was called when water oozed up from the hockey ice onto the basketball floor above. Hopefully, the floor will be dryer tonight.

Jimmy Walker and Don Kojis were too much for the Warriors Wednesday as they combined for 52 points for the Kings.

The Warriors went without center Nate Thurmond, who rested his injured leg, and it hurt as Sam Lacy scored 20 and grabbed 19 rebound as the Kings dominated the boards 54-last night as they combined

Cazzie Russell came off the bench to lead the Warriors with 27 points but didn't get much help as Rick Barry was held to just six points.

The Warriors open a home stand Saturday at 8 p.m. when Philadelphia comes to call.

Foreman Jogs, But Mind Wanders

HOUSTON (UPI) — Heavyweight champion George Foreman jogged on an unfamiliar track and worked out in a shabby gym but his mind seemed to be more on court battles today than in his upcoming defense of his title.

Divorce proceedings, prolonged over property division between Foreman and his wife, Adrienne Ray, was expected to go back to court today or tomorrow.

"Once we get all the financial records the judge has requested we can finish the trial up in one or two days, Foreman's attorney Robert Lord said yesterday.

Meanwhile Foreman continues to run early each morning on the unfamiliar turf of Memorial Park and to spar in a shabby downtown gym. He will fight Ken Norton March 26 in Caracas, Venezuela.

Foreman said yesterday he wanted to end the trial and move his training camp back to Haywood, Calif.

"I hope to get a chance to do my thing (in court) and the good Lord willing I will be back in California Friday, he said.

The divorce proceeding will continue, lawyers said yesterday, when copies of checks, fight contracts and other financial records are brought into the domestic relations court.

That should be soon, Lord said.

Terra Linda Has A Very Bad Day

By TOM THOMPSON

Redwood High School's basketball team wanted to end things early yesterday.

The Giants wasted no time in building a 21-4 lead over the Terra Linda High School Trojans. From there they cruised to a 79-60 victory in the Marin County Athletic League game.

It was an especially bad day for the Terra Linda players. When they returned to the locker room after the game they found that their wallets and watches had been stolen.

About 400 fans watched Redwood dominate. Neil Hennessy scored 15 points in the Giants' early spree and ended the game with 22 points. He played only three quarters.

"Hennessy's an all-around ball-player," said Redwood coach Dick Hart, pointing to his defensive play and his 60 percent shooting performance from the floor.

Redwood center Darrell Elder contributed 12 points and grabbed 13 rebounds. Teammate Steve Trobbe had 10 points. Jack Hagler drew praise from Hart for coming off the bench and scoring nine points. All but one player on Redwood's 11-man roster scored.

Jim Cronin topped Terra Linda scorers with 16 points. Dan Kiernan had 12 — 10 on foul shots — and Doug Carlisle had 11. Terra Linda sank 28 free throws.

The Giants victory leaves them in third place in the MCAL with a 9-4 record, while the Trojans remain tied for the cellar at 3-10.

After falling behind by so much early, Terra Linda never fully recovered. Outscoring Redwood 18-8 in the second quarter, the Trojans managed to cut the deficit to seven at halftime. Redwood recovered after intermission and outscored the Trojans, 15-2, in the first four and one-half minutes of the third quarter. Terra Linda never threatened thereafter.

Pacific No Match For Lanier

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The entire Pacific Division of the National Basketball Association is no match for the Detroit Pistons.

The Pistons, with burly Bob Lanier scoring 16 of his 29 points in the final quarter, beat the Los Angeles Lakers 112-110 last night to run their season record against Pacific Division foes to a gaudy 21-2. It was Detroit's 20th straight triumph over a Pacific Division team and upped the Pistons mark against the Lakers this season to 4-1 as Los Angeles lost its seventh straight road game and suffered its seventh loss in the last eight contests.

Detroit, which reduced its magic number for making the playoffs for the first time in six years to 11, trailed 81-80 going into the final quarter before the 6-foot-11, 250-pound Lanier took charge, hitting on six of his next eight shots. Willie Norwood added 21 points and John Mengelt hit 17 to help the Pistons.

Jim Price, playing for the injured Jerry West, canned 31 points for the Lakers, who lost a chance to gain on Pacific Division-leading Golden State, which bowed to Kansas City-Omaha 116-97.

Referees Don Murphy and Paul Mihalik called 76 personals plus one technical as five players fouled out of the bruising Piston-Laker contest.

Bullets 116 Blazers 101

Kevin Porter scored a career-high 28 points while Mike Riordan and Elvin Hayes accounted for 27 apiece for Capital in its triumph over Portland. The Bullets built a 100-74 lead early in the fourth quarter in streaking to their fifth straight win and ninth in their last 12 games.

Rockets 115 76ers 98

Rudy Tomjanovich scored 12 points to lead a third quarter Houston runaway in the Rockets win over Philadelphia. Houston led by only four at halftime but outscored the 76ers 30-17 in the third period. Tomjanovich finished with 21 points while Mike Newlin had 18 and Calvin Murphy 16 for the Rockets. Tom Van Arsdale led Philadelphia with 20.

Bucks 110 Hawks 94

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 12 points in the fourth quarter to break open a tight contest and lead Milwaukee over Atlanta. The Hawks trailed 78- 73 early in the fourth quarter when Abdul-Jabbar scored eight quick points to only two for Atlanta to give the Bucks an 86-75 lead.

SCORES 31 POINTS

San Marin Won't Forget Tam's Owens

Tamalpais High School plays what is known as a double low post offense, with two big men stationed near the basket. One, named Mike Dinehart, is quite famous. The other is not — but San Marin High will never forget him.

Hollis Owens ravaged the Mustangs for 31 points and 15 rebounds yesterday as Tam scored a 74-67 Marin County Athletic League basketball victory at San Marin.

"He was just awesome, said coach Bernie Schneider. "He had 10 offensive rebounds, and many resulted in points. He scored on an assortment of Garner-like moves under the bucket, a reference to former Tam star Wil Garner now at College of Marin.

Dinehart added 15 points and 15 rebounds for the Indians. Skip Starnes scored 18 for San Marin, leading a cast which included David Harris with 14, Bruce Vollert with 13 and Terry Kom with 10.

San Marin jumped out to a 17-10 first-quarter lead and was still ahead late in the second period, 25-20, before Tam began a surge which carried it to an 11-point advantage in the fourth quarter. A late San Marin thrust could get no closer than five.

Tam, winning for the sixth time in eight tries, raised its MCAL record to 7-6. San Marin is 3-10.

Redwood Frosh In Upset Victory

Marin Catholic s freshman basketball team, leading the Marin County Athletic League race with an 11-2 record, fell to Redwood High yesterday, 66-59, in overtime.

Redwood (9-4) got balanced scoring from Pat Waters, 17, Jim Connor, 16 and Jeff Stewart, 15 and Joe Yetter led Marin Catholic with 21 points.

CHAVEZ STARS IN WIN

Drake Is Motivated By Revenge Vs. Marin 'Cats

By DAVE DEL GRANDE

With all basketball title dreams dashed, Drake High School concentrated on another matter last night — revenge.

Remembering Marin Catholic's stunning 68-62 upset Jan. 25, the Pirates responded by whipping the Wildcats, 92-83, last night in Greenbrae.

The win, Drake's sixth in a row, leaves the Pirates 10-3 in the Marin County Athletic League. The victory also clinched at least a second place tie for the Pirates this year. The Wildcats, whose last victory was eight games ago against Drake, still remain in a three-way tie for last place at 3-10.

The Wildcats, who played without star forward Mike Mahoney, fought Drake basket for basket in the first half. The 'Cats, enroute to a 43-41 halftime lead, held the half's biggest lead at 43-37. Marin Catholic never trailed (in the half) by more than five. Mahoney, explained his coach Dave Gonzalves, had missed a practice while on a skiing trip and was benched.

Throughout, the Wildcats were led by the balanced scoring of Gary Johnson, Terry Ahern, and Tom Cronin. Johnson and Cronin both scored 19 points while Ahern added 16.

San Francisco Is Edged By Marin Tar Nine

SAN FRANCISCO — College of Marin got reliable pitching from Don Bianchini and fine relief from Mark Ruggles to edge City College of San Francisco, 5-4, yesterday.

The victory was Marin s fifth in seven games.

Bianchini gave up nine hits, walked two and struck out five before tiring in the ninth with one out. Ruggles came in to retire the last two batters to earn the save. Jeff Fanfelle knocked in what was to be the winning run with a pinch-hit single in the ninth inning.

The Tars will be at Napa College tomorrow.

Cronin also led all rebounders with 13.

But the second half was different from the outset. Drake's Mark Lavin hit six points in the first two minutes to lead his team on a 14-2 scoring spree. Lavin hit for 13 points. Teammate Eddie Joe Chavez led all scorers with 30 points. The Pirate full court press, which caused most of the Wildcats' 22 turnovers, continued to force errant passes and turn them into Pirate baskets throughout this half.

Then, after the Wildcats had trimmed the margin to 59-58 with two minutes left in the third period, the Pirates turned senior Steve Harnsberger loose. Harnsberger, who hustled for 23 points, scored five points in this span to help his team reel off nine unanswered points. The quarter ended 68-58, Drake.

As the clutch situation of the fourth quarter came around, so did Chavez. Hitting six of his nine shots in the quarter, Chavez almost single-handedly held off the Wildcats. Throughout the period, Marin Catholic never got closer than eight points while scoring on just 7 of 17 shots.

Northstar-at-Tahoe
announces a romantic solution to the energy crisis.

SNOW TRAIN

A special ski package we've worked out with Amtrak. It lets you beat the energy crisis and get even more enjoyment out of your ski vacation.

The fun starts at the Oakland train station at 9:20 on Sunday morning. We'll bus you there from San Francisco, with 8:50 a.m. departures.

Each Amtrak train has its own Northstar cars with reserved seats, so there's no hassle about finding a place to sit. And each train comes equipped with a lounge car. Plus a dining car where we'll serve you a deluxe luncheon while you wind your way through the mountains.

What happens when you get there?

When the Northstar Limited pulls into Truckee, we'll be there to meet you. In beautiful new Mercedes buses with ski racks.

You'll stay in beautiful Northstar Village, where you can walk to play and to ski. Six days of all-day lift tickets are included. At night, we'll bus you to a deluxe Lake Tahoe restaurant for dinner. Oh yes, a Continental breakfast each morning is also included.

All this and a ride home too.

At the end of your stay, we'll make sure you get home in the same easy way we got you there.

There's a 7-day package (Sunday to Sunday) and a 5-day package (Sunday to Friday). Prices? As low as $187.00 for five days, and $259.00 for seven days, based on double occupancy.

Those prices include travel, accommodations, lift tickets, dinners, Continental breakfasts and all the fun you can have.

For those of you who don't already ski, we have special "G.L.M." Learn-to-Ski programs headed by Bruno Beinder, internationally known director of the Northstar Ski School. Five days of lessons are just $50, including all your equipment rental. We even guarantee you'll learn to ski parallel in five days, or we'll give you free lessons until you do. 3-day Learn-to-Ski packages are also available.

When can you go?

Any Sunday during February or March. If a ski race on re-cycled wine casks is your cup of tea, plan to take in our exciting Barrel Stave Races Feb. 24 or March 31.

For more information or to make reservations, write: Northstar, P.O. Box 129, Truckee, CA 95734. Or call toll-free between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. From Southern California call (800) 822-5966. From Northern California call (800) 822-5916.

From Southern California, you can take the plane to meet the train. Or take Amtrak all the way.

NHL Vet Star Horton Killed

Combined AP & UPI

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. — Veteran National Hockey League defenseman Tim Horton of the Buffalo Sabres was killed early today in a one-car crash en route from Toronto to Buffalo.

Horton was returning from Toronto, where the Sabres played last night, to Buffalo, where they are scheduled to meet the Atlanta Flames tonight.

Horton, 44, was alone in a 1974 Porsche when it left the Queen Elizabeth Way and overturned several times, throwing him from the vehicle. Provincial police said the accident occurred about 1:30 a.m. PST.

The veteran defenseman, who played most of his career with Toronto, was selected by Buffalo in the 1972 expansion draft.

NFL Players Seek End To Fines, 'Silly Rules'

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — National Football League players are more concerned this year with freedom and elimination of "fines, curfews and silly rules" than they are with economic issues, according to the executive director of the NFL Players Association.

Ed Garvey, speaking yesterday at the Milwaukee Pen and Mike Club, said overall freedom for the athlete would be the prime objective of the association in its negotiations next month with NFL owners.

Another main objective will be pay for pre-season games, he said.

Garvey said freedom for the players "means no curfews, no training camps, no fines and when a players' contract is terminated, he's free to contract with any other club.

"We have to cut out these fines, curfews and silly rules. We have to treat the athletes like people."

Negotiations will open March 16 and Garvey said that players will "be asking for less money now than last time out." He said that while they hope there is no strike, "we're prepared for it and if we have to strike, we will."

However, he said the association is proposing arbitration as an alternative to a strike if the negotiations become deadlocked.

Concerning pay for preseason games, Garvey said at present rookies get virtually nothing for pre-season contests and the pay for veterans is far below that of the regular season.

He said the association would try to get a pay scale for rookies and try to make sure that veterans get "almost as much as they do for the regular season."

Garvey said the association would not try to eliminate the common draft in the negotiations but would seek to have players declared free agents at the end of a contract period.

Garvey also said the association wanted the negotiations to be open, with members of the news media permitted to attend sessions.

"We're not saying the owners shouldn't make a profit We're just saying they shouldn't take freedom away from an individual to make a profit."

He called the attitude of the owners one of "all-pervasive paternalism," and said the current practice of fining players and requiring them to make curfews and stay in a training camp was an example of this attitude.

Davis Wins Court Nod On Raiders

OAKLAND (AP) — A legal maneuver aimed at nullifying a 10-year contract signed by Al Davis, managing general partner of the Oakland Raiders, has been denied by a judge.

Alameda County Superior Court judge Spurgeon Avakian denied the motion for a summary judgment against Davis on Tuesday. However, the judge said there is "a factual dispute a triable issue which cannot be resolved on a motion for summary judgment."

The motion was brought by Wayne Valley, a general partner in the National Football League team. Valley contended the contract, which will become effective Jan. 1, 1975, was awarded without his knowledge and will give Davis excessive power over the team's operation.

Meanwhile, the Raiders announced yesterday they will host the Philadelphia Eagles in an exhibition game on Saturday, Aug. 24.

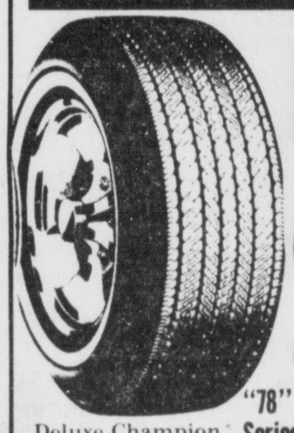

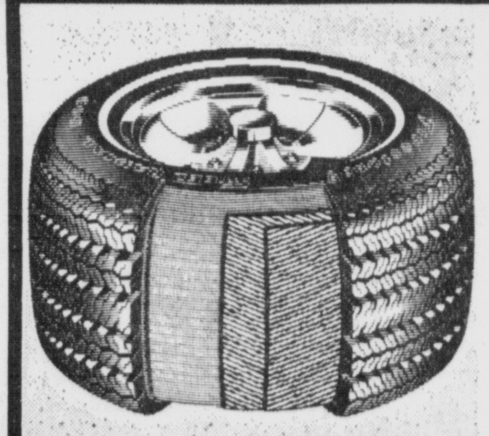

This will be the second exhibition game for the Raiders, who previously announced they would play the Dallas Cowboys on Saturday, Aug. 3.

Denver Makes Things Simple

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Denver Rockets made it seem all so simple.

Thanks to a couple of guys named Smith and Jones and doing what coach Alex Hannum referred to as "paying attention, the Rockets ended their four game losing streak last night by beating the Kentucky Colonels 124-117.

Steve Jones, fed by backcourt mate Al Smith, hit six straight field goals midway through the second half to carry Denver past the Colonels. Jones wound up with 24 points, the same as Smith, who also had 21 assists, while center Dave Robisch turned in a big effort against Kentucky All-Star Artis Gilmore with 30 points and 12 rebounds.

"Our book says to play Issel by denying him the ball, said Hannum, and it seemed our people finally began paying attention to the book.

Nets 117 Tams 104

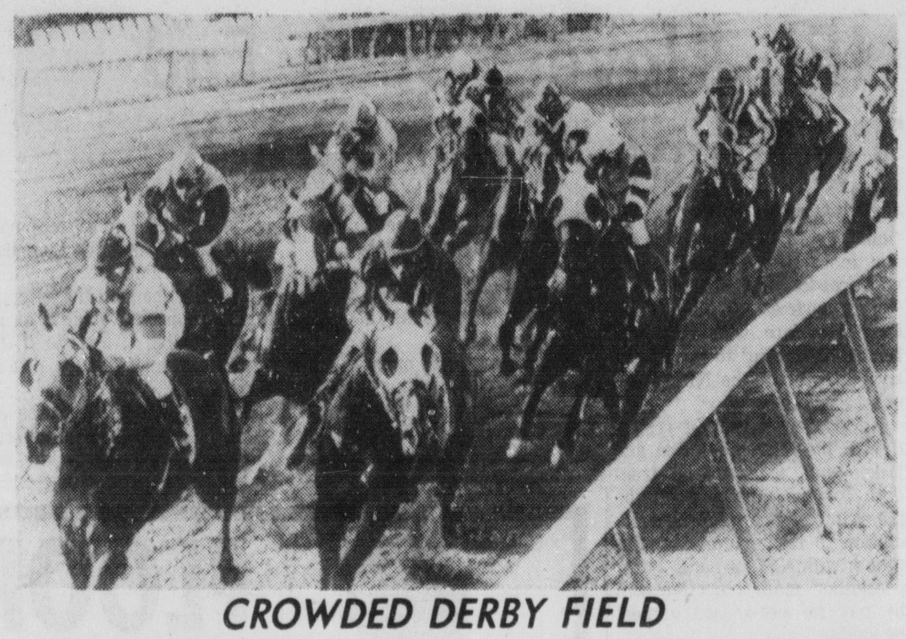

Billy Paultz scored 16 of his game-high 24 points in the first half to lead New York over Memphis. The victory was the ninth straight for New York over Memphis and increased the Nets East Division lead to three games over second place Kentucky. Julius Erving finished with 20 points for the Nets while Randy Denton and Wil Robinson led Memphis with 14 points apiece.

Q's 109 Stars 97

Veteran forward Stew Johnson scored 30 points to pace San Diego over Utah, snapping the Stars 14-game winning streak. The Stars fell two games short of the ABA record 16-game winning streak set by the old Oakland Oaks in 1968-69. Caldwell Jones added 20 for the Qs while Travis Grant had 19. Ron Boone and Jimmy Jones paced Utah with 22 apiece.

Cougars 128 Squires 121

Mack Calvins 21 points led eight Carolina players in double figures as the Cougars recovered from a seven-point third period deficit to beat Virginia. Ted McLain with 19 points and Jim Chones with 18 points and a club record seven blocked shots also starred for the Cougars. Jim Eakins had 23 points and Dave Twardzik had 21 for the Squires.

CROWDED DERBY FIELD

A crowded field of Florida Derby hopefuls yesterday raced around the clubhouse turn in the $50,000 Fountain of Youth Stakes at Gulf Streak Park in Hallandale, Fla. Winner was Green Gambados with Charles Baltazar (wearing white helmet and stripe sleeves near rail) in the saddle.

IN WHA ACTION

A Big Night For Howe Family

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It was a big night for the Howe family, especially Big Daddy.

Gordie Howe scored his 27th goal and had two assists and sons Mark and Marty each added goals last night as the Houston Aeroes crushed the Jersey Knights 7-2. The three points gave the 46-year-old Howe 81 for the season and moved him into the league lead in scoring.

Gordie scored on a crowd pleasing play. He stole the puck in his own end, weaved the length of the ice and fired unassisted from 10 feet. His goal in the second period followed Marks 27th goal by seven minutes. Defenseman Marty Howe got his fourth goal with 2:26 left to play.

Sharks 4, Whalers 2

Alton White scored two goals to lead the lowly Sharks out of their club-record nine-game losing streak with a win over New England. The Sharks, last in the West, took a 1-0 lead on Whites goal at 17:17 of the opening period.

Don Blackburn scored the first of his two goals early in the second period to tie the score but Bobby Whitlock, acquired by Los Angeles in a trade with Chicago Wednesday, scored on a power play to give the Sharks the lead for good.

Oilers 4, Jets 1

Ken Baird, Len Lunde, Val Fonteyne and Ron Climie scored to lead the Oilers over Winnipeg. Chris Bordeleau spoiled Jack Norris shutout bid midway through the third period.

The victory, only Edmontons second in seven games with the Jets this season, left the Oilers one point behind Winnipeg in the battle for third.

NHL ROUNDUP

'The French Connection' Is Severed In Buffalo

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

"The French Connection apparently has been severed.

The Buffalo Sabres, who made it to the playoffs last year for the first time with the help of their "French Connection line, probably wont make it back this year.

The Sabres met the Toronto Maple Leafs last night, needing a victory to pull within five points of the Leafs and the final playoff spot in the National Hockey League East. But they suffered a 4-2 defeat to fall nine points back and they may not be able to catch up.

Coach Joe Crozier was so frustrated that he continually mixed his lines, breaking up the "French Connection line by putting Gerry Meehan on Gil Perreaults line and placing Rick Martin on Don Luces line.

But the Sabres, who fell behind 3-0 in the first period and didnt cut the deficit to 3-2 until 2:50 of the third period, couldnt stop the Leafs. They pulled their goaltender in the final two minutes in a desperate attempt to catch up but Rick Kehoe got his second goal at 19:09 into an empty net to wrap up the game.

Bruins 5, Stars 5

Phil Esposito, the NHLs leading scorer, scored his third goal of the game and 50th of the season with 4:28 remaining to give the Boston its tie with the North Stars. Esposito goal was one of six scored in the third period, three by each team.

Flyers 3, Wings 1

Rick Macleish scored two power play goals to lead Philadelphia over Detroit. Macleish scored his 24th goal in the first period and his 25th in the third. Bobby Clarke got the other Philadelphia goal in the second period.

Hawks 3, Seals 0

Penguins 1, Blues 1

Syl Apps scored in the third period to give Pittsburgh the tie with St. Louis. St. Louis scored its goal in the second period when Pierre Plante knocked in a rebound of Wayne Merricks shot.

Sonoma Quintets Finish Tomorrow

All bad things must eventually come to an end.

For local high school basketball teams, that will happen tomorrow when their disappointing seasons conclude with the traditional "big-game rivalries at 8:30 p.m.

Petaluma (3-10) needs a victory at Ukiah (10-3) to avoid a second consecutive 3-11 North Bay League finish. The odds will be against the Trojans though. A win would give front-running Ukiah its first NBL title.

Rancho Cotate (6-7) has lost three of its last four Sonoma County League contests to fall five games behind. The Cougars will have to be wary of visiting Casa Grande (3-10), which broke a nine-game losing streak Tuesday with a 76-46 victory over Sonoma (4-9).

In their first meeting of the year, Rancho Cotate surged in the fourth quarter to clip the Gauchos, 41-37.

St. Vincent (3-5), its hopes for a North Central League II championship long gone, will host Tomales (2-7) in its Petaluma gym.

In their first meeting, the Mustangs beat Tomales, 64-55. Since then, the Braves have greatly improved despite their record.

2,000 Wins For Jockey

ALBANY (UPI) — Jockey Merlin Volzke rode the 2,000 victory of his career in the first race at Golden Gate Fields yesterday, piloting Front Rullah to an easy four-length decision.

The 48-year-old Volzke, a World War II veteran and grandfather, has enjoyed a large portion of his riding success at Golden Gate Fields and in recent years was the leading rider at the Albany course.

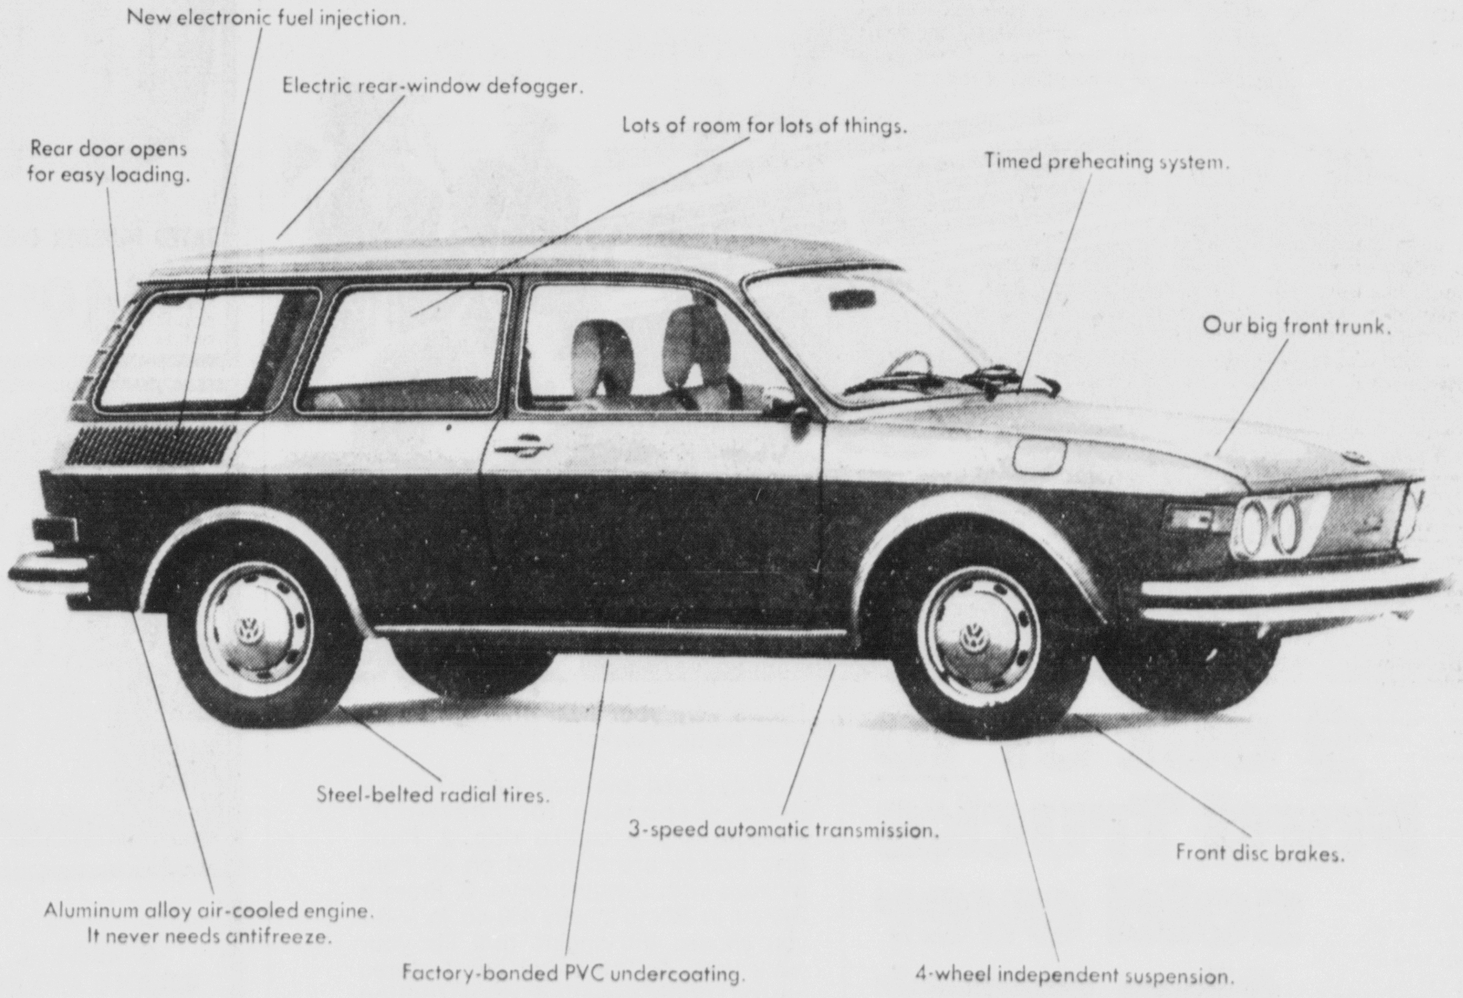

Front Rullah, never pressed in the six furlong first race, led all the way and returned 9.40 to win as the lukewarm second choice in a field of 10 sprinters.

Girls Softball Signups Set In Marinwood

Signups for the Marinwood-Lucas Valley Girls Softball League will be held next Monday and Tuesday from 7:30-9:30 p.m. at the Marinwood Community Center, 775 Miller Creek Road.

Girls from the fourth through eighth grade are eligible. Fee is $10 for one girl, $7 for her sister and $5 for each additional sister. Further information may be obtained from Sandra Nealon, 5 Twelveoak Hill Drive.

The 20 mpg luxury wagon.

Introducing the 1974 Volkswagen 412 Wagon covered by Owner's Security Blanket.

Before the energy crisis hit us all in the gas tank, the VW 412 was right.

Now it's more right than ever.

For it gets a good 20 miles per gallon.

How's that for a luxury wagon that also treats you to loads of space, plush seats and elegant carpeting?

Fact is, it's the only luxury wagon with the above combination of features, standard equipment, for only $4200.*

Guess you could say the VW 412 is a luxury wagon whose time hath come.

*The 1974 Volkswagen 412 Wagon suggested retail price, P.O.E. Local taxes and other charges, if any, additional.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

The Long Irons

By LEE TREVINO

When Jay Herbert won the 1960 PGA at Firestone Country Club —that monster is so long that carts only get three holes to the gallon —he said, "Hitting long irons all day on the practice tee finally paid off."

The trouble most guys have with long irons is they're standing too close to the ball —after they hit it.

The long irons —the 1, 2, 3 and 4 — require special attention to the stance. I watch that I don't set up too far from the ball.

When this happens, the ball goes too low and to the right because I didn't give myself a chance to get down to it. You'll stay behind it and go through it better if you bring the ball in a little.

Play the ball off your left heel, then hit down and through it. Use the same swing and tempo as for any other club. Take a good shoulder turn and finish with your hands high.

High handicappers avoid practicing long irons as if the grips were dipped in diesel oil. But one of the sweetest feelings in this game is to nail a 2-iron and watch that baby take off quail high, holding the line, covering the flag all the way.

Raiders In Drake Benefit Cage Game

Oakland Raider All-Star quarterback Ken Stabler will be firing his left-handed passes to receivers Kent Gaydos, Ray Chester, Bob Moore and Mike Siani — on the basketball court in San Anselmo.

MacArthur Lane, George Atkinson, Greg Slough and Otis Sistrunk will also play for the Raiders March 1 at 8 p.m. against the Drake High School faculty.

The basketball game in the Drake gym will benefit the Drake student body and the Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Little League.

The Raider roster is augmented by two players who star elsewhere in the National Football League, namely Lane, a halfback with the Green Bay Packers, and Chester, a former Oakland tight end with the Baltimore Colts.

In a game matching fifth grade teams, St. Rita's meets St. Patrick's at 6:45 p.m.

Auto Rally Slated In Santa Rosa

A coursemarker-navigational-gimmick auto rally entitled "Rescue" will be held Saturday, beginning between 6 and 9 p.m. at Coddingtown Center in Santa Rosa.

The 10-mile event, entirely within the Santa Rosa city limits, offers competition in first timer, beginner, novice and senior-expert classes. Further information may be obtained from Tom Dillon, 88 Western Drive, Novato.

Sonoma State Can Clinch Second Title

Break up the Cossacks!

It may be a little premature to call the Sonoma State College basketball team a dynasty, but nevertheless, the Cossacks can clinch their second straight Far Western Conference championship this weekend.

The undefeated Cossacks (9-0) clinched a title tie last weekend, and need just one victory in their three remaining games to win the crown outright.

Tomorrow at 8 p.m. Sonoma will put its 13-game winning streak on the line at University of California, Davis. The Aggies (6-3) are in second place.

In their first round meeting in Rohnert Park, the Cossacks overcame a sluggish first half to easily defeat Davis, 81-66.

The Aggies are led by two-time FWC player of the week Tom Henderson and Don Dowling. Henderson was not quite so effective against Sonoma last time. He was scoreless.

Even if the Cossacks lose to the Aggies tomorrow, they get another chance to clinch the title Saturday at 8 p.m. against Chico (5-3).

Sonoma had an even easier time with the Wildcats in their first round meeting, exploding for a 103-88 victory.

The victory, however, was accomplished against a Chico squad which was without All-League performer Mike Harski. Harski is expected to play Saturday.

Besides Harski, the stars for the Wildcats are former College of Marin ace Joe Casteel and forwards Dave Moore and Steve Albrecht. Moore was also All-FWC last year.

Following this weekend s games, the Cossacks will have just one more conference battle at Humboldt March 1. If they sweep their next three games, the Cossacks will be the first undefeated FWC champion.

Skipper Fox Cautions Giants

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants are back for their annual visit, accompanied by the sound of leather on wood and manager Charlie Fox s voice.

Fox opened 1974 spring training yesterday by cautioning his players not to blow their noses at the dining table, to stay away from disreputable bars and to get plenty of rest.

For the first time in 14 years Juan Marichal, sold to Boston last year, was absent. Veteran slugging first baseman Willie McCovey also was gone, traded to San Diego.

Last season the Giants finished third in the National League West division.

Tar Grapplers In Nor Cal Meet

Four wrestlers from College of Marin, including league champion Brian Jordan, will compete tomorrow in the Northern California Championships at De Anza College in Cupertino.

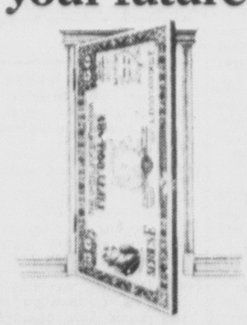

Jordan won the 177-pound title last Friday when the Tars placed fourth in the Camino Norte Conference meet at Canada College in Redwood City.

Joining Jordan in Cupertino will be Ron Losk (190), Peter Wardenberg (126), and Jerry Ford (136). Losk was second and Wardenberg and Ford third in the conference meet.

Basketball Results

Al Patzel scored 24 points to lead King Realty to a 71-43 victory over The last night in the only San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league game.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Pneumonia, Once A Killer, Now Easily Cured By New Medicines

Before World War II, pneumonia was called the old man's friend because it took the lives of so many ailing elderly people. It was also common among the young and middle-aged and one in three usually died. In addition, the high fevers lasted for at least 10 days, ending in the "crisis," at which time the temperature suddenly dropped to normal. But it was a hectic 10 days and the weakened victim often spent two months recuperating.

Sulfonamides and antibiotics changed all of this. Many forms of the disease respond so rapidly to the antibiotics that the individual is back at work in less than two weeks. The speedy eradication of the causative germs does not allow time for the victim to get weak and toxic.

A DIAGNOSIS of pneumonia is useless unless the specific microbe is identified via sputum studies. Sensitivity tests are done to determine what antibiotic will work best against the offender. In other words, the exact type of pneumonia must be known. The name of the causative agent is used as a prefix and is more important than referring to the illness as lobar or bronchopneumonia.

Pneumococcal pneumonia, the most common type, is caused by pneumococci and strikes people of all ages. In older people and those with chronic pulmonary disease, it may come on insidiously and without the usual chills, fever, pleurisy, cough, and blood-stained sputum. Penicillin remains the best remedy.

MYCOPLASMA PNEUMONIA was common during and shortly after the war. Then we called it atypical pneumonia. This type is most common in the younger age groups and in early adulthood. The mycoplasma organism is not a virus or a bacteria but it is related to the latter group of microorganisms. It responds best to erythromycin.

Viral pneumonia is common also and feared mainly as a complication of influenza. Antibiotics are ineffective and hospitalization is advised when symptoms are severe.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

HEART POUNDS

A. C. writes: How can my heart be normal, as my doctor assures me it is, when it pounds day and night?

REPLY

Blame your nervous system — not your heart. The normal heart will pound and pound so long as the individual is emotionally upset. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on heart symptoms.

COUGHS ALL THE TIME

Mrs. Y. writes: I am expecting my first baby. I cough all night and all day, but when I cough now, my stomach gets sore. Can this be bad for my baby?

REPLY

The baby can take it, but it is high time you found out why you cough so much.

ODOR-INDUCED NAUSEA

B.E. writes: If a man of 30 develops nausea when he smells certain things, will a tranquilizer help him?

REPLY

Possibly, but it is easier to hold the nose. It is rather silly to take three or four pills a day to lessen the chance of developing nausea on certain occasions.

GET THOROUGH EXAM

A reader writes: Do you have diarrhea constantly with diverticulosis?

REPLY

Not constantly. In fact, diverticulosis is not a common cause of diarrhea. A thorough investigation of the cause of diarrhea is in order. This means stool studies, a proctoscopic examination, and X-rays. Meanwhile, send stamped, envelope for our leaflet on diarrhea.

Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, heavy air pollution.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Mansion To Have 'Class'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's new $1.3 million governor's mansion is about to emerge from the planning stage, a little less spacious and likely more austere than originally proposed.

Gov. Ronald Reagan already has approved the final design for the riverfront mansion in suburban Carmichael, just about seven years since he began promoting the idea of a new official residence for governors.

The public gets its first peek next Wednesday at a special unveiling of the architectural drawings.

Administration officials and the private architects have been closed mouthed about the design. But state Architect John Worsley, supervisor of the project, offered some hints in an interview today.

"People are always asking what style it is, Worsley said. "It doesn't have style, it has class, I like to say.

He described the one-story building as being patterned after the "principles of traditional California architecture with adobe masonry, handicrafted tile floors, wood-beam ceilings and a red tile roof.

A courtyard will lead inside into a living room, study, six bedrooms, two rooms for hired help, a dining room that can seat 40 guests and a recreation room. Also there will be a swimming pool, tennis court, patio, outside gardens plus "security features.

Worsley said at least one controversial item has been removed from the preliminary design—a 15-by-20 foot, temperature controlled wine storage room that would double as a fallout shelter.

THE OUTLAY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Supporters of an initiative to limit spending in statewide political campaigns spent $54,121 to qualify the measure for the June primary election ballot, the secretary of state's office said yesterday.

The measure, Proposition 9, written by Common Cause, People's Lobby and Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., also would require strict reporting of campaign funds and regulate lobbyist activities.

ENERGY PLANS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Reagan administration and the author of far-reaching energy planning and conservation legislation today headed into a new round of talks aimed at reaching a compromise on the bill.

The proposal—designed to curb wasteful energy use and to streamline power plant siting procedures—cleared the Senate Public Utilities Committee yesterday on a 4-1 vote. The bill (AB1575) now goes to the Finance Committee.

Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, author of the bill, met with Gov. Ronald Reagan only a few others after the committee action.

SALARY PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill raising the governor's salary to $60,000 a year and providing similar 20 per cent pay boosts for the state's six other constitutional officers was introduced yesterday in the Senate.

Sen. Dennis E. Carpenter, R-Newport Beach, said that under his bill (SB1745), "over 50 appointed state bureaucrats will no longer make more money than the top seven elected officials in California. It simply does not make sense for an employee to make more money than the person who appoints him.

Under the measure, the governor's salary would be increased from $49,100 to $60,000. Carpenter noted the governor of New York is paid $85,000 annually.

The state attorney general's salary would go from $42,500 to $51,144. The pay of the lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, controller, and superintendent of public instruction would be raised from $35,000 to $42,500.

NO BREAK

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill to provide a tax break for commuters who participate in a car pool was killed yesterday by the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee on a 3-5 vote.

The bill (SB1573) by Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, would have permitted a car owner to deduct 25 to 100 per cent of his car pool expenses on his state income tax.

CAUCUS BOSS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. Nicholas C. Petris of Oakland, a long-time liberal, was unanimously chosen last night as chairman of the Senate Democratic Caucus.

Petris, 51, assumed the leadership role among Senate Democrats recently held by Sen. Mervyn H. Dymally of Los Angeles, who resigned as chairman to run for lieutenant governor.

GIANT BOARD

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post has proposed creation of a state Resources Conservation Board to minimize overlapping of state efforts to protect the environment.

Five existing state boards—including Air Resources and Water Resources—would be consolidated to form the new five-member panel, which would be assisted by eight new regional boards.

Post's recommendations, issued yesterday, were the product of an intensive study of California's land use problems.

Currently, he said, actions by various state boards to protect the environment are conflicting and create confusion among local government officials.

Consolidation of the state's environmental boards would minimize the confusion, he said.

ATTENDANCE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to ease state attendance requirements at California community colleges has been recommended to aid the growing number of two-year colleges being plagued by the energy crisis.

The Finance Committee of the Community Colleges Board of Governors yesterday unanimously approved a resolution calling for a temporary modification of the law requiring a minimum number of 175 attendance days each year. The recommendation was sent to the full board for action.

If a school cannot maintain the 175 days it faces loss of state funding.

A report submitted to the board said some community colleges may be forced to reduce their operations sharply if the current energy crisis continues.

Cost Of College Site Improvements Rises

Cost of a site improvement project for Indian Valley Colleges has risen by $107,203 Marin Community College District trustees learned last night.

Arthur Sell, representing the district's planning office, said the increase involves expansion of the project and is not the result of inflation or errors in previous estimates.

The project includes storm drainage installation, campus walkways and rest areas, building and parking area lighting, campus signs and rest benches.

Earlene Jones, district publicist, said some of the increase also involves redesign of benches and walkways to protect existing trees on the campus.

Trustees asked the planning department for further information about the increased estimate before they would authorize advertising for bids. Trustees will consider the project again next Wednesday.

Marin Community College District Board Also:

PERSONNEL — Hired Gloria Melbostad as administrative assistant for the College of Marin's Saturday classes at $10.20 per hour not to exceed $800 for the spring semester and Gaille D. Simmons as an instructor in office occupations for an annual salary of $14,716.

PRESIDENT — Named faculty members Albert P. Clark, Mary Jane Dunston and Michael P. Hansen and trustees Frances Compton and Gene A. Turtle to a screening committee of applicants for the new president's post at College of Marin.

SALARY — Deferred action until next Wednesday on part-time employees' request that their salaries be based on the salaries of full-time employees and that their fringe benefits also be prorated in relation to full-time employees.

LIGHTS — Authorized expenditure of $1,800 for redesign of portion of College of Marin gymnasium lighting system.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to discuss litigation concerning Ross Valley flood control project and problems with heating systems in newly completed College of Marin buildings but took no action.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 160 of the College of Marin Office Center.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

10:05 a.m., San Rafael — Rubbish fire in San Rafael High School parking lot; cause undetermined; no damage.

1:27 p.m., Marinwood — Fire in garage at home of Bever Vanzo at 2151 Danberry Lane; $6,000 damage; caused by spontaneous combustion of sawdust in plastic bag.

Bonds Are Sold For Recreation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest yesterday announced the sale of $10 million in general obligation bonds for continued funding for California's recreation, fish and wildlife programs.

The winning bid of nine submitted on the series C bonds was from a syndicate headed by Bank of America NT&SA at 4.6141 per cent.

The sale is part of a total $60 million authorized by California voters in 1970. Some $25 million in bonds has been sold previously.

Mrs. Priest said the funds will be used to develop facilities in connection with the State Water Project.

Chief Told Pope Admires Indians

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI met with an American Indian chief yesterday and asked him to convey his feelings of admiration and love "to the entire Indian American nation."

Chief Flying Owl of the Hempanwog tribe and his squaw, Shining Star, both garbed in Indian costumes, talked briefly with the Pontiff at the end of his weekly general audience. —

Gromyko Visits Italian Museum

ORVIETO, Italy (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko turned tourist yesterday visiting an Etruscan museum and a Roman Catholic cathedral and seeing a reputedly wonder-working relic put specially on display for him.

Gromyko came to this hilltop town 75 miles north of Rome, took a break for the day between talks with Italian leaders and a scheduled meeting with Pope Paul VI.

During a tour of a 13th century cathedral Gromyko viewed frescoes by Luca Signorelli and other Italian masters and a specially displayed reliquary containing an altar linen. Tradition has it that the linen became miraculously stained with blood when a priest expressed doubts that the bread and wine of the Eucharist were the true body and blood of Christ.

Park Hostel Funds Asked By Collier

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A $2.1 million appropriation to provide state park hotels in 17 counties, including Marin and Sonoma, has been proposed by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka.

The funding was added by Collier to a bill (SB 420) of his pending in the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee.

The measure authorizes the Parks and Recreation Department to establish trails between hostels for use by hikers and bicyclists. The hostels will include sleeping areas, water, washrooms, toilets and facilities for users to prepare their own meals.

The bill includes $50,000 for the trail system.

Review Of Bottle Bill Is Refused

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — The Oregon Supreme Court has refused to review a lower court decision upholding the constitutionality of Oregon's bottle bill.

Yesterday's ruling meant opponents of the 1971 law will have to take their case to the federal court system. It has been expected the case will wind up in the U.S. Supreme Court.

The law requires a refundable deposit on all beer and carbonated soft drink containers. The appeals court had ruled Dec. 17 the law was a reasonable exercise of the state's police powers.

Viewers Asked To Pick Programs

NEW YORK (AP) — A poll is being taken by the Pennsylvania Public Television Network to let viewers say what kinds of programs they want to see on public TV.

The Pennsylvania survey is the first of its kind in the nation, says the Public Broadcasting Service, which says it is both encouraging the study and suggesting the same approach be tried in other states.

Network officials say about 90,000 questionnaires are being mailed to Pennsylvania's public TV subscribers in the seven areas served by the seven stations that comprise PPTN.

In addition, the network is seeking the general public's opinion by buying space for the questionnaires in those areas' newspapers and in Pennsylvania issues of TV Guide magazine, officials say.

They say the survey basically seeks to determine the kinds of state or local programs viewers think PPTN should carry in coming years when and if its now-limited statewide programming increases.

But they say the survey also hopes to give program executives at each station a better idea of what viewers in each area want in both local and national public TV programming.

"The way we've phrased the questionnaires is to ask viewers which programs do they feel 'are the most important.'" said David Leonard, general manager of PPTN.

He said the questionnaire doesn't specify by name any local or national shows, but instead lists 19 general categories ranging from sports to drama to coverage of the state legislature.

The poll, Leonard added, is part of a three-step public TV study that includes both public hearings by the seven PPTN stations and detailed interviews by them of community leaders in their areas. "Looking at what data we have so far, my guess is we'll go to about 10, 15, maybe 20 general categories of need people have pointed out to us," he said.

"For instance, we feel there's a strong need expressed for more coverage of what goes on in the Pennsylvania General Assembly, more information about what bills are being considered and what the issues are. That sort of thing."

Leonard, who said he expects the project to be finished by late March, said it'll include the estimated cost of producing those programs most desired by the viewing public and community leaders.

A final report, to be made public, then will be sent Pennsylvania's governor and the state legislature "and hopefully through that process encourage more financial support and all the other kinds of support needed to get these kinds of programs on the network," he said.

Los Angeles Bias Suit Is Amended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department yesterday filed an amended complaint charging the City of Los Angeles with discriminating against women in hiring firemen.

Attorney General William B. Saxbe said the new complaint filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles amended a suit filed in August of 1972 that alleged discrimination on racial grounds.

The Los Angeles Fire Department has 3,150 members, including 94 Mexican-Americans, 48 blacks, but no women or Orientals, the suit charged.

The federal court has set a hearing for March 5 on the original suit, the Justice Department said.

The suit seeks an order requiring the fire department to begin recruiting minorities in sufficient numbers to cancel the effect of past discrimination.

The suit also asked that the city compensate any women applicants who have suffered financial loss as a result of the fire department's "past policy."

Woman Will Get Navy Flyer Wings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Long Beach woman tomorrow will become the first female aviator in the military.

Lt. (jg) Barbara Allen, 25, completed her training Tuesday and will get her wings in ceremonies at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station in Texas tomorrow.

Chief of Naval Operations Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr. last year opened the Navy's flying program to women for the first time. Women are forbidden by law from entering combat, so the eight candidates were limited to flying transport air craft and fleet type helicopters.

One of the eight washed out of training because she became air sick and a second resigned from the flight program after marrying her recruiter. The remaining five are still in the program.

She is a 1970 graduate of Whittier College.

The Air Force continues to refuse to allow women in its flight training program, asserting that even its transport pilots must all be able to fly cargo planes into a combat zone.

Cal Vet Loan Rates To Climb

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Interest rates on 116,000 Cal-Vet farm and home loans will be increased from 4.25 per cent to 4.75 per cent effective June 1, the state Department of Veterans Affairs says.

"The current value of money and the bond market condition, both required statutory considerations for Cal-Vet interest rate determination, indicate the necessity of the increase," department director Frank Nicol said in a news release Wednesday.

He reported the last increase was Dec. 1, 1969, when interest rates were boosted from 3.75 per cent to the current level.

Study Advisers

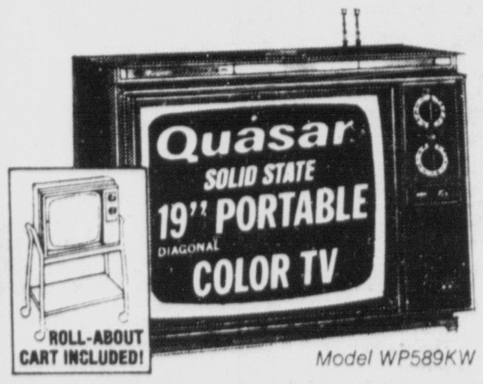

The Citizens advisory committee on the Golden Gate Recreation-Travel Study will meet March 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the George Washington School auditorium at 32nd Avenue and Geary Boulevard in San Francisco, according to Douglas Gray of the committee.

EUGENE A. OSTAGGI
Seeks fourth term

Fourth Term Is Sought By Ostaggi

Eugene A. Ostaggi, a member of the Ross Valley Sanitary District board for 12 years, today said he will seek a fourth term in the June 4 election.

"I've been serving for 12 years and I think it's terribly important that there should be continuance on the board because we have so many important things pending at the moment," he said.

He listed the present trunkline replacement in San Anselmo and plans for a Central Marin treatment facility among the important issues before the board.

He served as board president the past four years.

Ostaggi, a native of Marin County, lives on Sylvan Lane in Ross. He and his wife, Jean, have two children.

The 68-year-old Ostaggi is a retired savings and loan executive, former president of the Marin County Development Association, former president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, and a former chairman of the Marin United Crusade.

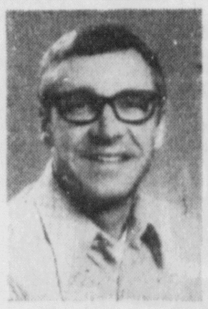

Resident Will Talk On Synanon

Tom Patton, a nine-year resident of Synanon, will speak at 2 p.m. Friday in room 1002 of Stevenson Hall at Sonoma State College.

His topic will be "Synanon — Utopia or Bystopia." He is currently writing a book on his life and experience with drugs, as wll as the development of the Synanon drug treatment program.

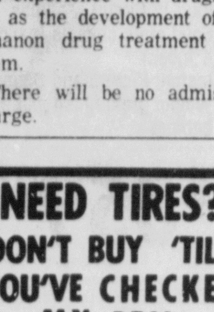

There will be no admission charge.

Jewelry Can Be Very Misleading

By RICKY ROSENTHAL
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — All that glitters isn't gold — even when it's identified as such on the jeweler's counter. Nor is everything green jade.

Richard Givens, regional director of the Federal Trade Commission, thinks that there is a "jewelry problem" in the U.S. And he feels that his office receives so few complaints and queries on jewelry authenticity "because everybody is taken in."

The FTC is now doing a study on door-to-door jewelry selling practices — but this sort of deception is only a small part of the problem.

Even buying at a well-known jeweler is no guarantee that what you're getting is what you think you're getting.

In fact, according to Jean Ende, information director for New York City's Consumer Affairs Bureau, "No blanket endorsement can be given to any store . . . Our organization is very skeptical about everything.

To protect yourself, she suggests, "Look at the sales receipt. It should read: 'One jade bracelet' not 'One green bracelet.' Or 'One turquoise ring' not 'One blue stone set in a ring.' And if the salesperson hesitates in spelling it out — be suspicious."

You can lose a lot of money by not being careful. For example, one woman's "jade" bangle, valued at $6,000, turned out to be worth $1,000 after being identified by a professional gemologist as green garnet from the Transvaal.

There are experts who know gems and can help jewelry buyers identify them. One such person is Robert Crowningshield, New York director of the California-based Gemological Institute of America. The institute identifies substances scientificaliy, but does not give appraisals. For a reasonable fee, it services both the jewelry industry and individual consumers.

Merchants lump a lot of look-alike stones under the term jade, says Crowningshield. In contrast to the Bureau of Consumer Affairs, he does not think a carelessly made-out sales slip necessarily makes the item a fake.

People are in a rush . . . salesmen are not informed. That's why Crowningshield feels it isn't only the consumer who's taken in.

He has seen, he says, experienced and honest men close to tears in his office. He recalled one man who had been selling strings of what he called and thought were amber beads for years.

One day, with overwhelming confidence, he came in to have them tested. "They were not amber," said the gemologists. "The jeweler's supplier in Germany was dishonest."

Crowningshield warned that "the most slippery of eels" of late is "turquoise — American Indian and otherwise." Many people have been urged by the financial press, he explained, to buy turquoise as an investment.

Crowningshield himself sometimes walks down a street strewn with jewelry shops looking for turquoises. "My eye catches that unbelievable blue, rich and intense. It's unusual, should not be trusted. I think," he says, "a high percentage of them (turquoise stones) are treated. Only the best turquoise are summer sky blue, and there are very few of those around."

He explained: "They can be treated with oil or wax, which will darken them."

American turquoise is lighter by nature than the great Persian turquoises. Revealing how scarce the "greats" are, gemologist Crowningshield told of a jeweler who spent seven months in Iran to acquire fine turquoise. He brought back nine small stones.

In New York City the Consumer Affairs Bureau will help people who doubt the authenticity of the jewelry they buy. And "if a store is advertising something as real and it isn't, we issue a violation for deceptive sales practice," says Miss Ende. "They will be fined if found guilty." She feels a worse punishment for the store, though, might be the loss of credibility.

"If a major purchase is at hand, do not be ashamed to ask for verification of the object," summed up Crowningshield. "It's not only a right but it serves to protect the next customer."

1974 The Christian Science Publishing Society

Big Mattresses Growing Popular

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Larger mattresses are becoming increasingly popular and giving the industry a boost, according to a leading manufacturer.

The Ohio Sealy Mattress Manufacturing Co. says king-sized mattresses are the biggest sellers in Texas, possibly because that state has more ranch-style homes with bigger rooms.

Day Care Not A Moneymaker

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Statistics indicate a steadily growing demand for private day care facilities in the United States but that doesn't assure success for a businessman entering the field.

The reverse is more often the case, according to a new Bank of America report. The overhead is high and the profits are low.

"One should give up dreams of accumulating a fortune," an experienced day care operator told the bank. "It is difficult enough just to make a good living.

A Crackdown On Crib Accidents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — From 150 to 200 infants die every year in this country in crib accidents. Thousands more are injured.

If you're shopping for a crib, a tape measure and a sharp eye may be the best protection for your baby. Measure the distance between the slats and buy the crib with the narrowest spacing.

As of Jan. 31, 1974, all cribs shipped from factories in the United States must have slats no more than 2⅜ inches apart to reduce the threat of strangulation. But many older model cribs will still be on sales floors.

For double protection the Consumer Product Safety Commission advises you to buy a bumper pad — a strip of padding suspended from the slats which runs all around the inside of the crib and prevents baby from sticking his hands or feet through the slats.

The mattress should also fit snugly. If you can stick two of your fingers between the mattress edge and the crib wall, then the mattress is too small.

Cribs meeting the new federal rules must carry a tag on both the crib and the carton telling you so.

Macrame Remains Popular

National surveys indicate while interest in the ancient art of macrame (knot tying) is leveling off, Californians are still buying more macrame supplies than ever.

Milo Illich, president of the Hobby Tree Inc., at the Corte Madera Shopping Center, the largest family hobby, arts and craft store in Northern California, said "It's true, the Hobby Tree is selling more macrame twine, wooden beads and wood and metal rings, pattern books and related items than ever before.

"Personally, I attribute this to the fact that Caiifornians and especially Marin residents are basically much closer to nature and have a greater interest in natural things than people living elsewhere.

"For example, we recently received a new book containing only patterns on plant pot hangers. This book and related-twine have far outsold any single item in the store."

Illich went in to say that there might be other reasons for this, such as the relatively high cost of purchasing completed plant hangers, purses or wall hangings versus the cost of raw material and a few pleasant hours spent doing a satisfying project that generally requires very little skill or talent to turn out a top quality product.

When asked whether he thought the public interest in macrame as a hobby would continue to increase or not, he said that he couldn't be certain.

"While our supply of macrame twine is better than ever before, our customers tell us that they are experiencing difficulties obtaining it elsewhere, and now come from outside the immediate area.

"Also our suppliers tell us that shipments to them are being delayed and that with next shipment, there will be a rather substantial price increase and that the immediate future looks as if this trend will continue. Right now I'm just glad that we really stocked up when we did."

Wildfowl Will Find Sanctuary

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (UPI) — Trumpeter swans, a rare species once facing extinction, have migrated from the southern Alaskan coast to Shoemaker Bay, a refuge across the Alberni Inlet on Canada's West Coast, for the past 40 years.

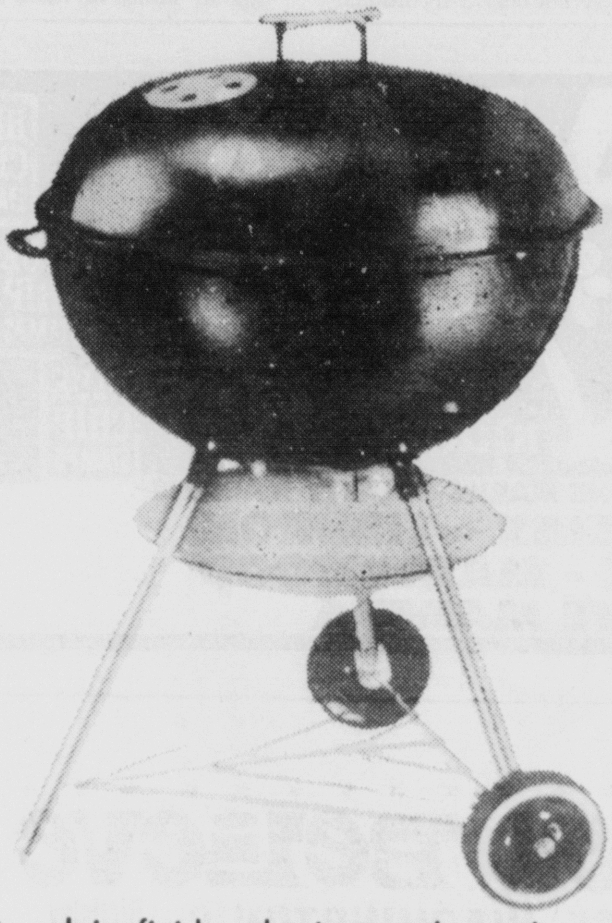

As nearly 200 trumpeter swans and 46 other bird species begin arriving at the bay this year they will find themselves in a newly created 80-acre sanctuary set up by MacMillan Bloedel, Canada's largest forest products company.

The company plans to establish public parking and observation sites at the refuge so residents of Port Alberni and vicinity can watch the swans during the winter.

Energy Crunch—A Hobby Boom

To find out how the fuel shortage has affected the hobby business, Bob Williamson, vice president of Hobby Tree Inc., in the Corte Madera Center, was quizzed.

"While we have experienced some difficulties in obtaining certain products, or parts of certain products manufactured from by-products from the petroleum industry, basically the fuel shortage has increased people's interest in arts and crafts," he said.

"More people are staying home on week-ends, and they want to get some personal value and satisfaction from the way they choose to spend their free time, and hobbies, arts and crafts are not only a traditional answer, they are also a modern answer."

Williamson added, "We observe that we are getting more new customers every day, and many of these were previously not inclined to shop in hobby stores and upon recommendations of friends are now willing to find out what all the fun is about. Many of them seem to want to start in a new hobby area or pick up an old hobby that they haven't had time to do lately."

Many Hobby Tree customers give as reasons: "I'm tired of just watching T.V. As long as I'm going to stay home more, I might as well have something productive and fun to do," or, "I've just always wanted to try 'it' and now I have the opportunity and the perfect excuse."

Whatever the reasons given, it's obvious that people are spending more time closer to home and that they are spending more time and money on hobbies.

"And from the reaction we see when a customer proudly brings in their finished product to show us, they are getting more personal satisfaction and value in their own lives now, than they did before."

A GROWING PROBLEM — The average age of known alcoholics is lowering in the United States. The National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism is working on an expanded program of alcohol education. (Christian Science Monitor photo)

Youth, Alcohol Study Launched

NEW YORK — Some of America's leading alcohol experts see an apparent switch from hard drugs to alcohol by young people in the United States.

The National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA), which was set up by the federal government two and a half years ago, is working on an expanded program of alcohol education. The aim is to draw organizations such as the Jaycees, P-TAs, states' education committees, women's clubs, and voluntary agencies into an awareness of responsible attitudes by all ages toward alcohol.

Although NIAAA funds have expanded from $750,000 two years ago to nearer $7 million today, this remains "the proverbial drop in the bucket," says Ronald Lester, executive director of the Rutgers Summer School of Alcohol Studies.

There are no countrywide statistics documenting the apparent new trend toward increased use of alcohol by America's youth. But reports coming into these two experts and others from educators, officials, voluntary organizations, and many young people themselves indicate that such a move is occurring across the country.

Basic reason for the concern felt by these and other specialists is the attitude of the public, especially parents and teachers.

"It's much easier to get parents, school officials, and others all fired up about drugs," says Lester. "The public is willing to put in all sorts of money . . . But try to get parents excited about a beverage they've used themselves, that's a very different matter.

"The number of kids who are going to become alcoholics is far greater than the number who have become heroin addicts," he warns.

"There is a steady rise in the use of alcohol and especially wine," says Arthur Jaffe of the situation in New York.

Jaffe is director of the nation's largest antidrug program for schools (New York City's $4-million-a-year School Prevention addiction through Rehabilitation and Knowledge — SPARK — program). He is worried that we are "developing many young alcoholics."

On the other hand, he adds, in New York as elsewhere there is a decreasing use of hard drugs. "It's not cool to use heroin anymore . . . They're not into it anymore."

Meanwhile, the average age of known alcoholics is lowering. And the members of at least one organization, Alcoholics Anonymous, are setting up more and more young people's groups.

In Los Angeles, for example, there were no such AA groups six years ago. In 1971 there were 12. Now there are at least 25.

With the age of alcohol experimentation going down yearly, Lester declares, there should be education about alcohol from the kindergarten through age 12. "We need to develop programs that communicate, not preach at the child."

Market Specials Should Be Checked For Stock

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Do you know it's against the law for a supermarket to advertise a special to lure you into the store and then deliberately not have it in stock?

If you suspect that's happening or even if the store stocks only a token "come on" amount of the special the Federal Trade Commission says you should complain to the manager and his boss, take your business to another store and let the FTC know about it at their nearest regional office.

In another area, consumers are urged to watch out for those beef bargains frequently offered by freezer operators.

One questionable tactic sometimes used is to offer you a "half" of beef. The half then turns out to be the two forequarters of the carcass — hardly a "half" since most of the best cuts are in the hindquarters, and the front end of the animal has more unusable fat and bone.

And also here's something free. It's an index of more than 200 government consumer pamphlets covering everything from buying electric toasters to growing bonsai trees. Many of the publications listed in the index are also free, most of the others are priced at less than 50 cents.
